Youth Admits To Police He 'Possibly' Killed Girl

Suspect, 23, Detained On Open Charge

MARSHALL, N. C. (UPI) — A former high school athlete was quoted by police Friday as saying he had "a feeling he might" have been responsible for the murder of 9-year-old Candice (Candy) Rogers of Spokane, Wash.

Madison County Sheriff E. Y. Ponder said Tommy Lee Miller, 23, of Chandler, N.C., signed a statement after a long session with officers here. Ponder said he questioned the nervous crew-cut youth personally.

The sheriff said Miller was being held on an open charge in the death of the Rogers child whose body was found Sunday under a pile of pine needles 12 miles from Spokane.

FOUND STRANGLED

Police said she was strangled with a piece of her own clothing and her legs were tied together. They said she was criminally assaulted.

Ponder said Miller repeatedly told him he had been drinking after arriving in Spokane to visit his father and he didn't "remember too clearly."

Miller admitted staying in Spokane three weeks, spending most of his time at the bus station, Ponder said. He was arrested Thursday at nearby Hot Springs, N.C., and Ponder began questioning him about the Rogers murder "because he had a bus ticket from Spokane."

Ponder quoted Miller as saying he "remembered seeing a little girl in an amusement park selling candy and seeing her later in a wooded area."

He said the suspect indicated the wooded area was adjacent to the amusement park.

Ponder said Miller told him he remembered breaking brush from trees and piling it up. He said Miller claimed "remembering this in connection with the little girl and quoted him as saying "if he killed the girl, he strangled her with part of her clothing."

The Rogers child was found in a wooded area by two airmen on a hunting trip who noticed a pair

Communists Take Control In Iraq Purge

Jail Thousands In Bid To Wipe Out Opposition

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — The greatest purge in the Arab world has swept Iraq with the Communists suppressing all opposition in a ruthless drive.

The stage may have been set for the outright takeover of the strategic oil - rich nation by the Communists. They have seized control of much of the Iraqi government and jailed thousands of persons.

The purge started after the Mosul rebellion in northern Iraq earlier this month was crushed by the leftist regime. Reliable diplomatic sources set the minimum number of arrests at 5,000 to 6,000. Other sources place the total as high as 15,000.

The concensus of both Western and neutral diplomats in Baghdad is that the purge has broken the back of any possible revolt and left the reins of power in the hands of Premier Abdel Karim Kassem's openly pro-Communist "palace guard."

OPEN ANARCHY

The diplomats no longer wonder if Iraq is going Communist. The question now is "has the nation already passed the point of no return?"

There is almost open anarchy among student groups, who roam the streets in violent demonstrations against the West and the Arab nationalism advocated by President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic. Workers are demanding exorbitant wages and drop their tools to join any passing mob.

Press and radio are controlled by the Reds, who release only what the Communists want the people to know. As a result, Iraqis live in a world totally isolated from their Arab neighbors and from all vestiges of non-Communist thought.

Editorials are spoon-fed to the local press by Col. Outfi Taher, a one-time horse doctor who is now the Communist chief of press. The four papers which occasionally dared to print Nationalist sentiments were burned by organized mobs.

Baghdad Radio emits a round-the-clock stream of Red propaganda and savage attacks on Nasser. It makes unceasing attempts to defy the personage of Kassem.

Foreigners, particularly Americans, are subjected to continual harassment. Most Egyptians have left the country. Palestinains, suspected of pro-Nasser sympathies, are trying to get out quickly.

Signal Provides Automatic Green Light For Autos

An "automatic" traffic light has been installed by the state highway department at the intersection of DeSiard Road and Kansas Lane (the Airport road) at the request of District Highway Engineer Wayne Huckaby, as one of the steps toward forming a smooth-running bypass route just northwest of Monroe.

L. U. Fourmy, said yesterday that Huckaby had obtained the light after Irvin W. Kilpatrick, A. E. Montgomery and Fourmy, all members of the Ouachita Parish Police Jury from Ward 10, had asked his assistance.

Huckaby described the light as a "selector" device.

"When vehicles move over the 'trigger' on Kansas Lane, they activate the signal so they get a green light," Huckaby explained.

School buses, trucks and autos using the bypass route across the northern part of the city have required a signal for continous flow of traffic.

"They needed it to help school buses and people coming from athletic events at Ouachita Parish High School, besides helping out on truck traffic," Huckaby added.

Fourmy pointed out that Kansas Lane "carries a tremendous amount of traffic" going to the Milhaven Road and Nutland Road. The parish and state highway

Two Sisters Die In Beds Of Heat

MUNCIE, Ind. (UPI) — Two sisters died in their beds Friday when the temperature in their apartment rose to 130 degrees.

Police said the intense heat had apparently suffocated Mrs. Hallie Hammond, 53, and her sister, Mrs. Ella Huston, 56, both of Columbus, Ohio.

Authorities tentatively blamed a defective thermostat on an oil heater in the apartment for turning the room into a furnace.

Tibet Capital Falls; Lama Eludes Reds

GANGTOK, Sikkim (UPI) — Chinese Communist artillery smashed the Tibetan revolt in the sacred capital of Lhasa, but the Dalai Lama has escaped to join never-say-die rebels who now hold as much as 10 per cent of the country, reliable sources said Friday.

Reports filtering into Sikkim, an independent state under India's protection on Tibet's southern border, said the Tibetans suffered heavy casualties in Lhasa under withering Communist fire. The end of the fighting in the capital, which had been called a cease-fire, actually amounted to surrender by the rebels, the sources said.

TRIBES REVOLT

But the Khamba tribesmen who sparked the revolt have been up in arms against the Chinese overlords since 1956, and best estimates in Sikkim say they hold between 30,000 and 40,000 square miles of the country on the roof of the world which has a total area of 400,000 square miles.

Most of this rebel territory has been free since the Khamba up-

Storm Dumps 9-Inch Snow In Northeast

Unusual Cloud Layer Blots Out Sun In Capital

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A fast-moving pre-Easter storm plastered parts of the Northeast with up to nine inches of wet snow Friday. Some airline flights were disrupted.

Powered by strong winds, the storm dumped snow or heavy rains in areas from Colorado to New England.

Western New York State took the heaviest pounding from the storm's parting blows.

Heavy snow warnings were issued from Massachusetts to Maine with accumulations of four to eight inches expected. From two to five inches were expected in Upstate New York.

SKIES TO CLEAR

The storm left downtown Boston and sections of southern New England covered with about two inches of soggy snow. Western Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine braced for heavier falls.

However, clearing and warmer weather was forecast for New England Saturday with clear skies and seasonable temperatures predicted for Easter.

A tremendously thick cloud layer blotted out the sun in Washington, D. C., shortly after 3 p.m. bringing night-like darkness. The darkness gave way to a yellowish light within minutes; then came heavy rain and lightning.

Weather Bureau officials termed the condition very unusual and said the Good Friday blackout may have extended along a 50-mile front.

Many persons were struck by the timing of the phenomenon. The Bible says that at Christ's Crucifixion "there was a darkness over the land" for three hours.

McClellan Gives Coci His Chance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark) said Friday Sheriff William Coci of Jefferson Parish, La., will get another chance to refute evidence linking his office with Carlos Marcello if Coci changes his mind.

But McClellan, chairman of the Senate rackets committee, said Coci will be subject to cross-examination about his testimony if he appears.

McClellan said he had told the Metropolitan Crime Commission of New Orleans his committee does not feel justified now to subpoena Coci.

He said he notified Edward D. Finley Jr., president of the New Orleans crime-fighting group about the committee's stand. Finley had asked that Coci be summoned to testify under oath.

McClellan said there was serious doubt that the committee, properly known as the Senate Select Committee on Improper Activities in the Labor or Management Field, has authority to inquire further into Coci's activities not related to labor-management relations.

The senator said Finley advised the committee that his organization had much more in its files that could be brought to light about the conduct of Coci's office.

Witnesses testified about links between Coci's office and Marcello, long-time alien racketeer, in connection with operation of coin-operated machines.

HOLY WEEK CLIMAX

Pageants To Draw Big Easter Throngs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Christians greet the dawn Sunday with a lilt in their hearts and a song on their lips.

Across the land—outdoors and indoors—they'll gather in multitudes to celebrate the triumph of Jesus Christ.

It's the climax of Holy Week—the morning of Easter—the day of the Resurrection.

On mountainsides, in tall woods and in city coliseums throngs will commemorate the event.

In little churches and great temples, the hosannas will ring, the organs roll.

Thousands from throughout the nation will assemble hours before daylight in Oklahoma's Wichita Mountains near Lawton, Okla., for the yearly spectacle of faith there.

In Los Angeles, Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, one of the 12 apostles of the Latter-Day Saints Church, will deliver the sermon before an expected 20,000 at a sunrise service in the Hollywood Bowl.

Boston Protestants are staging a citywide service at daybreak aboard the USS Constitution at a dock in the naval shipyard.

In southern Illinois, people of "every creed, color and denomination" have been invited to bring shovels for ceremonies Sunday morning atop a 1,030-foot hill, Bald Knob, to break ground for a new 111-foot lighted steel cross.

A pig-raising project among farmer volunteers all over the state has helped swell funds to $175,000 for the $240,000 project.

In New York, the Protestant Council is holding its annual service, "The Glory of Easter" in Radio City Music Hall, transformed for the occasion by lighting and other effects to resemble a huge cathedral.

Ship Captains Differ Over Crash At Sea

Tanker Skipper Charges Liner Speeding In Fog

NEW YORK (UPI) — The captain of the tanker Valchem charged Friday the luxury liner Santa Rosa was traveling at "high speed" in a thick fog when it plowed into his vessel killing four seamen.

Capt. Lovis L. Murphy, 33, of Lynchburg, Va., told a story of the crash that differed widely from the one described in a statement by Capt. Frank Siwik, 50, skipper of the new liner Santa Rosa. Murphy issued his statement after his crippled ballast-carrying tanker was towed to port with 18 men aboard from the point where the crash occurred Thursday off the New Jersey coast.

The stories told by Murphy and Siwik differed at several key points, including weather conditions, radar readings, maneuvers at sea and speed.

SOUNDS SIGNALS

Murphy said he was on the bridge when the collision occurred.

"It was thick fog," he said. "Visibility was less than ¼ mile. We had been sounding fog signals for over an hour and traveling at reduced speed."

Siwik, in a statement issued Thursday night after the Santa limped into dock, said his ship was traveling "in perfect weather." He said he ran into a few scattered patches of haze, "but this soon cleared completely."

Many of the passengers interviewed on the Santa Rosa, which was equipped with all modern safety devices before its maiden voyage last June, said the fog was very thick. Some persons said they could not see the tanker after it had been hit, the fog was so thick.

The tanker captain said the Santa Rosa was sighted on his radar "at about five miles away, practically dead ahead."

"The Santa Rosa kept coming and hit us on the port side near the stern (rear) at high speed," Murphy said. "We were stopped in the water when she hit."

Writers Inspect Tourist Features In Monroe Area

Finally eluding the evils of a long Yankee winter, 12 newspaper men and women arrived from leading northern publications in Monroe yesterday to begin a springtime tour of Louisiana.

Bad weather followed most of them all the way to Memphis, delaying the arrival of several until sometime today. But seven—including two of the fairer sex—joined in a motorboatcade tour of Black Bayou following a kickoff breakfast at the Penn Hotel. The tour is being sponsored by the state department of commerce and industry and will cover points of interest throughout Louisiana.

Louis Gale, travel editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, soaked up a charge of the sunshine and warm air covering the bayou and said, "I'm staying here." Henry Ward of the Pittsburgh, Pa., Press explained the winter up his way had been a long one with snow still covering the ground when he had left his post there to head south. He was covering his beat as travel editor with a pocket tape recorder.

Ike Slates Major Talk For April 4

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UPI) — President Eisenhower will make an important speech on the international situation here next Saturday, the White House said Friday.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen the April 4 address at a Gettysburg College convocation will deal with world problems rather than domestic issues.

He said the President was working on this and another speech scheduled for next week during his quiet Easter week end with Mrs. Eisenhower at their Gettysburg farm.

The President and First Lady attended Good Friday services at a combined observance by Protestant denominations at Gettysburg's First Methodist Church.

IMPORTANT TALK

Hagerty, who discussed the speeches and other matters with the President, said that except for the addresses, the President "will just take it easy" until returning to Washington late Monday.

Except for describing the April 4 speech as important, Hagerty refused to amplify on its content. He did say he would not put it in the same category as the President's recent radio - TV address on Berlin.

The press secretary said Eisenhower will touch on Berlin in another speech in Washington next Thursday at the 10th anniversary meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) Council of Foreign Ministers.

Hagerty said this speech "will deal with the NATO organization and the constant need for it," which naturally will include Berlin. He said the main point of the speech will not be Berlin, however.

Captive Missile Explodes In Test

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI)—A captive Atlas missile exploded on its test stand here Friday, the Air Force disclosed.

There were no casualties in the explosion of the Atlas—Model 6C—which was used for static testing, although similar to flight configurations.

The same Atlas had completed numerous other test firings at the base, the Air Force reported.

The missile was destroyed. Cause of the mishap was not disclosed.

The firing occurred at approximately 2 p.m. PST, Friday, but the Air Force withheld a report until almost 6 o'clock in the evening.

The captive Atlas had performed most of its test objectives when the accident occurred during Friday's captive firing run.

ON NORTH POLE VOYAGE

U. S. Atomic Sub Cracks Records

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. atomic submarine Skate cracked through the North Pole ice on a recent record - breaking voyage and scattered the ashes of a Arctic explorer in the swirling polar snow.

The Navy, in announcing this Friday, said the Skate broke all previous records for time and distance under the polar ice on a 12-day trip that ended Thursday. But its most dramatic moment came at 6 a.m. EST, March 17 in the half-light of the polar area.

As the submarine surfaced exactly at the Pole, the crew carried out the last wish of the late explorer Sir Hubert Wilkins and scattered his ashes "into the blowing snow" during solemn memorial services.

DIED IN DECEMBER

Wilkins, who died at Framingham, Mass., last December, had asked that his ashes be distributed at the exact site of the Pole, which he never quite reached in a long career that included expeditions to both the Arctic and Antarctic.

The Australian - born explorer was aboard the conventional U.S. submarine Nautilus when it made the pioneer submarine trip under

Party Telephone Case Is Probed

LA PUENTE, Calif. (UPI)—A woman complained to sheriff's investigators Friday that two persons refused to give up a party telephone line when she attempted to summon help for her dying husband.

The sheriff's office disclosed that Mrs. Madeline Uranga wanted to call for a resuscitator crew, but others on her line ignored her pleas. Her husband, Gene Uranga, 48, died a short time later.

Geomagnetic Storm Is Due To Sun Spots

NEW YORK (UPI) — A huge eruption on the sun caused a severe geomagnetic storm Thursday night and Friday that interrupted radio communications in many areas of the world to a greater degree than the obstruction blamed on "Project Argus" late last summer.

The National Bureau of Standards' North Atlantic Radio Warning Service at Ft. Belvoir Va., predicted the storm at 10:30 a.m. Thursday after noting the eruption. Such eruptions, known as sun spots, invariably disturb radio communications.

The disruption began in the early afternoon, and its full effects were felt within a few hours. Transatlantic and Trans pacific radio communications began fading and were blacked out completely early Friday.

Press Wireless reported it heard only one European station, a Prague transmitter which came in weakly for a few minutes and then faded out.

The effects of the storm apparently were felt more severely in the Northern Hemisphere than in the Southern, where radio teleprinters functioned almost normally.

FIVE-YEAR-OLD DROWNS

Grim Tragedy Mars Outing Of Family

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Five-year-old John Root III of Baton Rouge drowned in the Amite River near here Friday and his father and two brothers almost perished in a vain rescue attempt.

The boy was pronounced dead by Dr. M. Williams, Livingston Parish coroner, after a rescue unit worked fruitlessly for two hours attempting to revive the child.

A driver for the Dixie Electric membership co-op rescue squad, first on the scene, complained that closely spaced gravel trucks delayed their arrival by 10 minutes. He said the interval could have meant the difference between life and death.

The accident came during a picnic when the child dashed into the water while the family was fishing from the bank. As the swift current caught him, Norman Root, 10, and Emmett Root, 7, attempted to rescue their brother.

They were floundering when John M. Root Jr., their father, plunged into the water. None of the family was able to swim.

Two passing motorcyclists, Burkie Philpot, 15, of Baton Rouge, and Leroy Lambert, 17, of Denham Springs, attracted by the screams of the child's mother, rescued the older brothers and assisted the father to shore.

The body was recovered from a deep hole by J. D. Easterly, Denham Springs, one of two motorists who dived into the water after hearing Mrs. Root's screams.

The survivors, all in shock, were taken to a hospital here for treatment.

U. S. Recovers Data Capsule Of Missile In Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI)—The Air Force recovered a data capsule Friday from the nose cone of the Thor missile that made a jack-o'-lantern flight of 1,600 miles down the Atlantic tracking range Thursday night.

The data capsule contained a device to record effects of the extremely high heat generated by atmospheric friction on the 15,000-mile-an-hour flight. It was only the third time that such a capsule had been recovered in 26 flights of a standard Thor.

The missile, fired at 11 p.m. EST, was fitted with a blinking strobe light for the benefit of tracking cameras. By photographing the white dots of light against the dark sky, missile technicians could use the stars as reference and make an exact computation of the Thor's flight path.

Only a few hundred feet away from the site of Thursday night's launching technicians have been working on another Thor - Able rocket which may be used to boost a radiation - measuring satellite into space. The Thor also is scheduled to serve as the first stage of a Venus rocket.

Tanker Skipper Charges Liner Speeding In Fog

NEW YORK (UPI) — The captain of the tanker Valchem charged Friday the luxury liner Santa Rosa was traveling at "high speed" in a thick fog when it plowed into his vessel killing four seamen.

Capt. Lovis L. Murphy, 33, of Lynchburg, Va., told a story of the crash that differed widely from the one described in a statement by Capt. Frank Siwik, 50, skipper of the new liner Santa Rosa. Murphy issued his statement after his crippled ballast-carrying tanker was towed to port with 18 men aboard from the point where the crash occurred Thursday off the New Jersey coast.

The stories told by Murphy and Siwik differed at several key points, including weather conditions, radar readings, maneuvers at sea and speed.

SOUNDS SIGNALS

Murphy said he was on the bridge when the collision occurred.

"It was thick fog," he said. "Visibility was less than ¼ mile. We had been sounding fog signals for over an hour and traveling at reduced speed."

Siwik, in a statement issued Thursday night after the Santa limped into dock, said his ship was traveling "in perfect weather." He said he ran into a few scattered patches of haze, "but this soon cleared completely."

Many of the passengers interviewed on the Santa Rosa, which was equipped with all modern safety devices before its maiden voyage last June, said the fog was very thick. Some persons said they could not see the tanker after it had been hit, the fog was so thick.

The tanker captain said the Santa Rosa was sighted on his radar "at about five miles away, practically dead ahead."

"The Santa Rosa kept coming and hit us on the port side near the stern (rear) at high speed," Murphy said. "We were stopped in the water when she hit."

Writers Inspect Tourist Features In Monroe Area

Finally eluding the evils of a long Yankee winter, 12 newspaper men and women arrived from leading northern publications in Monroe yesterday to begin a springtime tour of Louisiana.

Bad weather followed most of them all the way to Memphis, delaying the arrival of several until sometime today. But seven—including two of the fairer sex—joined in a motorboatcade tour of Black Bayou following a kickoff breakfast at the Penn Hotel. The tour is being sponsored by the state department of commerce and industry and will cover points of interest throughout Louisiana.

Louis Gale, travel editor of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, soaked up a charge of the sunshine and warm air covering the bayou and said, "I'm staying here." Henry Ward of the Pittsburgh, Pa., Press explained the winter up his way had been a long one with snow still covering the ground when he had left his post there to head south. He was covering his beat as travel editor with a pocket tape recorder.

Mild Weather In The Offing

Partly cloudy skies and pleasant temperatures are in store for the Monroe area today and tomorrow, according to the weatherman.

Yesterday's high was a comfortable 65 degrees, with a low of 44. Thursday's high and low were 80 and 61.

Suspect, 23, Detained On Open Charge

MARSHALL, N. C. (UPI) — A former high school athlete was quoted by police Friday as saying he had "a feeling he might" have been responsible for the murder of 9-year-old Candice (Candy) Rogers of Spokane, Wash.

Madison County Sheriff E. Y. Ponder said Tommy Lee Miller, 23, of Chandler, N.C., signed a statement after a long session with officers here. Ponder said he questioned the nervous crew-cut youth personally.

The sheriff said Miller was being held on an open charge in the death of the Rogers child whose body was found Sunday under a pile of pine needles 12 miles from Spokane.

FOUND STRANGLED

Police said she was strangled with a piece of her own clothing and her legs were tied together. They said she was criminally assaulted.

Ponder said Miller repeatedly told him he had been drinking after arriving in Spokane to visit his father and he didn't "remember too clearly."

Miller admitted staying in Spokane three weeks, spending most of his time at the bus station, Ponder said. He was arrested Thursday at nearby Hot Springs, N.C., and Ponder began questioning him about the Rogers murder "because he had a bus ticket from Spokane."

Ponder quoted Miller as saying he "remembered seeing a little girl in an amusement park selling candy and seeing her later in a wooded area."

He said the suspect indicated the wooded area was adjacent to the amusement park.

Ponder said Miller told him he remembered breaking brush from trees and piling it up. He said Miller claimed "remembering this in connection with the little girl and quoted him as saying "if he killed the girl, he strangled her with part of her clothing."

The Rogers child was found in a wooded area by two airmen on a hunting trip who noticed a pair

U. S. Recovers Data Capsule Of Missile In Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) —The Air Force recovered a data capsule Friday from the nose cone of the Thor missile that made a jack-o'-lantern flight of 1,600 miles down the Atlantic tracking range Thursday night.

The data capsule contained a device to record effects of the extremely high heat generated by atmospheric friction on the 15,000-mile-an-hour flight. It was only the third time that such a capsule had been recovered in 26 flights of a standard Thor.

The missile, fired at 11 p.m. EST, was fitted with a blinking strobe light for the benefit of tracking cameras. By photographing the white dots of light against the dark sky, missile technicians could use the stars as reference and make an exact computation of the Thor's flight path.

Only a few hundred feet away from the site of Thursday night's launching technicians have been working on another Thor - Able rocket which may be used to boost a radiation - measuring satellite into space. The Thor also is scheduled to serve as the first stage of a Venus rocket.

Ike Slates Major Talk For April 4

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UPI) — President Eisenhower will make an important speech on the international situation here next Saturday, the White House said Friday.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen the April 4 address at a Gettysburg College convocation will deal with world problems rather than domestic issues.

He said the President was working on this and another speech scheduled for next week during his quiet Easter week end with Mrs. Eisenhower at their Gettysburg farm.

The President and First Lady attended Good Friday services at a combined observance by Protestant denominations at Gettysburg's First Methodist Church.

IMPORTANT TALK

Hagerty, who discussed the speeches and other matters with the President, said that except for the addresses, the President "will just take it easy" until returning to Washington late Monday.

Except for describing the April 4 speech as important, Hagerty refused to amplify on its content. He did say he would not put it in the same category as the President's recent radio - TV address on Berlin.

The press secretary said Eisenhower will touch on Berlin in another speech in Washington next Thursday at the 10th anniversary meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) Council of Foreign Ministers.

Hagerty said this speech "will deal with the NATO organization and the constant need for it," which naturally will include Berlin. He said the main point of the speech will not be Berlin, however.

Captive Missile Explodes In Test

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UPI)—A captive Atlas missile exploded on its test stand here Friday, the Air Force disclosed.

There were no casualties in the explosion of the Atlas—Model 6C—which was used for static testing, although similar to flight configurations.

The same Atlas had completed numerous other test firings at the base, the Air Force reported.

The missile was destroyed. Cause of the mishap was not disclosed.

The firing occurred at approximately 2 p.m. PST, Friday, but the Air Force withheld a report until almost 6 o'clock in the evening.

The captive Atlas had performed most of its test objectives when the accident occurred during Friday's captive firing run.

ON NORTH POLE VOYAGE

U. S. Atomic Sub Cracks Records

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. atomic submarine Skate cracked through the North Pole ice on a recent record - breaking voyage and scattered the ashes of a Arctic explorer in the swirling polar snow.

The Navy, in announcing this Friday, said the Skate broke all previous records for time and distance under the polar ice on a 12-day trip that ended Thursday. But its most dramatic moment came at 6 a.m. EST, March 17 in the half-light of the polar area.

As the submarine surfaced exactly at the Pole, the crew carried out the last wish of the late explorer Sir Hubert Wilkins and scattered his ashes "into the blowing snow" during solemn memorial services.

DIED IN DECEMBER

Wilkins, who died at Framingham, Mass., last December, had asked that his ashes be distributed at the exact site of the Pole, which he never quite reached in a long career that included expeditions to both the Arctic and Antarctic.

The Australian - born explorer was aboard the conventional U.S. submarine Nautilus when it made the pioneer submarine trip under

Geomagnetic Storm Is Due To Sun Spots

NEW YORK (UPI) — A huge eruption on the sun caused a severe geomagnetic storm Thursday night and Friday that interrupted radio communications in many areas of the world to a greater degree than the obstruction blamed on "Project Argus" late last summer.

The National Bureau of Standards' North Atlantic Radio Warning Service at Ft. Belvoir Va., predicted the storm at 10:30 a.m. Thursday after noting the eruption. Such eruptions, known as sun spots, invariably disturb radio communications.

The disruption began in the early afternoon, and its full effects were felt within a few hours. Transatlantic and Trans pacific radio communications began fading and were blacked out completely early Friday.

Press Wireless reported it heard only one European station, a Prague transmitter which came in weakly for a few minutes and then faded out.

The effects of the storm apparently were felt more severely in the Northern Hemisphere than in the Southern, where radio teleprinters functioned almost normally.

Party Telephone Case Is Probed

LA PUENTE, Calif. (UPI)—A woman complained to sheriff's investigators Friday that two persons refused to give up a party telephone line when she attempted to summon help for her dying husband.

The sheriff's office disclosed that Mrs. Madeline Uranga wanted to call for a resuscitator crew, but others on her line ignored her pleas. Her husband, Gene Uranga, 48, died a short time later.

FIVE-YEAR-OLD DROWNS

Grim Tragedy Mars Outing Of Family

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Five-year-old John Root III of Baton Rouge drowned in the Amite River near here Friday and his father and two brothers almost perished in a vain rescue attempt.

The boy was pronounced dead by Dr. M. Williams, Livingston Parish coroner, after a rescue unit worked fruitlessly for two hours attempting to revive the child.

A driver for the Dixie Electric membership co-op rescue squad, first on the scene, complained that closely spaced gravel trucks delayed their arrival by 10 minutes. He said the interval could have meant the difference between life and death.

The accident came during a picnic when the child dashed into the water while the family was fishing from the bank. As the swift current caught him, Norman Root, 10, and Emmett Root, 7, attempted to rescue their brother.

They were floundering when John M. Root Jr., their father, plunged into the water. None of the family was able to swim.

Two passing motorcyclists, Burkie Philpot, 15, of Baton Rouge, and Leroy Lambert, 17, of Denham Springs, attracted by the screams of the child's mother, rescued the older brothers and assisted the father to shore.

The body was recovered from a deep hole by J. D. Easterly, Denham Springs, one of two motorists who dived into the water after hearing Mrs. Root's screams.

The survivors, all in shock, were taken to a hospital here for treatment.

Easter Sunrise Service Planned Here At 5:30

The annual Easter sunrise service, planned by the United Christian Youth Movement of the Twin Cities, is slated tomorrow at 5:30 a.m. at the Memorial Park Cemetery on U.S. Highway 80 east.

A narrative pantomine by 25 young people will highlight the program, which will also feature the Neville High School choir and Herald Trumpets.

Scripture used will be the Gospel according to John. Miss Gerry Kenny will direct.

A special provision has been made so that visitors may enjoy the program from their cars, in case of rain.

The late Miss E. L. Short, a major contributor to the welfare of the community's youth, will be the subject of a memorial tribute.

Deadline Near For Work Bids

Bids will be received until 2 p.m. April 2 for furnishing clerical service and space in a convenient location in the McGuire Shopping Center in West Monroe for a contract branch post office, it was announced yesterday.

West Monroe Postmaster Homer Roark, who made the announcement, may be contacted for further information.

Barrymore, 26, Is Bound Over On Felony Count

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — John Barrymore Jr., actor-son of the late "Great Profile," was ordered Friday to appear April 8 for Superior Court arraignment on charges of felony drunk driving and hit-run.

Barrymore, 26, was bound over after a preliminary hearing in the Municipal Court of Judge Adolph Alexander. The son of John Barrymore remained at liberty on $1,500 bond.

Barrymore was arrested at a service station when police charged that his new sports car rammed into the rear of another auto in Beverly Hills March 7. Officers reported that Barrymore left the scene of the accident.

Sheryl Frances Herne, 18, West Los Angeles, a passenger in the second car, claimed her neck was hurt in the accident.

MANAGER — Otis Stephens, left, has been named manager of the Armour and Company branch in Monroe. He succeeds Harold Pendery, right, who is being transferred to the New Orleans branch where he will be manager of processed food marketing. Stephens comes to Monroe from Shreveport where he was assistant branch manager. His wife, Katharine, and children, Jeffrey, 5, and Mary Katharine, 3, will join Stephens here next week.

ON GOOD FRIDAY

Pilgrims Retrace Journey Of Christ

JERUSALEM, Jordan Sector (AP)—Pilgrims retraced the journey of Christ to Calvary in prayerful procession Friday.

From 2,000 to 3,000 walked the Via Dolorosa—the Way of the Cross—under a glaring sun from the St. Stephen's Gate area to the site of the Crucifixion.

Christians of many lands, they were divided into language groups.

The Italian group led off through the old city's narrow, twisting alleyways behind two Roman Catholic priests carrying a full-size cross.

This group and others at times prayed in unison, sometimes sang hymns.

At each station a priest recited prayers and gave a short sermon on the biblical incident at that spot.

The crowds included priests and nuns in religious habit, pilgrims with prayerbooks and pilgrims with cameras.

Many Americans were in the English-speaking section.

Belgium's aged Queen Elisabeth—she is 82—wanted to join the Way of the Cross procession, but physicians advised her the climb might overtax her strength. So she joined hundreds in Good Friday adoration at the Church of the Holy Sepulcher and visited the Mount of Olives and the Garden of Gethsemane.

A Roman Catholic burial service, or abbreviated Way of the Cross, was conducted at the church Friday night.

Anglicans participated in a three - hour devotion at St. George's Cathedral. Lutherans had two services—one in German, one in English—at their Church of the Redeemer, near the Holy Sepulcher.

Mine Union, Operators To Resume Talks

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — Eastern Kentucky coal operators and United Mine Workers Union officials came out of a mediation meeting with Gov. A. B. Chandler Friday with an agreement to arrange further talks with UMW international officers at Washington.

The group met at Chandler's request to seek a settlement of the coal strike which has idled 7,000 miners and many mines in eastern Kentucky.

The outcome apparently reflected a belief that no settlement of the dispute could be reached without consulting with UMW chief John L. Lewis and other high union officials in any case.

The joint statement issued after the meeting said both sides "agreed it was the duty and obligation of both groups to exercise every good faith effort to avoid animosity, disorder and violence . . . and pledged themselves to diligently pursue this objective."

The statement said, "The ramp owners and truck operators will select a representative committee, and union representatives will attempt to arrange a conference with the proper officers of the international union, with a view of meeting in Washington where discussions can be further pursued."

Chandler appointed state commissioner of economic security Vego E. Barnes and industrial relations commissioner Oscar J. Coke to represent him at the Washington meeting.

He said talks will be resumed here after the Washington conference, for which no date was set.

The governor said, "There are many sides to this matter—it is a question of big mines and small mines, captive mines and independent mines. It is a very complicated situation. I hope that none of you are inflexible and that you are ready to find a way to solve this problem without sacrificing any principle . . ."

Specific issues in the contract dispute are a $2 per day wage increase and a clause that would prevent union mines from buying coal from smaller, non - union mines.

The strike began March 8 in Harlan County, idling 3,100 miners and spread to six other eastern Kentucky counties.

The coal fields were relatively quiet Friday, although 75 pickets gathered at a Colson, Ky., tipple where threatened violence by more than 1,000 striking miners last Tuesday caused the governor to alert the National Guard.

Smaller groups Friday picketed railroad switching points at Sassafras and Belfry, Ky., but state police said the picketing was "peaceful."

At Pikeville, Ky., the UMW and three Pike County coal operators agreed on the type of picketing and the number of pickets that should be used at individual mines. The three firms last week sought a court order restraining the union from mass picketing—a case that is still under consideration by the judge.

Report Anthrax Killing Cattle In Franklin Parish

WINNSBORO (Special) — Anthrax is in Franklin parish again. J. L. Scott, a dairy operator in the Swampers Community near here has lost two yearlings and one calf. Marion Simon, a neighbor, reports loss of one yearling.

Dr. L. W. Knight, Winnsboro veterinarian, said that according to all evidence, death of the animals was caused by anthrax.

Specimens from the dead animals have been sent to the state diagnostic laboratory at Baton Rouge, but no report has been sent back yet.

Dr. Knight said that all cattlemen in the Swampers vicinity have vaccinated their cattle since Tuesday, when the first animal died.

Several stockmen of Franklin parish suffered heavy losses from anthrax last year. Most of the cattle were vaccinated after the first few cattle died in 1958. However, the vaccination is effective for only one year.

AT 1960 NATIONAL CONVENTION

Demo Party May Attempt To Oust 'Free' Delegates

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Southern Democrats promoting a campaign to free their presidential electors from the party's national apron strings may find themselves in a 1960 convention battle.

The Democratic National Committee has not yet taken action against the so-called "Independent Electors Movement" in the South. However, party sources suggested that party organizations in the Dixie states may get a warning about it.

They said the party's answer might be an attempt to unseat convention delegates from states which have freed Democratic electors of allegiance to the party's national standard-bearers.

The free elector idea has been written into the laws of two states and adopted by the Democratic Party organization of a third.

Georgia passed a law last year and Arkansas approved one this year that frees electors of any requirement to vote for the Democratic presidential ticket. Alabama's Democratic Party also approved the plan.

The independent electors movement is regarded as a maneuver to give southerners more bargaining power in the choice of a 1960 presidential candidate and in drafting of a party platform.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler, who sometimes has stepped on southern toes, hedged Thursday when asked about the movement at a news conference.

He noted that 1956 convention rules called for delegates to do everything possible to get the party candidate on their state ballots along with a slate of electors pledged to the candidate.

Butler said the next convention still was more than a year away. In the meantime, he said, the party will "watch the situation and be prepared to meet it in the best interest of the party."

Unpledged presidential electors presumably could cost their states' electoral votes for anyone they pleased, regardless of the outcome of the popular balloting. If no presidential nominee got a majority of the electoral vote, the election would be decided in the House of Representatives, where each state would have one vote.

The Democrats have had a history of scrapping about party loyalty. In 1948, a group of southerners walked out of hte convention and formed the States' Rights Party with their own candidates. In 1952, there was another sharp-battle over party loyalty. In 1956 the convention adopted a rule committing state party organizations to "under-take to assure" that the Democratic candidate would be on their ballots with a slate of pledged electors.

40 PER CENT GAIN LIKELY

Farmers Boost Cotton Acreage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Operators of 7.2 per cent of the nation's cotton farms have accepted a government offer of the right to grow more cotton but received lower price supports.

They will have about one-fifth on the cotton acreage.

The figures are from a final Agriculture Department tabulation Friday of farmers choosing between two alternative cotton control plans for 1959.

The tabulation showed that operators of 69,138 of the 954,956 farms receiving government planting allotments chose a plan allowing them to increase their allotments 40 per cent.

Those making this choice will be eligible for price supports at 65 per cent of parity. The other farms sticking by their old allotments will be eligible for supports at 80 per cent of parity.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices charged for things they must buy.

The choice of programs was offered in a move to make more cotton available at lower prices so that the crop might better compete with synthetic fibers and foreign cotton.

The 69,138 farms taking the new plan increased their total allotments from 2,544,573 to 3,562,403 acres. This brought total allotments for the year to 17,327,830 acres. Those choosing the option to grow more cotton will have about 20.6 per cent of the allotted acreage.

Even though a small percentage of the farm operators chose to expand their allotments, this year's crop should be considerably larger than last year's. If the full allotment is planted, the cotton acreage would be about 40 per cent larger than last year.

In 1958 farmers retired about three million acres of their allotments under a soil bank and retirement program. This soil bank program is not in effect this year.

U. S. Raises Long Boycott Of Bulgaria

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Friday ended a nine-year boycott of Bulgaria after that country's Communist regime promised to avoid harassing American diplomats in the future.

In answer to Bulgarian pleas, the State Department agreed to resume full diplomatic relations by exchanging ministers and reopening the U.S. legation in Sofia.

The action, temporarily easing a bitter dispute dating back to January 1950, came only after the Bulgarian government withdrew charges that the last U.S. minister there was a spy.

The Bulgarians joined the State Department in pledging that full freedom would be given each other's diplomats to operate with normal privileges and immunities.

Top U.S. officials stressed privately that this country will not hesitate to break off relations again if the Bulgarians do not live up to their agreement.

The agreement to renew diplomatic ties came as a climax of nearly 2½ years of secret backstage negotiations whish began in Paris. Final arrangements were made in talks which began last March 4 here and in New York.

A spokesman said the Bulgarians made the first move, approaching the U.S. embassy in Paris in December 1957.

The decision to resume diplomatic relations was dictated mainly by the department's belief that information picked up by American diplomats in their normal duties beyond the Iron Curtain outweighs the psychological advantage of a diplomatic boycott.

Bulgaria's eagerness to resume relations was believed sparked by its hope of increasing trade with the United States and encouraging visits by American tourists.

Fifteen Firemen Are Injured As Buildings Burn

NEW YORK (UPI)—Fire raged out of control for five hours Friday in two loft buildings on Lower Broadway less than 100 yards from another building in which 24 persons were killed and scores injured in a similar blaze March 19, 1958.

Fifteen firemen were injured, none of them seriously. Most were reported suffering from smoke poisoning. No one was believed in the buildings, which were used mainly by textile manufacturers.

Fire Chief George David said the two buildings were long and narrow making fire - fighting effort difficult. Smoldering insulation in the walls also hampered firemen.

The second floor of the six-story building in which the fire started collapsed during the blaze. Two upper floors of the adjacent five-story building also collapsed.

The building in which 24 persons were killed last year also was an old loft structure used mainly by textile companies.

Ex-Convict Held For Theft From Catholic Church

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — A 46-year-old ex-convict was charged Friday with attempting to sell for $7 a $750 gold monstrance he had stolen from a Catholic church.

Officers identified the man as Arthur Zebley of Charlotte, N. C., and said he identified himself as having served 11 years in Moundsville, West Va., prison on burglary and grand larceny convictions.

The monstrance, stolen from St. Patrick's Catholic Church, is a large vessel used during church services.

Easter Sunrise Service Planned Here At 5:30

The annual Easter sunrise service, planned by the United Christian Youth Movement of the Twin Cities, is slated tomorrow at 5:30 a.m. at the Memorial Park Cemetery on U.S. Highway 80 east.

A narrative pantomine by 25 young people will highlight the program, which will also feature the Neville High School choir and Herald Trumpets.

Scripture used will be the Gospel according to John. Miss Gerry Kenny will direct.

A special provision has been made so that visitors may enjoy the program from their cars, in case of rain.

The late Miss E. L. Short, a major contributor to the welfare of the community's youth, will be the subject of a memorial tribute.

Deadline Near For Work Bids

Bids will be received until 2 p.m. April 2 for furnishing clerical service and space in a convenient location in the McGuire Shopping Center in West Monroe for a contract branch post office, it was announced yesterday.

West Monroe Postmaster Homer Roark, who made the announcement, may be contacted for further information.

Barrymore, 26, Is Bound Over On Felony Count

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — John Barrymore Jr., actor-son of the late "Great Profile," was ordered Friday to appear April 8 for Superior Court arraignment on charges of felony drunk driving and hit-run.

Barrymore, 26, was bound over after a preliminary hearing in the Municipal Court of Judge Adolph Alexander. The son of John Barrymore remained at liberty on $1,500 bond.

Barrymore was arrested at a service station when police charged that his new sports car rammed into the rear of another auto in Beverly Hills March 7. Officers reported that Barrymore left the scene of the accident.

Sheryl Frances Herne, 18, West Los Angeles, a passenger in the second car, claimed her neck was hurt in the accident.

MANAGER — Otis Stephens, left, has been named manager of the Armour and Company branch in Monroe. He succeeds Harold Pendery, right, who is being transferred to the New Orleans branch where he will be manager of processed food marketing. Stephens comes to Monroe from Shreveport where he was assistant branch manager. His wife, Katharine, and children, Jeffrey, 5, and Mary Katharine, 3, will join Stephens here next week.

ON GOOD FRIDAY

Pilgrims Retrace Journey Of Christ

JERUSALEM, Jordan Sector (AP)—Pilgrims retraced the journey of Christ to Calvary in prayerful procession Friday.

From 2,000 to 3,000 walked the Via Dolorosa—the Way of the Cross—under a glaring sun from the St. Stephen's Gate area to the site of the Crucifixion.

Christians of many lands, they were divided into language groups.

The Italian group led off through the old city's narrow, twisting alleyways behind two Roman Catholic priests carrying a full-size cross.

This group and others at times prayed in unison, sometimes sang hymns.

At each station a priest recited prayers and gave a short sermon on the biblical incident at that spot.

The crowds included priests and nuns in religious habit, pilgrims with prayerbooks and pilgrims with cameras.

Many Americans were in the English-speaking section.

Belgium's aged Queen Elisabeth—she is 82—wanted to join the Way of the Cross procession, but physicians advised her the climb might overtax her strength. So she joined hundreds in Good Friday adoration at the Church of the Holy Sepulcher and visited the Mount of Olives and the Garden of Gethsemane.

A Roman Catholic burial service, or abbreviated Way of the Cross, was conducted at the church Friday night.

Anglicans participated in a three - hour devotion at St. George's Cathedral. Lutherans had two services—one in German, one in English—at their Church of the Redeemer, near the Holy Sepulcher.

Mine Union, Operators To Resume Talks

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — Eastern Kentucky coal operators and United Mine Workers Union officials came out of a mediation meeting with Gov. A. B. Chandler Friday with an agreement to arrange further talks with UMW international officers at Washington.

The group met at Chandler's request to seek a settlement of the coal strike which has idled 7,000 miners and many mines in eastern Kentucky.

The outcome apparently reflected a belief that no settlement of the dispute could be reached without consulting with UMW chief John L. Lewis and other high union officials in any case.

The joint statement issued after the meeting said both sides "agreed it was the duty and obligation of both groups to exercise every good faith effort to avoid animosity, disorder and violence . . . and pledged themselves to diligently pursue this objective."

The statement said, "The ramp owners and truck operators will select a representative committee, and union representatives will attempt to arrange a conference with the proper officers of the international union, with a view of meeting in Washington where discussions can be further pursued."

Chandler appointed state commissioner of economic security Vego E. Barnes and industrial relations commissioner Oscar J. Coke to represent him at the Washington meeting.

He said talks will be resumed here after the Washington conference, for which no date was set.

The governor said, "There are many sides to this matter—it is a question of big mines and small mines, captive mines and independent mines. It is a very complicated situation. I hope that none of you are inflexible and that you are ready to find a way to solve this problem without sacrificing any principle . . ."

Specific issues in the contract dispute are a $2 per day wage increase and a clause that would prevent union mines from buying coal from smaller, non - union mines.

The strike began March 8 in Harlan County, idling 3,100 miners and spread to six other eastern Kentucky counties.

The coal fields were relatively quiet Friday, although 75 pickets gathered at a Colson, Ky., tipple where threatened violence by more than 1,000 striking miners last Tuesday caused the governor to alert the National Guard.

Smaller groups Friday picketed railroad switching points at Sassafras and Belfry, Ky., but state police said the picketing was "peaceful."

At Pikeville, Ky., the UMW and three Pike County coal operators agreed on the type of picketing and the number of pickets that should be used at individual mines. The three firms last week sought a court order restraining the union from mass picketing—a case that is still under consideration by the judge.

Report Anthrax Killing Cattle In Franklin Parish

WINNSBORO (Special) — Anthrax is in Franklin parish again. J. L. Scott, a dairy operator in the Swampers Community near here has lost two yearlings and one calf. Marion Simon, a neighbor, reports loss of one yearling.

Dr. L. W. Knight, Winnsboro veterinarian, said that according to all evidence, death of the animals was caused by anthrax.

Specimens from the dead animals have been sent to the state diagnostic laboratory at Baton Rouge, but no report has been sent back yet.

Dr. Knight said that all cattlemen in the Swampers vicinity have vaccinated their cattle since Tuesday, when the first animal died.

Several stockmen of Franklin parish suffered heavy losses from anthrax last year. Most of the cattle were vaccinated after the first few cattle died in 1958. However, the vaccination is effective for only one year.

AT 1960 NATIONAL CONVENTION

Demo Party May Attempt To Oust 'Free' Delegates

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Southern Democrats promoting a campaign to free their presidential electors from the party's national apron strings may find themselves in a 1960 convention battle.

The Democratic National Committee has not yet taken action against the so-called "Independent Electors Movement" in the South. However, party sources suggested that party organizations in the Dixie states may get a warning about it.

They said the party's answer might be an attempt to unseat convention delegates from states which have freed Democratic electors of allegiance to the party's national standard-bearers.

The free elector idea has been written into the laws of two states and adopted by the Democratic Party organization of a third.

Georgia passed a law last year and Arkansas approved one this year that frees electors of any requirement to vote for the Democratic presidential ticket. Alabama's Democratic Party also approved the plan.

The independent electors movement is regarded as a maneuver to give southerners more bargaining power in the choice of a 1960 presidential candidate and in drafting of a party platform.

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler, who sometimes has stepped on southern toes, hedged Thursday when asked about the movement at a news conference.

He noted that 1956 convention rules called for delegates to do everything possible to get the party candidate on their state ballots along with a slate of electors pledged to the candidate.

Butler said the next convention still was more than a year away. In the meantime, he said, the party will "watch the situation and be prepared to meet it in the best interest of the party."

Unpledged presidential electors presumably could cost their states' electoral votes for anyone they pleased, regardless of the outcome of the popular balloting. If no presidential nominee got a majority of the electoral vote, the election would be decided in the House of Representatives, where each state would have one vote.

The Democrats have had a history of scrapping about party loyalty. In 1948, a group of southerners walked out of hte convention and formed the States' Rights Party with their own candidates. In 1952, there was another sharp battle over party loyalty. In 1956 the convention adopted a rule committing state party organizations to "under-take to assure" that the Democratic candidate would be on their ballots with a slate of pledged electors.

40 PER CENT GAIN LIKELY

Farmers Boost Cotton Acreage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Operators of 7.2 per cent of the nation's cotton farms have accepted a government offer of the right to grow more cotton but received lower price supports.

They will have about one-fifth on the cotton acreage.

The figures are from a final Agriculture Department tabulation Friday of farmers choosing between two alternative cotton control plans for 1959.

The tabulation showed that operators of 69,138 of the 954,956 farms receiving government planting allotments chose a plan allowing them to increase their allotments 40 per cent.

Those making this choice will be eligible for price supports at 65 per cent of parity. The other farms sticking by their old allotments will be eligible for supports at 80 per cent of parity.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to prices charged for things they must buy.

The choice of programs was offered in a move to make more cotton available at lower prices so that the crop might better compete with synthetic fibers and foreign cotton.

The 69,138 farms taking the new plan increased their total allotments from 2,544,573 to 3,562,403 acres. This brought total allotments for the year to 17,327,830 acres. Those choosing the option to grow more cotton will have about 20.6 per cent of the allotted acreage.

Even though a small percentage of the farm operators chose to expand their allotments, this year's crop should be considerably larger than last year's. If the full allotment is planted, the cotton acreage would be about 40 per cent larger than last year.

In 1958 farmers retired about three million acres of their allotments under a soil bank and retirement program. This soil bank program is not in effect this year.

U. S. Raises Long Boycott Of Bulgaria

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Friday ended a nine-year boycott of Bulgaria after that country's Communist regime promised to avoid harassing American diplomats in the future.

In answer to Bulgarian pleas, the State Department agreed to resume full diplomatic relations by exchanging ministers and reopening the U.S. legation in Sofia.

The action, temporarily easing a bitter dispute dating back to January 1950, came only after the Bulgarian government withdrew charges that the last U.S. minister there was a spy.

The Bulgarians joined the State Department in pledging that full freedom would be given each other's diplomats to operate with normal privileges and immunities.

Top U.S. officials stressed privately that this country will not hesitate to break off relations again if the Bulgarians do not live up to their agreement.

The agreement to renew diplomatic ties came as a climax of nearly 2½ years of secret backstage negotiations whish began in Paris. Final arrangements were made in talks which began last March 4 here and in New York.

A spokesman said the Bulgarians made the first move, approaching the U.S. embassy in Paris in December 1957.

The decision to resume diplomatic relations was dictated mainly by the department's belief that information picked up by American diplomats in their normal duties beyond the Iron Curtain outweighs the psychological advantage of a diplomatic boycott.

Bulgaria's eagerness to resume relations was believed sparked by its hope of increasing trade with the United States and encouraging visits by American tourists.

Fifteen Firemen Are Injured As Buildings Burn

NEW YORK (UPI)—Fire raged out of control for five hours Friday in two loft buildings on Lower Broadway less than 100 yards from another building in which 24 persons were killed and scores injured in a similar blaze March 19, 1958.

Fifteen firemen were injured, none of them seriously. Most were reported suffering from smoke poisoning. No one was believed in the buildings, which were used mainly by textile manufacturers.

Fire Chief George David said the two buildings were long and narrow making fire - fighting effort difficult. Smoldering insulation in the walls also hampered firemen.

The second floor of the six-story building in which the fire started collapsed during the blaze. Two upper floors of the adjacent five-story building also collapsed.

The building in which 24 persons were killed last year also was an old loft structure used mainly by textile companies.

Ex-Convict Held For Theft From Catholic Church

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — A 46-year-old ex-convict was charged Friday with attempting to sell for $7 a $750 gold monstrance he had stolen from a Catholic church.

Officers identified the man as Arthur Zebley of Charlotte, N. C., and said he identified himself as having served 11 years in Moundsville, West Va., prison on burglary and grand larceny convictions.

The monstrance, stolen from St. Patrick's Catholic Church, is a large vessel used during church services.

THE UNWED MOTHER

By ANNE

As told to Sidney Fields

39.

When I learned I was going to have a baby, it's father was 10,000 miles away. We were not married.

My name is Anne; I am 20. My father owns a hardware store in the suburb of a big city. My brother, the oldest, is the favorite. He went to college, I didn't. Not enough money. I got a job as a secretary.

My younger sister is very pretty. They say I'm attractive, but nobody ever called me pretty. When my sister was graduated from high school and won a college scholarship, everybody raved about her. I felt like an exile and found excuses to be away from home.

One boy I knew, Jim, seemed to have a quality I never noticed in other boys. He was a good listener, and I had to talk. Jim seemed to understand what was wrong at home.

We went out more and more, and I hoped he'd say something about being engaged. He didn't. On the day he told me he was going to be drafted, I felt sick. It would be horrible to be thrown back with my family again.

A short time after Jim left for service, I discovered I was pregnant. I was terrified, and alone, very alone. Where could I go?

In desperation I went to a doctor in a nearby town, and asked him to perform an abortion.

"No," he said. He tried to be kind. "You'll be more miserable than you ever were if I did that."

I almost snarled at him: "I don't need advice. I need help. I need someone who really cares. Isn't there anyone? Anyone?"

A MINISTER'S ADVICE

He phoned a minister in the same town, and told him I would come right over. I didn't want to go, but what else could I do?

The minister asked me to sit down. "We can't undo wrong," he said, "but we can do everything right from now on. I'm going to send you to someone who can help you — Mrs. Richard Gould. She works for the Youth Consultation Service."

Mrs. Gould, was a tall, pretty, grey-haired woman, and her eyes seemed to say: "There's nothing to fear."

She told me that for 40 years the Youth Consultation Service had been helping girls in troubled hours.

"It takes courage," she said, "to decide you have a problem so big you can't settle it yourself."

She had the voice of sweet charity, but never mentioned the word.

HOW TO TELL HER PARENTS

"How can I tell my parents! I know I must, but I can't do it. I can't disappear. They'd call the police."

"The first to worry about is yourself," Mrs. Gould said. "You can't stay at home, or go to the local hospital. But you can be safe and reasonably secure in our shelter."

"Is the shelter like a reformatory?" I was afraid again.

"Come and see," she said.

A few days later she took me to the shelter. Youth Consultation Service is sponsored by the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of New York, but the girls they help are of every creed. In one room of the shelter some were reading, others sewing, some watching TV, and others lying down.

"No babies?" I asked Mrs. Gould.

"In the nursery." She took me there. Four babies, all lovely, happy, contented..

WORDS CHOKED HER

"You have a chance to care for and know your baby," Mrs. Gould said. "You go to a hospital to have it, then return here. We have a clinic here, and doctors come once a week to see the girls."

I tried to tell my parents several times, but the words choked in my throat. When I finally did, they looked as if I had hit them with an axe. I talked quickly about Youth Consultation Service and we went to see Mrs. Gould.

The first question my mother asked Mrs. Gould was: "What did we do that was wrong?"

"What's important now is what we can do together that will be right for Anne." Mrs. Gould said. "One thing — you can love your daughter. Very hard. She needs it."

PRAYED WITH HEART

I went into the shelter and became part of the life there. My prayers meant more than ever. Now I prayed with my heart.

But there was a new torment. As the baby became more and more real to me, I began to hurt in a way I hadn't hurt before. Mrs. Gould said the decision was mine to make and whatever good plan I chose for the baby and myself, she would help.

She explained it from all sides: A baby needs roots. I couldn't keep it with my family. If I left home how would I care for the child? I could work and board it out. But would the child grow more fond of the foster mother than of me?

It was a long, bitter decision to reach. Finally I told Mrs. Gould I wanted my baby to be adopted; that it was best for the baby, my family, and me.

TERRIBLE PAIN

When I finally signed the adoption papers, I never knew such inside pain.

I had continued to write Jim, but didn't know whether to tell him or not. Mrs. Gould said Jim had done wrong, too, that fathers should carry part of the responsibility, and are held responsible when possible, but Jim wasn't part of the ordeal. He might feel he had to marry me, or he might be angry and ask: "What right did you have to give my son away?" What good purpose would it serve in telling him? There was no point in creating a new ache for others.

Eventually Jim went out of my life. I met other boys and looked upon them with more understanding. I know my parents and my brother and sister love me, and I love them more deeply than ever.

From time to time I see Mrs. Gould and we write each other. In one letter she wrote:

"If you feel you have made a good decision, the hurt will be less in time. And you can say now: 'With God's help I have experienced yesterday. Good or bad, I am living today, and I am not afraid of tomorrow'."

Refunds On U. S. Sale Of Cotton Will End Aug. 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department will make no more refunds on sale of government owned cotton after Aug. 1 on the ground that the cotton failed to measure up to grade.

The agency announced Friday that after that date all sales will be final and not subject to option by the purchaser to have the cotton reclassed and repriced.

This announcement came after some congressmen had criticized the department's current practice of allowing such reclassification after sales were made. This often has resulted in refunds to buyers on the ground that the cotton they bought did not meet the grade specified in the sale.

The department said it soon will start reclassification of its stocks of cotton from 1957 and earlier crops. As soon as practicable thereafter, it will issue a listing of the reclassed cotton. This cotton will then be offered for sale on the basis of its new classification and without reclassification option.

LENTEN GUIDEPOSTS

THE UNWED MOTHER

By ANNE

As told to Sidney Fields

39.

When I learned I was going to have a baby, it's father was 10,000 miles away. We were not married.

My name is Anne; I am 20. My father owns a hardware store in the suburb of a big city. My brother, the oldest, is the favorite. He went to college, I didn't. Not enough money. I got a job as a secretary.

My younger sister is very pretty. They say I'm attractive, but nobody ever called me pretty. When my sister was graduated from high school and won a college scholarship, everybody raved about her. I felt like an exile and found excuses to be away from home.

One boy I knew, Jim, seemed to have a quality I never noticed in other boys. He was a good listener, and I had to talk. Jim seemed to understand what was wrong at home.

We went out more and more, and I hoped he'd say something about being engaged. He didn't. On the day he told me he was going to be drafted, I felt sick. It would be horrible to be thrown back with my family again.

A short time after Jim left for service, I discovered I was pregnant. I was terrified, and alone, very alone. Where could I go?

In desperation I went to a doctor in a nearby town, and asked him to perform an abortion.

"No," he said. He tried to be kind. "You'll be more miserable than you ever were if I did that."

I almost snarled at him: "I don't need advice. I need help. I need someone who really cares. Isn't there anyone? Anyone?"

A MINISTER'S ADVICE

He phoned a minister in the same town, and told him I would come right over. I didn't want to go, but what else could I do?

The minister asked me to sit down. "We can't undo wrong," he said, "but we can do everything right from now on. I'm going to send you to someone who can help you — Mrs. Richard Gould. She works for the Youth Consultation Service."

Mrs. Gould, was a tall, pretty, grey-haired woman, and her eyes seemed to say: "There's nothing to fear."

She told me that for 40 years the Youth Consultation Service had been helping girls in troubled hours.

"It takes courage," she said, "to decide you have a problem so big you can't settle it yourself."

She had the voice of sweet charity, but never mentioned the word.

HOW TO TELL HER PARENTS

"How can I tell my parents! I know I must, but I can't do it. I can't disappear. They'd call the police."

"The first to worry about is yourself," Mrs. Gould said. "You can't stay at home, or go to the local hospital. But you can be safe and reasonably secure in our shelter."

"Is the shelter like a reformatory?" I was afraid again.

"Come and see," she said.

A few days later she took me to the shelter. Youth Consultation Service is sponsored by the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of New York, but the girls they help are of every creed. In one room of the shelter some were reading, others sewing, some watching TV, and others lying down.

"No babies?" I asked Mrs. Gould.

"In the nursery." She took me there. Four babies, all lovely, happy, contented.

WORDS CHOKED HER

"You have a chance to care for and know your baby," Mrs. Gould said. "You go to a hospital to have it, then return here. We have a clinic here, and doctors come once a week to see the girls."

I tried to tell my parents several times, but the words choked in my throat. When I finally did, they looked as if I had hit them with an axe. I talked quickly about Youth Consultation Service and we went to see Mrs. Gould.

The first question my mother asked Mrs. Gould was: "What did we do that was wrong?"

"What's important now is what we can do together that will be right for Anne." Mrs. Gould said. "One thing — you can love your daughter. Very hard. She needs it."

PRAYED WITH HEART

I went into the shelter and became part of the life there. My prayers meant more than ever. Now I prayed with my heart.

But there was a new torment. As the baby became more and more real to me, I began to hurt in a way I hadn't hurt before. Mrs. Gould said the decision was mine to make and whatever good plan I chose for the baby and myself, she would help.

She explained it from all sides: A baby needs roots. I couldn't keep it with my family. If I left home how would I care for the child? I could work and board it out. But would the child grow more fond of the foster mother than of me?

It was a long, bitter decision to reach. Finally I told Mrs. Gould I wanted my baby to be adopted; that it was best for the baby, my family, and me.

TERRIBLE PAIN

When I finally signed the adoption papers, I never knew such inside pain.

I had continued to write Jim, but didn't know whether to tell him or not. Mrs. Gould said Jim had done wrong, too, that fathers should carry part of the responsibility, and are held responsible when possible, but Jim wasn't part of the ordeal. He might feel he had to marry me, or he might be angry and ask: "What right did you have to give my son away?" What good purpose would it serve in telling him? There was no point in creating a new ache for others.

Eventually Jim went out of my life. I met other boys and looked upon them with more understanding. I know my parents and my brother and sister love me, and I love them more deeply than ever.

From time to time I see Mrs. Gould and we write each other. In one letter she wrote:

"If you feel you have made a good decision, the hurt will be less in time. And you can say now: 'With God's help I have experienced yesterday. Good or bad, I am living today, and I am not afraid of tomorrow'."

Refunds On U. S. Sale Of Cotton Will End Aug. 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department will make no more refunds on sale of government owned cotton after Aug. 1 on the ground that the cotton failed to measure up to grade.

The agency announced Friday that after that date all sales will be final and not subject to option by the purchaser to have the cotton reclassed and repriced.

This announcement came after some congressmen had criticized the department's current practice of allowing such reclassification after sales were made. This often has resulted in refunds to buyers on the ground that the cotton they bought did not meet the grade specified in the sale.

The department said it soon will start reclassification of its stocks of cotton from 1957 and earlier crops. As soon as practicable thereafter, it will issue a listing of the reclassed cotton. This cotton will then be offered for sale on the basis of its new classification and without reclassification option.

'Off-Orbit' Developments

More and more the scientists of the West and Russia are announcing with pride practical accomplishments outside the missile and weapons field.

This is a logical counteraction on the part of the men in the laboratory to the accusation by educators and literary people that the "world is over - stressing science." It also shows a feeling of scientists and public alike that the race for more powerful weapons and the elusive control of outer space is perhaps getting too much attention.

Therefore the scientists are publicizing discoveries which show more work in the direction of benefitting mankind. At present, the new discoveries and attitudes have not made banner headlines, but they are definitely making news.

One recent Soviet claim was the announcement that they had turned sea water into a treatment for acute myopia — near sightedness.

Russian claims, of course can often be taken with a grain of salt. About a year ago, there was the playful rumor that the aeronautical brains of the Soviet were about to produce flapping-wing aeroplanes for the masses. The source of this was a paper of the young Communist League and could have been intended as conjecture in the first place.

But the report on sea water injections for acute myopia was released from a medical publication of the Filatov Opthalmological Institute in Odessa through the official Russian News Agency.

According to the release, the treatment is based on a series of 10 injections. There may be more substance behind the announcement than the usual trumpeted advances in the weapons field. The fact that it was played modestly gives it still more foundation.

From a meeting of missile scientists in California came the account of what many of the weapons men feel about the latest advances everywhere about the carriers of destruction.

A representative of one of the largest American business machine companies — one which designs directional instruments for nose cones in long range missiles — stood among his colleagues and declared his thoughts on the whole dilemma.

His outpouring of his soul — words which branded missile programs everywhere as "the swan song of a dying civilization" — broke up the meeting.

Immediately there were those who objected to his opinion as that of a defeatist. Yet the fact that he was not pointing only to the United States, but to Russia, England, France and all nations involved in the atomic and missile race as well showed the scientist was generally concerned about the plight of mankind in general. No doubt the gentleman was sincerely frustrated about the circle modern-day science has been forced into: that of seeking a "hot" solution to a "cold" war and the hope by all participating governments that the problem will continue to override the solution.

Another note, located in the smaller news stories early this week, was the award of the Danish Sonning Prize to Dr. Albert Schweitzer. Dr. Schweitzer, a medical missonary to Africa and a respected scholar and musician throughout the civilized world, will receive the award, amounting to $14,300, when he comes to Europe next fall. The award was established some years ago by the Danish editor, the late C. J. Sonning. Sir Winston Churchill was the recipient of the award in 1950 for "highly merited work to the benefit of European culture."

Idealists as Albert Schweitzer who are nonetheless very much of this world no doubt serve as pin pricks to other scientists and thinkers who must devote their energies to machines of destruction.

Also Schweitzer — deep in his medical missionary work in Africa — is symbolic of peace in the twentieth century: it is not yet "out of the woods."

Foreign Aid Misuse

While foreign aid has paid dividends to this country in the assurance of overseas air bases, there are those Americans who see in the program a means of picking up a few thousand dollars in loose change.

Edward T. McNamara of Tampa, Florida, who served as public works officer for the International Cooperation Administration mission in Laos from 1955 - 57, said he had received gifts totaling $25,000 from an American owned firm in that southeast Asian country.

The firm—Universal Construction Co. of Bankok and Vientian —had contracts for the construction of highways amounting to $603,205.40. According to McNamara, the project was financed by the International Cooperation Administration (foreign aid) and had made recommendations for more highway building and sales of machinery under the program to the Laos government.

This is a revelation of another poor result of excessive spending abroad. Perhaps McNamara and others in his catagory consider themselves "recovering" misused foreign aid funds to be brought back to America through private channels.

Chairman Porter Harvey of the House Government Operations sub-committee got the information while questioning McNamara. He said the information from the sworn testimony will be turned over to the Department of Justice for further action.

It appears that McNamara in his position as public works officer with the ICA was able to make recommendations to the U. S. Government for certain projects and which contractors were best fitted to do the work.

No doubt, former U. S. Army Major Willis A. Bird and Gerald Peabody — partners in the Universal Construction Co. — could see McNamara was in a good spot to make connections. So they used gifts as a means of persuading him to throw contracts their way.

The account, given in an Associated Press dispatch of March 23, revealed the American - owned firm in which Bird Peabody are partners operates in Japan and Okinawa as well as Laos.

In the questioning by the subcommittee, it was brought out that McNamara was responsible for the signing of certificates of work performance of construction companies in his area under contract to the U. S. government. He said plans and specifications were lacking and no formal checks were made to see that the work was actually done.

This just about completes a certain aspect of the loose controls the government has over American tax money going out of the country in the form of aid. With the admitted good that some of the spending abroad has accomplished, information of this type reveals the evils of laxity and excesses in the program as well as the logical result — graft.

Integration Is Seen As Disease Of Collectivism

WASHINGTON, D C. —Like a good many others, Dr. Dale Alford returned from overseas service in World War II and did not like what was happening to the country.

He soon found himself on a public relations committee of the Arkansas Medical Association with the task of defeating a socialized medicine bill by Senator Murray (Mont.) and Congressman Dingell (Mich.). Nearly a decade later, Dr. Alford won the Little Rock Congressional seat by a spirited write - in campaign against the high-caliber but middle - road incumbent, Brooks Hays. One of the Congressmen who demanded that Alford "stand aside" and await investigation of the election was Rep. Dingell, son of the co-author of the socialized medicine bill.

Dale Alford, a dark, handsome, 43-year-old eye specialist who left a $50,000 a year practice, is too relaxed a personality to mind being referred to in the national press as a "segregationist." He is, of course, a segregationist — but he's a good deal more. He sees the issue of forced integration of Southern schools as the symptom of the deep-seated disease of collectivism. The sickness is eating away at the American nation in many forms and in many areas.

"I first saw it in socialized medicine," Dr. Alford told your reporter, "and in the Federal income tax. A young physician gives a great deal of himself to learning his profession and, as he advances, he takes a great deal of himself away from his family. Then he reaches a point where his hard work brings him less return, because of the taxes he must pay.

"I think a tax system which attacks private enterprise and its profit incentive is striking at the heart of the American way. I have a friend at home who built up a wholesale hardware—sporting goods business to where it provided a number of jobs. But high taxes caused him to cut back his business. So, we had a loss of jobs in our community and another example of private enterprise being destroyed."

Dr. Alford is a man with a 2000-book library, a man who has served on public school boards, private college boards and as president of symphony opera organizations. He is the father of three children and is prominent as lay reader and vestryman in the Episcopal Church. There is no lack of Christian charity or community responsibility in this good man. But he opposes the Welfare State and One Worldism because he sees in them the collectivist conspiracy to destroy this country by share-the-wealth schemes. He is for States' Rights because these represent walls of resistance against strong central government with its historical trend toward dictatorship.

Some six weeks ago Rep. Alford gave a thoroughly-documented House speech which traced by names and cases the Communist thirty - year effort to instigate and exploit racial hatred in the South. But the doctor, who took some of his education in Chicago and has seen race riots there, feels that it is narrow-minded to think of race as a Southern problem. For that matter he finds another narrow-minded tendency when we blame the whole collectivist threat on Communism. There is also the home - grown conspiracy which he calls "Radical Socialism" and which takes us toward the same bonfire. What's his remedy? He says:

"I think we should consider every issue, domestic and foreign, on its relationship with the American Constitution. For example, I'm going to oppose foreign aid from that viewpoint. I am convinced that the Constitution never contemplated taxing Americans for the support of foreign governments."

When Dr. Alford came here in January to take his seat, he encountered the stiff-arm of rejection from many quarters. The liberal press gave him the "treatment." He was featured as guilty-by-association with Gov. Orval Faubus, and as a miscreant who reached Congress by low connivance and rank corruption, none of it with any substance of fact.

But time ticks on, and through the slow but certain ways of Providence, a lot of wrongs get righted. Today many Congressmen wish they hadn't been so willing to hear false witness of their learned colleague from Little Rock.

CHARLES O. GRIDLEY

Michigan Budget Status Shocking

The topheavy federal debt hasn't been a vote controlling issue in any federal election in the past ten years, presumably because the majority of voters were prosperous enough to pay high income taxes. Big spending pressures on the White House and Congress have offset feeble demands for tax reduction. Enough checks from government subsidies and contracts have come into every community to offset any issue raised against spending.

Now the public financial pulse may be beating a little faster. Recent reports from the middle west and southwest from experienced reporters, indicate "not much interest in what's happening about Berlin, but lots of talk about inflation and what Washington is going to dc about it."

But your per capita share of the U. S. public debt, now close to $1590, which probably not more than 5 percent of the population could pay without great personal and family inconvenience --and which a large proportion couldn't pay at all--isn't the only government obligation troubling taxpayers of many states.

The current explosion in Michigan, where the state government faces the most desperate financial crisis of any commonwealth in modern times because its credit is exhausted and it must raise $125 million dollars early in May has caused numerous states to take a long look at their financial situations, even though the average per capita state debt is only $69. Added to that however, is an official Census Bureau figure of $205 per capita in local debts, for a total of $274.

The census bureau figures are two years old, but they are the most recent available.

What the Michigan crisis demonstrates is that while the federal government with its vast credit can go on borrowing indefinitely (though federal securities are finding the market a little tough at present) a state which can't stay within its expenditures faces trouble sooner or later.

Some state legislatures have resisted spending demands better than others, and per capita comparisons don't mean that states with the largest per capita debt are close to bankrupcty. Delaware for example has the largest state debt per capita, $336, plus a local per capita (all local communities together) of $161, a total of $498 to take No. 1 total spot among the erstwhile 48 states and District of Columbia.

Michigan's comparable figures on debt are $79 state and $140 local, a total of $219. The explanation is that much state indebtedness is of long standing, and is being constantly refinanced, which with proper debt management, keeps the threat of bankruptcy at least over the horizon. Michigan has three big state universities to maintain, the heaviest state relief rolls in the nation, and a state payroll of 10 million per month.

The Wolverine state ranks 24th in total debt, while such neighboring states as Illinois, with $277 total per capita and Ohio with $265, rank 13th and 19th respectively. Their governors and local officials have difficulties, but aren't in such a spot as Michigan.

Southern states weren't doing badly in mid-1957. In comparison, total per capital indebtedness Arkansas stood 40th ($149) Mississippi 45th ($131) North Carolina 38th ($159). Other representative states were Louisiana 9th ($321); Texas 11th ($298) Oklahoma 22nd ($233) Tennessee 20th ($258).

The same disparity existed in the middle west where Kansas was 10th ($306; Nebraska 8th ($336), while Iowa was 46th ($113). The smallest total per capita was South Dakota ($66). South Dakota also has the smallest per capita state debt (65 cents). Wisconsin had $1.80 and Nebraska $6.25, all the result of constitutional debt ceilings.

The shift of industrial expansion from the North to states south of the Mason Dixon Line in recent years has further exxplanation in the state per capita debts of that area, which include Texas $23, Mississippi $39, North Carolina $46 Tennessee $30, Arkansas $55, all well below the average for all states of $69.

As Gov. Williams has learned, spending can take the lead, and Washington thinks it will have the same effect on his presidential possibilities, for miracles in state financing are few.

FLEES JAIL AND BRIDE

GLASGOW, Scotland (UPI) — Both the girl and the police were left waiting at the altar Thursday by William Shields, 24.

Shields, sentenced earlier in the day to three years imprisonment for theft, received special permission to marry before going to jail. The police took him to the church and removed Shields' handcuffs.

Shields dashed off and still was at large today.

Test Of Courage

ONE test of courage in this life . . . Is when we are apart . . . From relatives and others who . . . Are treasured in our heart . . . Loneliness is normal to . . . The soul that is sincere . . . But it is not a reason to . . . Be overcome by fear . . . Yes, loneliness can bring about . . . A great anxiety . . . And worry for the welfare of . . . Our precious family . . . It takes a lot of fortitude . . . To turn those thoughts away . . . And try to concentrate upon . . . Our work from day to day . . . Yet, that is what we have to do . . . As God ordains the test . . . And we should strive courageously . . . To give our human best.

DR. PETER J. STEINCROHN

'Nerves' Cause Many Ailments

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: After consulting several doctors about complaints of intestinal gas and indigestion, frequent nausea and headaches, I discovered that they agreed it is all due to nerves. Can you suggest any help for "nerves"?

Please don't say "take a tranquilizer" as my blood pressure is already so low. I haven't enough energy to do half what is required of a homemaker and mother. I have two children aged 3 years and 9 months. Both have been nervous, colicky babies; which the pediatrician blames on my own nervousness.

I learned recently that my mother has many of my complaints and has been diagnosed as being highly nervous. Please. Dr. Steincrohn, what is the solution? Mrs. R. J. C.

ANSWER: Only those who suffer can understand "what nerves can do." I presume that your doctors have put you through a rigamarole of diagnostic tests. For I believe that no diagnosis of "nerves" is justified unless the patient has had a complete work-up.

Many's the patient, treated for "nerves" for years, who was later found to be suffering from low metabolism, secondary anemia or other conditions. In such cases, treating nerves was as ineffectual as pouring a thimble - full of water on a raging blaze.

But let's assume that you have been thoroughly studied; that your discomforts are really due to nervousness. Then, by all means, take sedatives or tranquilizers if they have been prescribed. They will not adversely affect your blood pressure.

And don't be discouraged. See your doctor regularly. Many nervous patients give up too soon because it "takes so long" for the doctor to help them.

COMPLAINS OF MURMUR AND TIREDNESS

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: It seems I've been tired ever since I can remember. When I was a little girl of five I developed a heart murmur. I had to rest often because of it. By the time I reached 12 I was told I had outgrown it.

All though school I was handicapped by lack of energy. My resistance has always been poor. Always required more rest than the average. But people are not very understanding and think you are just lazy.

This is not true in my case. I enjoy doing things and find the feeling of accomplishment is rewarding. If I overdo even the slightest, my so-called limit, I pay for it.

I am married and have three small children. I have a harder time than ever to keep up my work and few outside activities. My husband is energetic and likes doing things continually.

I have been told by a handwriting analyst that my handwriting indicated a glandular disturbance. But my doctor has taken metabolism tests and other laboratory examinations; he says my glands are all right. I'm all mixed up. Have you any helpful suggestions? Mrs. E. J.

ANSWER: The handwriting is right up there on the wall for you to read: GO TO YOUR DOCTOR FOR IMPROVEMENT OF YOUR HEALTH AND NOT TO A HANDWRITING ANALYST.

As for your murmur, what you have said leads me to believe it is functional and harmless. Many overly frightened persons are tired for the rest of their lives because of unnecessary anxiety regarding their hearts.

Go to a good cardiologist and have the "diagnostic works." If he says, unequivocally, that your heart is all right — that, in itself, may put more renewed vigor into you more than could all kinds of pills and potions.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAY'S

High Medicine Cost Defended

Every once in a while, someone writes on the high cost of medicine, the excessive utilization of hospitals, the unnecessary reference to specialists. As I read such articles, I cannot help wondering whether those writers write for nothing, whether they never ask for higher pay, and whether they never believe that they are underpaid considering their alleged talents.

I can go by my experience. During the past two or three years an exceptional proportion of my income has gone to doctors and hospitals, but the alternative would undoubtedly have been no income and beyond any doubt, a tombstone which would have cost more than my hospital bill. In fact, half a century ago, nobody survived who had my combination of illnesses, and as the cost of burials has gone up with inflation, I figure that the doctors who kept me alive and fighting, did it at a very fair price.

How much is a life worth? I don't know, but I like to be alive. I enjoy every moment of it and if I must pay to stay alive, no price is too high. During all the illnesses I lost not more than three columns. True, some of them were written under unbelievable circumstances. But today nothing is unbelievable and as proof I offer John Foster Dulles, the best mind among our officials.

This tremendous progress in saving lives and in making it possible for human beings to live longer and to achieve more and to continue to work under the most difficult physical circumstances has been made possible by doctors, surgeons, chemists, biochemists and hospitals. What is their work worth in dollars? Who can say?

I know that when I discovered that I had a malignant growth, I would have offered all I possessed to have my life saved, not because I am important to mankind but because selfishly, I want to live as long as possible and to be able to support myself and my family as long as I live. How much is that worth? Shall we go to a bargain counter? Shall we shop in a basement?

Hospitals are the place to go to for the best medical attention. The theory that folks go to hospitals for no good reason is, generally speaking, nonsense. The food is too terrible and the atmosphere unpleasant. More lives have been saved by blood testing, by blood transfusions, by the technical work of needle-stickers than the statistics show. And the best place to have such technical work done is in a hospital.

Again I cite personal experience as a witness.

My recent bout with cancer was not what I went to a hospital for. My troubles started when I began to hemorrhage and it was believed that I was overdosed with an anticoagulant. So I was given vitamin K—a clotting vitamin. But the hemorrhage did not stop. It looked as though I might bleed to death. Now here is why a hospital is so useful. For seven days, the technicians and X-ray photographers battled against the unknown and each day, the data collected established that hidden somewhere was something damaging which did not show. Meanwhile, I was kept alive and working in the hospital. One day, a new friend, a surgeon, a man heretofore unknown to me, showed up with another expert from altogether a different hospital. X-ray plates were stuck in a window for the sun to light them up. What I saw was as clear as day and as nasty as death. There it was and from that moment, I knew that I was in the right place and I had confidence that these men and women who were working over me would save my life.

How much is it worth in dollars? How much are dollars worth? Had one of those men or women asked for a settlement then and there, I would have agreed to any price, for I love life; I love my family; I love the world. Who can think about dollars at such a time?

But when we get well, many of us look at the bill, like cheapskates who having gorged themselves in a fancy restaurant, count up the items. As it stands today, I prefer a hospital to a tombstone and am willing to pay the price it costs to keep such institutions going.

Daily Devotional

After this, Jesus knowing that all things were now accomplished, that the Scripture might be fulfilled, saith, I thirst. — St. John 19:28.

It is significant that, all through the life of Christ, He could not be diverted from the course the Father had mapped out for Him. Only once did he weaken, when He said, "Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from Me" — and this was unselfishly qualified by the word "possible". He "steadfastly turned His face toward Jerusalem", where He knew that He would be betrayed and crucified. And He did not deign speak of His thirst until He knew "that all things were now accomplished."

Gracious God, give us the Christian singleness of purpose manifest by Christ. In His name we pray. Amen.

'Off-Orbit' Developments

More and more the scientists of the West and Russia are announcing with pride practical accomplishments outside the missile and weapons field.

This is a logical counteraction on the part of the men in the laboratory to the accusation by educators and literary people that the "world is over - stressing science." It also shows a feeling of scientists and public alike that the race for more powerful weapons and the elusive control of outer space is perhaps getting too much attention.

Therefore the scientists are publicizing discoveries which show more work in the direction of benefitting mankind. At present, the new discoveries and attitudes have not made banner headlines, but they are definitely making news.

One recent Soviet claim was the announcement that they had turned sea water into a treatment for acute myopia — near sightedness.

Russian claims, of course can often be taken with a grain of salt. About a year ago, there was the playful rumor that the aeronautical brains of the Soviet were about to produce flapping-wing aeroplanes for the masses. The source of this was a paper of the young Communist League and could have been intended as conjecture in the first place.

But the report on sea water injections for acute myopia was released from a medical publication of the Filatov Opthalmological Institute in Odessa through the official Russian News Agency.

According to the release, the treatment is based on a series of 10 injections. There may be more substance behind the announcement than the usual trumpeted advances in the weapons field. The fact that it was played modestly gives it still more foundation.

From a meeting of missile scientists in California came the account of what many of the weapons men feel about the latest advances everywhere about the carriers of destruction.

A representative of one of the largest American business machine companies — one which designs directional instruments for nose cones in long range missiles — stood among his colleagues and declared his thoughts on the whole dilemma.

His outpouring of his soul — words which branded missile programs everywhere as "the swan song of a dying civilization" — broke up the meeting.

Immediately there were those who objected to his opinion as that of a defeatist. Yet the fact that he was not pointing only to the United States, but to Russia, England, France and all nations involved in the atomic and missile race as well showed the scientist was generally concerned about the plight of mankind in general. No doubt the gentleman was sincerely frustrated about the circle modern-day science has been forced into: that of seeking a "hot" solution to a "cold" war and the hope by all participating governments that the problem will continue to override the solution.

Another note, located in the smaller news stories early this week, was the award of the Danish Sonning Prize to Dr. Albert Schweitzer. Dr. Schweitzer, a medical missonary to Africa and a respected scholar and musician throughout the civilized world, will receive the award, amounting to $14,300, when he comes to Europe next fall. The award was established some years ago by the Danish editor, the late C. J. Sonning. Sir Winston Churchill was the recipient of the award in 1950 for "highly merited work to the benefit of European culture."

Idealists as Albert Schweitzer who are nonetheless very much of this world no doubt serve as pin pricks to other scientists and thinkers who must devote their energies to machines of destruction.

Also Schweitzer — deep in his medical missionary work in Africa — is symbolic of peace in the twentieth century: it is not yet "out of the woods."

Foreign Aid Misuse

While foreign aid has paid dividends to this country in the assurance of overseas air bases, there are those Americans who see in the program a means of picking up a few thousand dollars in loose change.

Edward T. McNamara of Tampa, Florida, who served as public works officer for the International Cooperation Administration mission in Laos from 1955 - 57, said he had received gifts totaling $25,000 from an American owned firm in that southeast Asian country.

The firm—Universal Construction Co. of Bankok and Vientian—had contracts for the construction of highways amounting to $603,205.40. According to McNamara, the project was financed by the International Cooperation Administration (foreign aid) and had made recommendations for more highway building and sales of machinery under the program to the Laos government.

This is a revelation of another poor result of excessive spending abroad. Perhaps McNamara and others in his catagory consider themselves "recovering" misused foreign aid funds to be brought back to America through private channels.

Chairman Porter Harvey of the House Government Operations sub-committee got the information while questioning McNamara. He said the information from the sworn testimony will be turned over to the Department of Justice for further action.

It appears that McNamara in his position as public works officer with the ICA was able to make recommendations to the U. S. Government for certain projects and which contractors were best fitted to do the work.

No doubt, former U. S. Army Major Willis A. Bird and Gerald Peabody — partners in the Universal Construction Co. — could see McNamara was in a good spot to make connections. So they used gifts as a means of persuading him to throw contracts their way.

The account, given in an Associated Press dispatch of March 23, revealed the American - owned firm in which Bird Peabody are partners operates in Japan and Okinawa as well as Laos.

In the questioning by the subcommittee, it was brought out that McNamara was responsible for the signing of certificates of work performance of construction companies in his area under contract to the U. S. government. He said plans and specifications were lacking and no formal checks were made to see that the work was actually done.

This just about completes a certain aspect of the loose controls the government has over American tax money going out of the country in the form of aid. With the admitted good that some of the spending abroad has accomplished, information of this type reveals the evils of laxity and excesses in the program as well as the logical result — graft.

Integration Is Seen As Disease Of Collectivism

WASHINGTON, D C. —Like a good many others, Dr. Dale Alford returned from overseas service in World War II and did not like what was happening to the country.

He soon found himself on a public relations committee of the Arkansas Medical Association with the task of defeating a socialized medicine bill by Senator Murray (Mont.) and Congressman Dingell (Mich.). Nearly a decade later, Dr. Alford won the Little Rock Congressional seat by a spirited write - in campaign against the high-caliber but middle - road incumbent, Brooks Hays. One of the Congressmen who demanded that Alford "stand aside" and await investigation of the election was Rep. Dingell, son of the co-author of the socialized medicine bill.

Dale Alford, a dark, handsome, 43-year-old eye specialist who left a $50,000 a year practice, is too relaxed a personality to mind being referred to in the national press as a "segregationist." He is, of course, a segregationist — but he's a good deal more. He sees the issue of forced integration of Southern schools as the symptom of the deep-seated disease of collectivism. The sickness is eating away at the American nation in many forms and in many areas.

"I first saw it in socialized medicine," Dr. Alford told your reporter, "and in the Federal income tax. A young physician gives a great deal of himself to learning his profession and, as he advances, he takes a great deal of himself away from his family. Then he reaches a point where his hard work brings him less return, because of the taxes he must pay.

"I think a tax system which attacks private enterprise and its profit incentive is striking at the heart of the American way. I have a friend at home who built up a wholesale hardware—sporting goods business to where it provided a number of jobs. But high taxes caused him to cut back his business. So, we had a loss of jobs in our community and another example of private enterprise being destroyed."

Dr. Alford is a man with a 2000-book library, a man who has served on public school boards, private college boards and as president of symphony opera organizations. He is the father of three children and is prominent as lay reader and vestryman in the Episcopal Church. There is no lack of Christian charity or community responsibility in this good man. But he opposes the Welfare State and One Worldism because he sees in them the collectivist conspiracy to destroy this country by share-the-wealth schemes. He is for States' Rights because these represent walls of resistance against strong central government with its historical trend toward dictatorship.

Some six weeks ago Rep. Alford gave a thoroughly-documented House speech which traced by names and cases the Communist thirty - year effort to instigate and exploit racial hatred in the South. But the doctor, who took some of his education in Chicago and has seen race riots there, feels that it is narrow-minded to think of race as a Southern problem. For that matter he finds another narrow-minded tendency when we blame the whole collectivist threat on Communism. There is also the home - grown conspiracy which he calls "Radical Socialism" and which takes us toward the same bonfire. What's his remedy? He says:

"I think we should consider every issue, domestic and foreign, on its relationship with the American Constitution. For example, I'm going to oppose foreign aid from that viewpoint. I am convinced that the Constitution never contemplated taxing Americans for the support of foreign governments."

When Dr. Alford came here in January to take his seat, he encountered the stiff-arm of rejection from many quarters. The liberal press gave him the "treatment." He was featured as guilty-by-association with Gov. Orval Faubus, and as a miscreant who reached Congress by low connivance and rank corruption, none of it with any substance of fact.

But time ticks on, and through the slow but certain ways of Providence, a lot of wrongs get righted. Today many Congressmen wish they hadn't been so willing to hear false witness of their learned colleague from Little Rock.

CHARLES O. GRIDLEY

Michigan Budget Status Shocking

The topheavy federal debt hasn't been a vote controlling issue in any federal election in the past ten years, presumably because the majority of voters were prosperous enough to pay high income taxes. Big spending pressures on the White House and Congress have offset feeble demands for tax reduction. Enough checks from government subsidies and contracts have come into every community to offset any issue raised against spending.

Now the public financial pulse may be beating a little faster. Recent reports from the middle west and southwest from experienced reporters, indicate "not much interest in what's happening about Berlin, but lots of talk about inflation and what Washington is going to do about it."

But your per capita share of the U. S. public debt, now close to $1590, which probably not more than 5 percent of the population could pay without great personal and family inconvenience --and which a large proportion couldn't pay at all--isn't the only government obligation troubling taxpayers of many states.

The current explosion in Michigan, where the state government faces the most desperate financial crisis of any commonwealth in modern times because its credit is exhausted and it must raise $125 million dollars early in May has caused numerous states to take a long look at their financial situations, even though the average per capita state debt is only $69. Added to that however, is an official Census Bureau figure of $205 per capita in local debts, for a total of $274.

The census bureau figures are two years old, but they are the most recent available.

What the Michigan crisis demonstrates is that while the federal government with its vast credit can go on borrowing indefinitely (though federal securities are finding the market a little tough at present) a state which can't stay within its expenditures faces trouble sooner or later.

Some state legislatures have resisted spending demands better than others, and per capita comparisons don't mean that states with the largest per capita debt are close to bankrupcty. Delaware for example has the largest state debt per capita, $336, plus a local per capita (all local communities together) of $161, a total of $498 to take No. 1 total spot among the erstwhile 48 states and District of Columbia.

Michigan's comparable figures on debt are $79 state and $140 local, a total of $219. The explanation is that much state indebtedness is of long standing, and is being constantly refinanced, which with proper debt management, keeps the threat of bankruptcy at least over the horizon. Michigan has three big state universities to maintain, the heaviest state relief rolls in the nation, and a state payroll of 10 million per month.

The Wolverine state ranks 24th in total debt, while such neighboring states as Illinois, with $277 total per capita and Ohio with $265, rank 13th and 19th respectively. Their governors and local officials have difficulties, but aren't in such a spot as Michigan.

Southern states weren't doing badly in mid-1957. In comparison, total per capital indebtedness Arkansas stood 40th ($149) Mississippi 45th ($131) North Carolina 38th ($159). Other representative states were Louisiana 9th ($321); Texas 11th ($298) Oklahoma 22nd ($233) Tennessee 20th ($258). .

The same disparity existed in the middle west where Kansas was 10th ($306; Nebraska 8th ($336), while Iowa was 46th ($113). The smallest total per capita was South Dakota ($66). South Dakota also has the smallest per capita state debt (65 cents). Wisconsin had $1.80 and Nebraska $6.25, all the result of constitutional debt ceilings.

The shift of industrial expansion from the North to states south of the Mason Dixon Line in recent years has further exxplanation in the state per capita debts of that area, which include Texas $23, Mississippi $39, North Carolina $46 Tennessee $30, Arkansas $55, all well below the average for all states of $69.

As Gov. Williams has learned, spending can take the lead, and Washington thinks it will have the same effect on his presidential possibilities, for miracles in state financing are few.

FLEES JAIL AND BRIDE

GLASGOW, Scotland (UPI) — Both the girl and the police were left waiting at the altar Thursday by William Shields, 24.

Shields, sentenced earlier in the day to three years imprisonment for theft, received special permission to marry before going to jail. The police took him to the church and removed Shields' handcuffs.

Shields dashed off and still was at large today.

Test Of Courage

ONE test of courage in this life . . . Is when we are apart . . . From relatives and others who . . . Are treasured in our heart . . . Loneliness is normal to . . . The soul that is sincere . . . But it is not a reason to . . . Be overcome by fear . . . Yes, loneliness can bring about . . . A great anxiety . . . And worry for the welfare of . . . Our precious family . . . It takes a lot of fortitude . . . To turn those thoughts away . . . And try to concentrate upon . . . Our work from day to day . . . Yet, that is what we have to do . . . As God ordains the test . . . And we should strive courageously . . . To give our human best.

DR. PETER J. STEINCROHN

'Nerves' Cause Many Ailments

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: After consulting several doctors about complaints of intestinal gas and indigestion, frequent nausea and headaches, I discovered that they agreed it is all due to nerves. Can you suggest any help for "nerves"?

Please don't say "take a tranquilizer" as my blood pressure is already so low. I haven't enough energy to do half what is required of a homemaker and mother. I have two children aged 3 years and 9 months. Both have been nervous, colicky babies; which the pediatrician blames on my own nervousness.

I learned recently that my mother has many of my complaints and has been diagnosed as being highly nervous. Please, Dr. Steincrohn, what is the solution? Mrs. R. J. C.

ANSWER: Only those who suffer can understand "what nerves can do." I presume that your doctors have put you through a rigamarole of diagnostic tests. For I believe that no diagnosis of "nerves" is justified unless the patient has had a complete work-up.

Many's the patient, treated for "nerves" for years, who was later found to be suffering from low metabolism, secondary anemia or other conditions. In such cases, treating nerves was as ineffectual as pouring a thimble - full of water on a raging blaze.

But let's assume that you have been thoroughly studied; that your discomforts are really due to nervousness. Then, by all means, take sedatives or tranquilizers if they have been prescribed. They will not adversely affect your blood pressure.

And don't be discouraged. See your doctor regularly. Many nervous patients give up too soon because it "takes so long" for the doctor to help them.

COMPLAINS OF MURMUR AND TIREDNESS

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: It seems I've been tired ever since I can remember. When I was a little girl of five I developed a heart murmur. I had to rest often because of it. By the time I reached 12 I was told I had outgrown it.

All though school I was handicapped by lack of energy. My resistance has always been poor. Always required more rest than the average. But people are not very understanding and think you are just lazy.

This is not true in my case. I enjoy doing things and find the feeling of accomplishment is rewarding. If I overdo even the slightest, my so-called limit, I pay for it.

I am married and have three small children. I have a harder time than ever to keep up my work and few outside activities. My husband is energetic and likes doing things continually.

I have been told by a handwriting analyst that my handwriting indicated a glandular disturbance. But my doctor has taken metabolism tests and other laboratory examinations; he says my glands are all right. I'm all mixed up. Have you any helpful suggestions? Mrs. E. J.

ANSWER: The handwriting is right up there on the wall for you to read: GO TO YOUR DOCTOR FOR IMPROVEMENT OF YOUR HEALTH AND NOT TO A HANDWRITING ANALYST.

As for your murmur, what you have said leads me to believe it is functional and harmless. Many overly frightened persons are tired for the rest of their lives because of unnecessary anxiety regarding their hearts.

Go to a good cardiologist and have the "diagnostic works." If he says, unequivocally, that your heart is all right — that, in itself, may put more renewed vigor into you more than could all kinds of pills and potions.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAY'S

High Medicine Cost Defended

Every once in a while, someone writes on the high cost of medicine, the excessive utilization of hospitals, the unnecessary reference to specialists. As I read such articles, I cannot help wondering whether those writers write for nothing, whether they never ask for higher pay, and whether they never believe that they are underpaid considering their alleged talents.

I can go by my experience. During the past two or three years an exceptional proportion of my income has gone to doctors and hospitals, but the alternative would undoubtedly have been no income and beyond any doubt, a tombstone which would have cost more than my hospital bill. U. S. Atomic Sub Cracks Records the Arctic ice in 1931. Last Aug. 3, the atomic sub Nautilus made the first trip under the Pole itself.

Cmdr. James F. Calvert, the Skate's skipper, messaged Navy headquarters that the sub broke through to the surface at 90 degrees north, the geographical North Pole, on March 17. That was just a little less than 50 years after Commodore Robert E. Peary first reached the Pole over land on April 6, 1909.

The Skate went under the ice at 5 degrees east longitude and about 78 degrees north latitude—or between Greenland and Iceland—and proceeded to the pole. On the return it emerged from the ice about the same point at which it went under.

The Navy's report indicated that ballistic missile launching submarines would be able to operate in wartime in the Arctic. The Skate was equipped with a re-inforced conning tower for its ice-smashing tests.

Cmdr. R. D. McWethy, of the Atlantic Fleet submarine staff, told a news conference the ice was probably just a few inches thick at the Pole although the average thickness of Arctic ice is about 12 feet.

McWethy said submarines would be able to surface around the year through "leads" or spots of open water dotting the ice.

During the voyage, the Skate logged 3,090 miles in the 12 days it spent in the permanent ice area surfacing 10 times. It carried a crew of 106 men.

During its first polar cruise last August, the Skate was in the ice area 10 days and 14 hours, during which it surfaced nine times. The Nautilus, entering the Arctic Ocean from Point Barrow, Alaska, on Aug. 1, sailed beneath the Pole on Aug. 3.

Capt. F. D. Walker, of the Navy's Submarine Warfare Branch, said the Navy was trying through such cruises to learn all it could about the Arctic Basin with a view to future missile submarine operations. Capt. McWethy said there would be more such cruises.

For the most recent voyage, the officers said, the Navy chose the worst time of the year. The ice is heaviest in March, the air temperatures average 30 degrees below zero and there is the least possible open water.

The Skate left its New London, Conn., base on March 4. It is due back April 6.

The Navy announced the cruise after news of the expedition "leaked" out unofficially.

McWethy conceded there was nothing "sensitive" about the project from a security standpoint.

"We just didn't want to advertise it and then fall on our faces," he said.

Calvert, the Skate's skipper, is 38 and a native of Cleveland, Ohio. He was graduated from the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md. in 1952. He took command of the Skate at its commissioning on Dec. 23, 1957, and was its skipper when it set new records for transatlantic crossings and submerged operations.

Tibet Capital Falls; Lama Eludes Reds

rising started, and it was believed here that the 25-year-old Dalai Lama, who is revered in Tibet as a king and reincarnation of Buddha, slipped out of Lhasa and has joined the rebels.

His actual whereabouts is unknown. Recent reports said he was under house arrest in his Potala winter palace at Lhasa.

The sources here said rebels have consolidated their position by cutting the highway from Lhasa to the Chinese province of Sikang and severing a Red supply line. They also were reported to have wiped out isolated Chinese troop garrisons. But the Reds still were believed to have 300,000 trained soldiers in Tibet, with about 50,000 of them in Lhasa alone.

Despite the size of their forces, the rebels led by the Khambas have been able to carve vast areas out from under Red control. They know the wild land. The Chinese do not, and suffer for it in ambushes and hit-run attacks.

Reliable sources said the rebel territory spreads from Lho Dzong in northeastern Tibet to Nag Kalee in the southwest.

The Dalai Lama, who had been a virtual prisoner in his capital city, according to reports, now was believed free to lead his people against the Communists who seized power in 1951 and made Tibet "autonomous."

Reports reaching New Delhi said the Reds have sealed the borders and have asked foreign diplomats to refrain from reporting on the unrest. The only foreign diplomatic missions in Tibet are from neighboring India and Nepal.

Other dispatches reaching the Indian capital quoted Tibetan traders as saying the rebels were planning to step up raids on Chinese convoys and ammunition dumps. More and heavier fighting will come, these traders predicted.

The girl had been missing from home 16 days and was the object of an intensive search in the Spokane area. Police said she disappeared after going out to sell Campfire Girl mints.

Ponder indicated he felt Miller might be "mentally unbalanced" but said he did not plan an examination for him. Officers described him as "very restless and nervous" when first arrested but said he was calm after signing the statement.

Miller, a slender, well-dressed youth, was arrested when he leaped from a bus en route from Tacoma, Wash., to Asheville, N.C., some 20 miles south of here. Officers said he "ran down the street at Hot Springs trying to hop into cars."

Ponder said Miller gave no reason for jumping from the bus except he "thought maybe the law would be waiting for him in Asheville."

The sheriff said he would hold Miller until Spokane authorities checked out the story that he was in the city at the time of the girl's death. Ponder said that if the story did not check out he would charge Miller in connection with the bus-jumping incident.

Miller told Ponder he left Asheville Jan. 11 and went to Denver, Colo., where he stayed about 10 days. From there, Miller said he went to Eaton, Colo., where he worked for four weeks before going to Spokane.

Three Charged With Murder In Abortion Death

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Two women and a man were charged with murder Friday in the abortion death of a pretty 16-year-old bride of nine months.

The Los Angeles County grand jury also will be asked to hear the case next week, Manley J. Bowler, chief deputy district attorney, said.

Accused in the complaints issued Friday were Mrs. Ruth Haskins, 42, previously convicted of abortion; Edgar Schrater, 37, a salesman, and Mrs. Mabel Carroll, 53, a waitress.

Mrs. Haskins, the first of the three to be arrested, said she arranged with Schrater for an abortion for Mrs. Brenda Lenore Emerson, the girl whose body was found on the lawn of a Burbank Hospital Saturday.

The body was discovered after the hospital received an anonymous telephone tip. There was no identification on the dead woman and her purse—believed containing $650 for the illegal operation—was missing.

Coroner Theodore Curphey determined after extensive tests that improper administration of a local anesthetic caused death.

Schrater surrendered Wednesday night, but refused to answer police questions. Mrs. Carroll gave herself up Thursday.

Helen Scheb, an editor on the staff of Mademoiselle, also joined in the tour of the lake's duck blinds and fishing spots. Her comment as the string of a dozen or so motorboats snaked through the cypress trees and stumps, "This is a man's country, but I seem to feel right at home."

Following lunch at the Rendezvous and a look at a local bowling alley, the group toured Monroe parks and flower gardens at several of the Monroe residences.

The Ouachita River was covered via speedboat after which the scribes visited Whitehall Plantation, former Gov. James A. Noe's cattle farm south of the city. Rounding out the afternoon was an inspection of the Armstrong Cricket Farm in West Monroe.

Serving as hosts and accompanying the writers on the tour here were Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard of Monroe, Grayson Guthrie, past president of the Monroe Chamber of Commerce and J. W. Roberson, past president of the West Monroe chamber.

Last night, the visitors were entertained with a deep south supper. Choice items on the menu were frog legs, catfish, barbecue and hush puppies.

Three Persons Are Injured In Accidents

Three Twin Cities residents were injured yesterday in two separate traffic mishaps. One involved a car-truck collision and the other occurred when a pedestrian was struck by a car.

An elderly West Monroe couple, Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Hunt, received injuries when their sedan bounced off the front of a gravel truck and crashed into a utility pole at the intersection of Louisville and Riverside early last night.

Mrs. Hunt, 66 sustained a broken leg and her 70-year-old husband, who was driving, was treated for minor cuts and bruises. They were taken to Wright Bendel Clinic by a Mulhearn ambulance.

The driver of the truck, George E. Mathis, 29, West Monroe, was not hurt.

Police said the Hunt vehicle was turning left off the new bridge onto Riverside and hit the front of the west-bound truck, then struck the light pole. They ticketed Hunt for reckless driving.

Earlier in the day Miss. Carolyn E. Flowers, 18, 1505 South First received leg and back abrasions when she was struck by a car at the intersection of Grammont and Catalpa. A Hall ambulance rushed her to St. Francis hospital.

Driving the car was Mrs. Ruth S. Camp, 58, 907 South Second, who was issued a ticket for reckless driving.

30 On Train Uninjured In Derailment

COS COB, Conn. (AP)—About 30 passengers aboard a New Haven Railroad passenger train escaped injury Friday when five coaches were derailed by a safety switch as the train rolled toward an open drawbridge.

The six-car local train, en route from Stamford to New York's Grand Central Terminal, had just left the Cos Cob station and was moving about 15 miles an hour when it hit the derailment point.

None of the cars overturned when they rumbled off the track about a quarter of a mile from the open bridge across the Mianus River.

The bridge had been opened a few minutes before to permit a tugboat to pass.

A spokesman for the railroad said signal lights tied in with the drawbridge were in operation and that the train apparently went through them.

The railroad spokesman said an investigation was under way.

He said the engineer, W. D. Smith, a railroad veteran of 40 years and an engineer since 1946, had given the railroad a statement, but that no further comment would be made until the investigation was completed.

The train, consisting of five coaches and a baggage car, rumbled about 400 feet past the derailment switch and blocked both of the line's tracks into New York.

The New Haven spokesman said he expected there would be delays in service Friday night as a result of the accident.

RETAIL TRADE

A final burst of Easter shopping this week drove retail trade volume over the levels of both last week and a year ago, Dun & Bradstreet reported. The new passenger car market continued to thrive, matching the volume of the previous week and outstripping sales in the week a year earlier by a substantial margin, the agency said.

SCIENTISTS AGREE

Sun Spots Cause Radiation Zone

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Scientists agreed at a "frontiers of space" seminar here Friday that explosions on the sun are responsible for the outermost of two zones of charged particles recently discovered in the earth's magnetic field.

Their agreement was based on recently analyzed data from America's sun rocket, Pioneer IV.

The two zones, the so-called Van Allen belts, constitute a radiation hazard to travelers venturing unshielded by lead into nearby space.

The source of the charged particles in the inner zone remained a matter of dispute after Friday's seminar, conducted by Dr. Robert Jastrow, chief of the theoretical division of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

But before it left the earth's influence forever and went into orbit around the sun, Pioneer IV reported information from the outer zone which, the scientists agreed, left no doubt that its particles were of solar origin.

Some scientists believe the inner belt's charged particles also come from the sun, but others are convinced they result from cosmic rays from much farther out in the universe.

The two belts, discovered with U.S. satellites by Dr. James A. Van Allen of Iowa University, are wide zones of particles trapped along lines of force in the earth's magnetic field. Such particles stay trapped for periods ranging from a few seconds to 10 years, depending on whether they are in the fringes of the earth's atmosphere or above it.

The intensity of particles reaches a peak at about 1,860 miles altitude in the inner zone and, when the sun is quiet, at about 15,500 miles in the outer zone.

Scientists disagreed as to the origin of the charged particles in both zones until the information from Pioneer IV, launched March 3, was translated. The sun rocket's launching followed five days of intense solar and auroral activity.

During its flight of escape from the earth, Pioneer IV found that the outer zone had been extended by the eruption of particles from the sun and that its center had moved from 15,500 out to 21,700 miles.

The inner zone, however, was not changed by the solar explosions.

Nicholas C. Christofilos of the University of California's Livermore Radiation Laboratory argued that the inner zone particles came from high-energy neutrons created by cosmic ray collisions with air molecules.

These neutrons, formed in vast numbers, decay into negative electrons and positive protons which, he said, are then caught up in high arching magnetic lines of force to form the inner zone.

Jastrow and Dr. Thomas Gold, Harvard astronomy professor, believe the particles in the inner zone also come from the sun by some mechanism not yet clear.

Agreeing with Christofilos on the cosmic ray theory is Dr. S. Fred Singr of the University of Maryland. Christofilos argued that the fact that the inner belt was not affected by the solar flares proves its particles do not come from the sun.

Detroit To Step Up Integration Among Officers

DETROIT (UPI) — A high-ranking Detroit police official said Friday about a dozen more scout car crews will be integrated April 1 and he does not expect any demonstrations from white policemen.

"I think the boys have seen the light," commented senior inspector Arthur Heidt. "We had that little trouble early this month, but that was a spontaneous thing. We don't expect it will occur again."

For about the first five days of March, police went on a ticket-writing strike and only a trickle of tickets rained down on motorists compared to normal times.

U. S. Atomic Sub Cracks Records

the Arctic ice in 1931. Last Aug. 3, the atomic sub Nautilus made the first trip under the Pole itself.

Cmdr. James F. Calvert, the Skate's skipper, messaged Navy headquarters that the sub broke through to the surface at 90 degrees north, the geographical North Pole, on March 17. That was just a little less than 50 years after Commodore Robert E. Peary first reached the Pole over land on April 6, 1909.

The Skate went under the ice at 5 degrees east longitude and about 78 degrees north latitude—or between Greenland and Iceland—and proceeded to the pole. On the return it emerged from the ice about the same point at which it went under.

The Navy's report indicated that ballistic missile launching submarines would be able to operate in wartime in the Arctic. The Skate was equipped with a re-inforced conning tower for its ice-smashing tests.

Cmdr. R. D. McWethy, of the Atlantic Fleet submarine staff, told a news conference the ice was probably just a few inches thick at the Pole although the average thickness of Arctic ice is about 12 feet.

McWethy said submarines would be able to surface around the year through "leads" or spots of open water dotting the ice.

During the voyage, the Skate logged 3,090 miles in the 12 days it spent in the permanent ice area surfacing 10 times. It carried a crew of 106 men.

During its first polar cruise last August, the Skate was in the ice area 10 days and 14 hours, during which it surfaced nine times. The Nautilus, entering the Arctic Ocean from Point Barrow, Alaska, on Aug. 1, sailed beneath the Pole on Aug. 3.

Capt. F. D. Walker, of the Navy's Submarine Warfare Branch, said the Navy was trying through such cruises to learn all it could about the Arctic Basin with a view to future missile submarine operations. Capt. McWethy said there would be more such cruises.

For the most recent voyage, the officers said, the Navy chose the worst time of the year. The ice is heaviest in March, the air temperatures average 30 degrees below zero and there is the least possible open water.

The Skate left its New London, Conn., base on March 4. It is due back April 6.

The Navy announced the cruise after news of the expedition "leaked" out unofficially.

McWethy conceded there was nothing "sensitive" about the project from a security standpoint.

"We just didn't want to advertise it and then fall on our faces," he said.

Calvert, the Skate's skipper, is 38 and a native of Cleveland, Ohio. He was graduated from the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md. in 1952. He took command of the Skate at its commissioning on Dec. 23, 1957, and was its skipper when it set new records for transatlantic crossings and submerged operations.

Tibet Capital Falls; Lama Eludes Reds

rising started, and it was believed here that the 25-year-old Dalai Lama, who is revered in Tibet as a king and reincarnation of Buddha, slipped out of Lhasa and has joined the rebels.

His actual whereabouts is unknown. Recent reports said he was under house arrest in his Potala winter palace at Lhasa.

The sources here said rebels have consolidated their position by cutting the highway from Lhasa to the Chinese province of Sikang and severing a Red supply line. They also were reported to have wiped out isolated Chinese troop garrisons. But the Reds still were believed to have 300,000 trained soldiers in Tibet, with about 50,000 of them in Lhasa alone.

Despite the size of their forces, the rebels led by the Khambas have been able to carve vast areas out from under Red control. They know the wild land. The Chinese do not, and suffer for it in ambushes and hit-run attacks.

Reliable sources said the rebel territory spreads from Lho Dzong in northeastern Tibet to Nag Kalee in the southwest.

30 On Train Uninjured In Derailment

COS COB, Conn. (AP)—About 30 passengers aboard a New Haven Railroad passenger train escaped injury Friday when five coaches were derailed by a safety switch as the train rolled toward an open drawbridge.

The six-car local train, en route from Stamford to New York's Grand Central Terminal, had just left the Cos Cob station and was moving about 15 miles an hour when it hit the derailment point.

None of the cars overturned when they rumbled off the track about a quarter of a mile from the open bridge across the Mianus River.

The bridge had been opened a few minutes before to permit a tugboat to pass.

A spokesman for the railroad said signal lights tied in with the drawbridge were in operation and that the train apparently went through them.

The railroad spokesman said an investigation was under way.

He said the engineer, W. D. Smith, a railroad veteran of 40 years and an engineer since 1946, had given the railroad a statement, but that no further comment would be made until the investigation was completed.

The train, consisting of five coaches and a baggage car, rumbled about 400 feet past the derailment switch and blocked both of the line's tracks into New York.

The New Haven spokesman said he expected there would be delays in service Friday night as a result of the accident.

RETAIL TRADE

A final burst of Easter shopping this week drove retail trade volume over the levels of both last week and a year ago, Dun & Bradstreet reported. The new passenger car market continued to thrive, matching the volume of the previous week and outstripping sales in the week a year earlier by a substantial margin, the agency said.

SCIENTISTS AGREE

Sun Spots Cause Radiation Zone

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Scientists agreed at a "frontiers of space" seminar here Friday that explosions on the sun are responsible for the outermost of two zones of charged particles recently discovered in the earth's magnetic field.

Their agreement was based on recently analyzed data from America's sun rocket, Pioneer IV.

The two zones, the so-called Van Allen belts, constitute a radiation hazard to travelers venturing unshielded by lead into nearby space.

The source of the charged particles in the inner zone remained a matter of dispute after Friday's seminar, conducted by Dr. Robert Jastrow, chief of the theoretical division of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

But before it left the earth's influence forever and went into orbit around the sun, Pioneer IV reported information from the outer zone which, the scientists agreed, left no doubt that its particles were of solar origin.

Some scientists believe the inner belt's charged particles also come from the sun, but others are convinced they result from cosmic rays from much farther out in the universe.

The two belts, discovered with U.S. satellites by Dr. James A. Van Allen of Iowa University, are wide zones of particles trapped along lines of force in the earth's magnetic field. Such particles stay trapped for periods ranging from a few seconds to 10 years, depending on whether they are in the fringes of the earth's atmosphere or above it.

The intensity of particles reaches a peak at about 1,860 miles altitude in the inner zone and, when the sun is quiet, at about 15,500 miles in the outer zone.

Scientists disagreed as to the origin of the charged particles in both zones until the information from Pioneer IV, launched March 3, was translated. The sun rocket's launching followed five days of intense solar and auroral activity.

During its flight of escape from the earth, Pioneer IV found that the outer zone had been extended by the eruption of particles from the sun and that its center had moved from 15,500 out to 21,700 miles.

The inner zone, however, was not changed by the solar explosions.

Nicholas C. Christofilos of the University of California's Livermore Radiation Laboratory argued that the inner zone particles came from high-energy neutrons created by cosmic ray collisions with air molecules.

These neutrons, formed in vast numbers, decay into negative electrons and positive protons which, he said, are then caught up in high arching magnetic lines of force to form the inner zone.

Jastrow and Dr. Thomas Gold, Harvard astronomy professor, believe the particles in the inner zone also come from the sun by some mechanism not yet clear.

Agreeing with Christofilos on the cosmic ray theory is Dr. S. Fred Singr of the University of Maryland. Christofilos argued that the fact that the inner belt was not affected by the solar flares proves its particles do not come from the sun.

Detroit To Step Up Integration Among Officers

DETROIT (UPI) — A high-ranking Detroit police official said Friday about a dozen more scout car crews will be integrated April 1 and he does not expect any demonstrations from white policemen.

"I think the boys have seen the light," commented senior inspector Arthur Heidt. "We had that little trouble early this month, but that was a spontaneous thing. We don't expect it will occur again."

For about the first five days of March, police went on a ticket-writing strike and only a trickle of tickets rained down on motorists compared to normal times.

Ike Attends Good Friday Church Rites

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UPI) — President and Mrs. Eisenhower attended Good Friday services here as part of a "very quiet week end" at their Pennsylvania farm.

The Eisenhowers went to the First Methodist Church here for a 25-minute combined service sponsored by local Protestant congregations. Eight ministers took part in the service, with the Rev. Edwin Elliott, pastor of the Marsh Creek Presbyterian Church, recounting the story of the Crucifixion.

The weather was overcast, with a light rain falling.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen that Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower and their four children would not join the President and Mrs. Eisenhower as originally planned.

He said the reason for the change in plans was not known. It might have been the weather

Hagerty said the Eisenhowers planned "a very quiet week end" at the farm. The President inspected his cattle and worked on correspondence Friday morning, Hagerty said.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

U. S. Senator For Russian Troops Shift

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said Friday the United States should propose that the Russians withdraw troops from Poland and Czechoslovakia at the forthcoming Big Four foriegn ministers meeting.

Humphrey, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the pre-summit discussions on the Berlin crisis should deal with German reunification and the "whole problem of Central Europe."

"I believe that the central first principle of our negotiations should be to get the removal of the Red army from certain areas of Central Europe," Humphrey said in a recording for an AFL-CIO public service radio program.

"The day that the Red army leaves Poland, even if it is on the borders of Poland. . .on that day there will be more freedom in Poland; no doubt about it," he said. "The same thing is true of Czechoslovakia or Hungary."

Humphrey, who had an eight-hour talk with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev recently, said the Communist Party boss told him four separate times that reunification of Germany now is out of the question.

"He wants to get us out of that last area of freedom called Berlin," Humphrey said. "He says it is a bone in his throat. . . and he's choking on it a bit. I might add that this is bone we ought not to remove."

Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.), who is also a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he doubted the Russians would start a world war over Berlin. Appearing on the same program, Wiley said free elections should be an "integral part" of any German unification plan.

Ike Attends Good Friday Church Rites

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UPI) — President and Mrs. Eisenhower attended Good Friday services here as part of a "very quiet week end" at their Pennsylvania farm.

The Eisenhowers went to the First Methodist Church here for a 25-minute combined service sponsored by local Protestant congregations. Eight ministers took part in the service, with the Rev. Edwin Elliott, pastor of the Marsh Creek Presbyterian Church, recounting the story of the Crucifixion.

The weather was overcast, with a light rain falling.

Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen that Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower and their four children would not join the President and Mrs. Eisenhower as originally planned.

He said the reason for the change in plans was not known. It might have been the weather

Hagerty said the Eisenhowers planned "a very quiet week end" at the farm. The President inspected his cattle and worked on correspondence Friday morning, Hagerty said.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

U. S. Senator For Russian Troops Shift

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said Friday the United States should propose that the Russians withdraw troops from Poland and Czechoslovakia at the forthcoming Big Four foriegn ministers meeting.

Humphrey, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said the pre-summit discussions on the Berlin crisis should deal with German reunification and the "whole problem of Central Europe."

"I believe that the central first principle of our negotiations should be to get the removal of the Red army from certain areas of Central Europe," Humphrey said in a recording for an AFL-CIO public service radio program.

"The day that the Red army leaves Poland, even if it is on the borders of Poland. . .on that day there will be more freedom in Poland; no doubt about it," he said. "The same thing is true of Czechoslovakia or Hungary."

Humphrey, who had an eight-hour talk with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev recently, said the Communist Party boss told him four separate times that reunification of Germany now is out of the question.

"He wants to get us out of that last area of freedom called Berlin," Humphrey said. "He says it is a bone in his throat. . . and he's choking on it a bit. I might add that this is bone we ought not to remove."

Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.), who is also a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he doubted the Russians would start a world war over Berlin. Appearing on the same program, Wiley said free elections should be an "integral part" of any German unification plan.

State Holds Lead After Day Of Brilliant Pitching

By BOB ANDERSON

Mississippi State rebounded neatly from a 10-0 shellacking at the hands of revived LSU to beat Northwestern and hang onto first place as brilliant pitching highlighted the second day of the Northeast Easter Baseball Tournament Friday.

LSU, whose pitchers couldn't hold a 12-3 lead in one of its two losses Thursday, surged back behind two-hit masterpieces by Butch Mixon and Bob Flowers to take a share of second place with host Northeast, which got 4-hit pitching from lefthander Terry Reeves to win its morning game over Northwestern.

Righthander Jim Pruett blanked Northwestern on three hits in the afternoon to give Mississippi State the undisputed lead in the three-day tournament.

LSU beat State, 10-0, behind Mixon and Northeast stopped Northwestern, 6-1, behind Reeves in the morning games and Pruett's mound work gave State a 9-0 triumph over Northwestern in one afternoon game and LSU, with Flowers on the hill, beat Northeast, 6-1, in the other.

Paul Gregory's Mississippi State Maroons are now 3-1 in the tournament, which ends with four games Saturday, and Northeast and LSU are tied for second at 2-2. Northwestern trails with a 1-3 mark.

Both Mixon and Flowers had no-hitters going for five innings yesterday. State's Larry Gore broke Mixon's spell with two gone in the sixth of the morning game and George Bryan of Northeast spoiled Flowers' no-hitter (and shutout) in the sixth of the afternoon clash with a run-scoring single.

Reeves was as tough with his bat as he was with his strong left arm in Northeast's morning win over Northwestern. The Monroe southpaw, making his first start of the season, struck out four and batted in three runs with a sacrifice fly and a single.

Pruett, a deliberate righthander, didn't allow a hit after the first three innings against Northwestern. He didn't strike out a man and walked four but allowed more than one man on the basepaths only once.

State can clinch at least a tie for the tournament title by defeating Northeast this morning on the college diamond. LSU will play Northwestern at Legion Stadium in the other morning game.

Both afternoon games will be played at the Northeast field this afternoon with Northeast to meet Northwestern at 1:30 and State to take on LSU immediately afterward. Both afternoon games, as well as the morning affairs, will be seven innings.

LSU 10, MISS. STATE 0

While Butch Miron, righthanded sophomore, was handcuffing Mississippi State with a two-hitter, his LSU mates used a six-run fourth inning to shell the Maroon righthander, Bill Schoenrock, and coasted to victory in their morning clash.

Fielding errors contributed heavily to the fourth inning scoring, with only the first of the six tallies falling into the earned class.

Three errors mixed with a double and a single by Carey Guglielmo, a double by Ronnie Naff, singles by Bob Loftin and Andy Bourgeois, and a base on balls to Denny Hill figured in LSU's big inning.

The Tigers had scored first in the second inning on singles by Bourgeois and Naff, and Guglielmo's sacrifice, and once in the third on singles by Purvis and Bill Loftin, with Johnston getting on base in between when he was hit by a pitched ball.

Naff scored once for LSU in the sixth when he walked and advanced on wild pitches, and Johnston tallied No. 10 in the seventh when he walked, stole second, and advanced on an error and a wild pitch.

Schoenrock was followed by Roger Thomas and Bill May on the mound, and the reliefers pitched hitless ball in the three innings they worked. LSU punched out nine hits, two each by Bourgeois, Naff, and Guglielmo.

Mixon had a no-hitter until Larry Gore tagged him for a single in the sixth. Ben Glover got the other Maroon hit of Mixon in the seventh.

NORTHEAST 6, NSC 1

Northeast lefthander Terry Reeves struck out brother Larry Reeves to start the game and that set the pace.

The Demons did manage to nick the Monroe hurler for an unearned run in the first frame but they never came close again until the ninth.

By then, Northeast enjoyed a 6-1 lead and had the game under control. With two out, Charley Hines singled and Billy Ray Harper walked: Reeves, however, ended it as he had started it — with a strikeout, fanning pinch-batter Sidney Sanders on a 2-2 pitch.

Northwestern scored in the first when Ralph Conrad reached first on an error, went to third on Billy Jack Booth's single and came home on another error.

Northeast tied it up in the third when Ike McMullen singled and moved all the way around on an infield out and two passed balls. George Luffey's Tribe went ahead in the fourth on an error, Freddy Peters' single and Red Rushing's sacrifice fly.

Reeves knocked in his first run in the sixth. Peters singled, went to second on an overthrow of first and stole third standing up. Reeves then flied to left to plate Northeast's third run.

Reeves drove in two more and John O'Conner one in the three-run seventh. Gary Huckabay started the parade by singling and advancing to second on an error. O'Conner doubled Huckabay home and starter Frankie Jones departed in favor of Ruston's Eddie Hood.

Hood fanned George Bryan but hit Petras. Peters grounded out to advance both runners before Reeves singled to score the last two runs.

LSU 6, NORTHEAST 1

Righthander Bob Flowers spun a neat two-hitter and Andy Bourgeois drove in four runs with a home run and two singles as LSU tumbled Northeast in an afternoon game, 6-1.

Flowers set the Indians down without a hit until first baseman George Bryan broke the skein with a solid single to center in the sixth inning. Gary Huckabay collected the only other Northeast hit to lead off the last frame.

Bourgeois lofted a high popup in the third inning which fell between third base and shortstop to drive in two runs. In the fifth he clouted a 320-foot homer with the bases empty and brought home Bob Loftin with a single in the seventh.

Darryl Boothe, freshman hurler from Harrisonburg, went the distance for the host Indians and was charged with the loss.

Flowers, making his first start of the year, struck out 9, while walking three. Boothe whiffed four and gave up two free passes.

MISS. STATE 9, N'WESTERN 0

Pruett was staked to a four-run lead in the first nining and Northwestern was out of the ball game.

Craig walked to start it off and Gore doubled him to third. Turner walked and Boring singled, scoring Craig. Bailey grounded to thrid and Turner was forced at home.

Gary Dempsey fanned for the second out but, with the bases loaded, James Goodwin doubled to center, sending across three runs.

The Maroons scored again in the fourth on Hair's single, Pruett's sacrifice, Craig's walk and one baggers by Gore and Turner.

State picked up three in the sixth against Jones. Craig singled with one gone, Gore walked and Turner sent them both home with a double. Turner went to third on an error and then came home on a wild pitch with the final run of the game.

Pruett gave up a single to Booth in the first, one to Knotts in the second and the last one to Conrad in the third. After that, he was untouchable.

Notre Dame will begin preparations for its 71st football season on April 11. Joe Kuharich, recenty-appointed head coach, has set that date for the beginning of spring practice.

Billy O'Dell Ailing With Back Injury

BALTIMORE (AP) — Oriole pitcher Billy O'Dell is suffering from what a team of three doctors described Friday as a "low back muscle spasm."

The hurler made a special trip by plane from the Baltimore Orioles training camp in Miami, Fla. to try to find out what is causing his back misery.

The ace Bird pitcher complained this morning of his back. Trainer Eddie Weidner had to give him some sedatives to ease the pain before the northbound flight.

O'Dell went to Union Memorial Hospital where he underwent a series of X-rays under the supervision of Dr. Erwin Mayer, club physician. Two other doctors, Edmund McDonald and James G. Arnold, were called in for the diagnosis.

Alabama Beats Greenies, 8-0

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—Alabama opened its Southeastern Conference baseball season Friday with an 8-0 victory over Tulane behind the slugging of Ken Chapman and Tony Proctor.

Chapman led the nine-hit Alabama attack with two singles, a home run and drove in four runs. Proctor drove home two with a single and a triple in four times at bat.

Milwaukee Puts Six Youngsters On Farm Rolls

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves Friday sent six young players to their minor league clubs, cutting the roster of the parent club to 34.

Outfielder Lee Maye and pitchers Don Nottebart and Dale Hendrickson were sent to Louisville of the American Assn. and pitcher Winston Brown to Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League. Catcher Merritt Ranew and shortstop Mickey Sinnerud were ordered to report to the Braves' minor league camp at Waycross, Ga. for assignment.

Stan Drobac, Michigan State's tennis coach, was the Big Ten's singles champion as an undergraduate in 1953.

LSU's Essig Tops Cupit In Sudden Death

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Don Essig of LSU took a sudden death playoff with Jacky Cupit of Houston Friday to win the individual medal title, and defending champion Houston refrained the team championship of the Southwestern Intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

A 10-foot birdie putt on the first extra hole enabled Essig to turn back Cupit, the 1958 winner. They had finished the regulation 72 holes in a deadlock at 294, 6-over-par for the 6,801-yard Pine Forest Country Club course.

Essig and teammate Sam Carmichale also won the low two-ball title with a 275.

Houston also defeated Oklahoma State, 5½ to ½ for the team match championship and retained the low four-ball trophy with a 261.

Houston, NCAA champions the past three years, trailed Oklahoma State by seven strokes in the team medal after the morning third round. With Cupit and Bob Pratt leading the way, the afternoon Cougar comeback produced a 290 and 72-hole 1,215 while Oklahoma State was settling for a 307 and a final 1,225.

LSU was third, followed by Texas Christian, Arizona State, North Texas State, New Mexico, Texas A&M, Texas Tech, Texas, Baylor, Southern Methodist, Memphis State, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Rice.

Houston also claimed the overall team championship with 71 points, followed by LSU, Oklahoma State, TCU, Arizona State, North Texas and New Mexico.

Davis Ends College Track Career Today

BIG SPRING, Tex. (AP)—Ohio State has the great Glenn Davis for the last time Saturday as it goes after its second track victory in a week of Texas campaigning.

The Buckeyes, winners of the West Texas Relays at Odessa, will be after the title in the American Business Club Relays. And Davis, world's record-holder in the 440-yard dash and 400-meter champion of the Olympic Games, will be winding up his college athletic eligibility.

Opposing Ohio State will be Abilene Christian, East Texas State, Texas Tech, Houston, Baylor, Southern Methodist, Texas A&M and North Texas State.

Leading an expected record barrage are sprinters Sidney Garton of East Texas State and Bill Woodhouse of Abilene Christian, broad jumpers Lee Williams of Ohio State and James Baird of East Texas State, two-miler Jan Ahlberg of Southern Methodist, high jumper Don Stewart of Southern Methodist and Abilene Christian and Ohio State relay teams.

The Davis-sparked Ohio State sprint medley and 880-yard relay teams are expected to hang up new marks and Abilene Christian is looked upon as the potential 440-yard relay record setter.

The individual feature race is the 100-yard dash matching Woodhouse, who has run it 9.3 and 9.4 this season, and Garton, the East Texas State freshman, who has a 9.4 to his credit.

Laurel Race Course's new spring stake, the $25,000 Wilwyn Handicap, is named for the English winner of the first Laurel International in 1952.

BIGGEST FIELD

Arkansas Derby Gets 16 Horses

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The largest field in the 23 year history of the Arkansas Derby seemed assured Friday when 16 three-year-olds were entered for the $20,000 added event which will close Oaklawn Park's meeting Saturday.

Heading the field and in the number one post position is Greentree Stable's favored Sputnik, beaten only a nose by Master Palynch in the $40,000 added Louisiana Derby March 7. He will share equal top weight of 116 pounds in the mile and a furlong Derby with Dhaulagiri, Mail Order, Soda Card, Friendly Jester and Am Away. Carrying 113 pounds under allowance conditions of the race will be Another Sin, Bernmattar and Know It.

Assigned 110 pounds are Kintaro, Lucky Page, Sir Tom, Al Davelle, That Black One and Steno Bill. Dahela, only filly entered, is the lightweight of the field with 105 pounds.

Although finishing fifth behind Dhaulagiri, That Black One, Sir Tom and Am Away in his only previous effort at Oaklawn, Sputnik is expected to rule a 5-2 favorite if the track is fast. Dhaulagiri beat him two lengths in the mud over a mile and 70-yard distance but finished fifth when Sputnik was runner-up in the Louisiana Derby which was run over a fast track at a mile and a furlong, the longer distance.

Sputnik will be ridden by Johnny Ruane.

Detroit To Try Doby In Lineup For Game Today

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Larry Doby is scheduled to make his first appearance in the Detroit line-up when the Tigers meet the St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg Saturday.

"And I'll be ready for it," said the former Cleveland outfielder who came to the Tigers Saturday in a trade for Tito Francona. "I didn't come here to sit on the bench."

Bill Norman, Tiger manager, said Doby would start in left field against the Cardinals and probably bat sixth.

The Tigers had an open date in the exhibition schedule Friday.

Bully Celtics With Threats Of $500 Fine

BOSTON (AP) — Fiery Coach Red Auerbach threatened a $500 fine to any member of the Boston Celtics squad who didn't get into the spirit of a gruelling workout Friday on the eve of their televised National Basketball Assn. playoff game with Syracuse.

Auerbach has been doing a slow burn over his club's 119-107 loss at Syracuse Wednesday night which tied the best-of-7 Eastern Division final series 2-2.

As one observer put it, the Celts simply played "lousy basketball."

"I'm not fooling," Auerbach barked as the workout began, "and it will cost any of you $500 to find out if you don't believe me."

There has been much talk locally about the mental block the Boston team has about playing in Syracuse with its wild-eyed fans. But the only blocks Auerbach is interested in are those that will keep Syracuse top scorers Dolph Schayes and George Yardley away from the basket and away from the rebounds.

Syracuse also arrived Friday and went through a drill.

What first looked like a Boston breeze has become a "homer" series.

The Celtics who set an NBA record for most victories in a season, and described by Auerbach as the greatest club he's ever known have won twice at Boston Garden by 22 points. At Syracuse, however, they've been stricely sub-par.

If the Nats can edge Boston Saturday the Celts will be in serious trouble. The TV contest starts at 3 p.m., EST, NBC.

20 Yards More For Golf Balls

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Three manufacturers say they're ready to market golf balls which will add up to 20 yards on a drive. That's great, but don't go getting excited, duffers.

They may be against the law—golf law, that is.

The U. S. Golf Assn., which keeps an eagle eye on such things is not ready to yield to jet propulsion tendencies in this missile age—even relating to golf shots.

"We can't permit the game to get distorted," said Joe Dey Jr., executive director of the USGA, Friday. "Naturally, we are concerned about these reports of super-lively golf balls. We have rules to keep these things in proper balance."

Dey pointed out that if people started hitting golf balls farther courses would have to be bigger. This calls for more real estate. More real estate calls for more taxes and more expense. Ad infinitum.

"Our rules cover the weight, diameter and velocity of the golf ball," Dey added. "We carry on rigid tests constantly. We permit no violations."

One company is prepared to sell a new liquid center ball which it claims will travel up to 20 yards farther. Another has a plastic center pellet which is supposed to add 15 yards to a drive. A third company has a ball which is supposed to outfly any of them.

Golf rules state that the American ball must be not less than 1.680 inches in diameter. Not more than 1.620 ounces in weight and must meet certain velocity tests.

The velocity tests are carried out by a big contraption which occupies half the basement of the Golf House Museum in midtown New York.

The machine has a wheel which gives the ball a Snead-like wallop, drives it through a 20-foot tube, past electronic devices into a giant screen. The electric eyes record the velocity of the ball.

The rules state that a ball, so hit, should not travel more than 250 feet per second—or the equivalent of about a 240-yard drive, the distance most pros hit the ball. If the ball goes faster than that, then it's banned.

Gomes Beats Jorgensen In Feather Scrap

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Harold Gomes tagged Paul (Sonny) Jorgenson with an amazing succession of right-hand "sucker" leads Friday night to score a unanimous decision over the world's second-ranked featherweight contender in their nationally-televised 10-round bout.

Gomes, weighing 130 pounds to his opponent's 132½, carried the fight in almost every round and forced the taller, fancier-boxing Jorgensen to switch his strategy in the middle rounds. By that time Gomes had piled up an early lead and they battled at least on even terms in the close in-fighting of the late rounds.

Referee Billy Regan gave Gomes the fight, 96-95, Judge Carl Gardner scored it 98-95 for the Providence, R.I., boy and Judge Fred Aaronson had it 97-95. The United Press International favored Gomes, 97-95.

The victory, Gomes' 17th in his last 18 bouts, undoubtedly put him in a position to challenge for the world featherweight title. For Jorgensen, a slick boxer from Port Arthur, Tex., it was a sixth defeat in 85 professional fights.

The loss also snapped Jorgenson's string of 31 consecutive bouts without a defeat.

There were no knockdowns and the only blood which showed poured from Jorgenson's nose in the ninth round after they came out of a right-left-right flurry on the ropes.

Gomes, the aggressor from the start, won the early rounds with a two-handed attack that piled up points against an opponent who was content to backtrack and spear away with his long left.

Gomes attacked from a low crouch from the start, firing lefts and rights from off his hips and forcing Jorgenson to give ground. As Jorgenson stepped forward, Gomes would straighten up and fire away with a right hand lead.

Jorgenson switched his fancy-dan tactics in the fifth round and scored some points in the middle rounds but Gomes, fighting hardest after he was hit the hardest, fought inside and pounded away at his taller opponent on those occasions.

A sharp right bloodied Jorgenson's nose slightly in the eighth round and Gomes had it bleeding freely in the ninth when the two battled away toe-to-toe for perhaps the best exchange of the bout.

Nats Dispose Of Talent Up From Lookouts

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—The Washington Senators Friday sold outfielder Len Tucker and optioned pitcher Ted Abernathy to Miami of the International League.

Tucker was the property of Chattanooga of the Southern Assn. Chattanooga is owned by the Senators. Last season with Poza Rica of the Mexican League, the 29-year-old Tucker batted .328 with 21 homers and 29 stolen bases.

Abernathy, a right-hander submariner won nine and lost nine with Chattanooga last year.

The Senators held a light workout Friday. Manager Cookie Lavagetto nominated Hal Griggs and John Romonosky to pitch against the Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday afternoon.

State Holds Lead After Day Of Brilliant Pitching

By BOB ANDERSON

Mississippi State rebounded neatly from a 10-0 shellacking at the hands of revived LSU to beat Northwestern and hang onto first place as brilliant pitching highlighted the second day of the Northeast Easter Baseball Tournament Friday.

LSU, whose pitchers couldn't hold a 12-3 lead in one of its two losses Thursday, surged back behind two-hit masterpieces by Butch Mixon and Bob Flowers to take a share of second place with host Northeast, which got 4-hit pitching from lefthander Terry Reeves to win its morning game over Northwestern.

Righthander Jim Pruett blanked Northwestern on three hits in the afternoon to give Mississippi State the undisputed lead in the three-day tournament.

LSU beat State, 10-0, behind Mixon and Northeast stopped Northwestern, 6-1, behind Reeves in the morning games and Pruett's mound work gave State a 9-0 triumph over Northwestern in one afternoon game and LSU, with Flowers on the hill, beat Northeast, 6-1, in the other.

Paul Gregory's Mississippi State Maroons are now 3-1 in the tournament, which ends with four games Saturday, and Northeast and LSU are tied for second at 2-2. Northwestern trails with a 1-3 mark.

Both Mixon and Flowers had no-hitters going for five innings yesterday. State's Larry Gore broke Mixon's spell with two gone in the sixth of the morning game and George Bryan of Northeast spoiled Flowers' no-hitter (and shutout) in the sixth of the afternoon clash with a run-scoring single.

Reeves was as tough with his bat as he was with his strong left arm in Northeast's morning win over Northwestern. The Monroe southpaw, making his first start of the season, struck out four and batted in three runs with a sacrifice fly and a single.

Pruett, a deliberate righthander, didn't allow a hit after the first three innings against Northwestern. He didn't strike out a man and walked four but allowed more than one man on the basepaths only once.

State can clinch at least a tie for the tournament title by defeating Northeast this morning on the college diamond. LSU will play Northwestern at Legion Stadium in the other morning game.

Both afternoon games will be played at the Northeast field this afternoon with Northeast to meet Northwestern at 1:30 and State to take on LSU immediately afterward. Both afternoon games, as well as the morning affairs, will be seven innings.

LSU 10, MISS. STATE 0

While Butch Miron, righthanded sophomore, was handcuffing Mississippi State with a two-hitter, his LSU mates used a six-run fourth inning to shell the Maroon righthander, Bill Schoenrock, and coasted to victory in their morning clash.

Fielding errors contributed heavily to the fourth inning scoring, with only the first of the six tallies falling into the earned class.

Three errors mixed with a double and a single by Carey Guglielmo, a double by Ronnie Naff, singles by Bob Loftin and Andy Bourgeois, and a base on balls to Denny Hill figured in LSU's big inning.

The Tigers had scored first in the second inning on singles by Bourgeois and Naff, and Guglielmo's sacrifice, and once in the third on singles by Purvis and Bill Loftin, with Johnston getting on base in between when he was hit by a pitched ball.

Naff scored once for LSU in the sixth when he walked and advanced on wild pitches, and Johnston tallied No. 10 in the seventh when he walked, stole second, and advanced on an error and a wild pitch.

Schoenrock was followed by Roger Thomas and Bill May on the mound, and the reliefers pitched hitless ball in the three innings they worked. LSU punched out nine hits, two each by Bourgeois, Naff, and Guglielmo.

Mixon had a no-hitter until Larry Gore tagged him for a single in the sixth. Ben Glover got the other Maroon hit of Mixon in the seventh.

NORTHEAST 6, NSC 1

Northeast lefthander Terry Reeves struck out brother Larry Reeves to start the game and that set the pace.

The Demons did manage to nick the Monroe hurler for an unearned run in the first frame but they never came close again until the ninth.

By then, Northeast enjoyed a 6-1 lead and had the game under control. With two out, Charley Hines singled and Billy Ray Harper walked. Reeves, however, ended it as he had started it — with a strikeout, fanning pinch-batter Sidney Sanders on a 2-2 pitch.

Northwestern scored in the first when Ralph Conrad reached first on an error, went to third on Billy Jack Booth's single and came home on another error.

Northeast tied it up in the third when Ike McMullen singled and moved all the way around on an infield out and two passed balls. George Luffey's Tribe went ahead in the fourth on an error, Freddy Peters' single and Red Rushing's sacrifice fly.

Reeves knocked in his first run in the sixth. Peters singled, went to second on an overthrow of first and stole third standing up. Reeves then flied to left to plate Northeast's third run.

Reeves drove in two more and John O'Conner one in the three-run seventh. Gary Huckabay started the parade by singling and advancing to second on an error. O'Conner doubled Huckabay home and starter Frankie Jones departed in favor of Ruston's Eddie Hood.

Hood fanned George Bryan but hit Petras. Peters grounded out to advance both runners before Reeves singled to score the last two runs.

LSU 6, NORTHEAST 1

Righthander Bob Flowers spun a neat two-hitter and Andy Bourgeois drove in four runs with a home run and two singles as LSU tumbled Northeast in an afternoon game, 6-1.

Flowers set the Indians down without a hit until first baseman George Bryan broke the skein with a solid single to center in the sixth inning. Gary Huckabay collected the only other Northeast hit to lead off the last frame.

Bourgeois lofted a high popup in the third inning which fell between third base and shortstop to drive in two runs. In the fifth he clouted a 320-foot homer with the bases empty and brought home Bob Loftin with a single in the seventh.

Darryl Boothe, freshman hurler from Harrisonburg, went the distance for the host Indians and was charged with the loss.

Flowers, making his first start of the year, struck out 9, while walking three. Boothe whiffed four and gave up two free passes.

MISS. STATE 9, N'WESTERN 0

Pruett was staked to a four-run lead in the first nining and Northwestern was out of the ball game.

Craig walked to start it off and Gore doubled him to third. Turner walked and Boring singled, scoring Craig. Bailey grounded to thrid and Turner was forced at home.

Gary Dempsey fanned for the second out but, with the bases loaded, James Goodwin doubled to center, sending across three runs.

The Maroons scored again in the fourth on Hair's single, Pruett's sacrifice, Craig's walk and one baggers by Gore and Turner.

State picked up three in the sixth against Jones. Craig singled with one gone, Gore walked and Turner sent them both home with a double. Turner went to third on an error and then came home on a wild pitch with the final run of the game.

Pruett gave up a single to Booth in the first, one to Knotts in the second and the last one to Conrad in the third. After that, he was untouchable.

Billy O'Dell Ailing With Back Injury

BALTIMORE (AP) — Oriole pitcher Billy O'Dell is suffering from what a team of three doctors described Friday as a "low back muscle spasm."

The hurler made a special trip by plane from the Baltimore Orioles training camp in Miami, Fla. to try to find out what is causing his back misery.

The ace Bird pitcher complained this morning of his back. Trainer Eddie Weidner had to give him some sedatives to ease the pain before the northbound flight.

O'Dell went to Union Memorial Hospital where he underwent a series of X-rays under the supervision of Dr. Erwin Mayer, club physician. Two other doctors, Edmund McDonald and James G. Arnold, were called in for the diagnosis.

Alabama Beats Greenies, 8-0

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP)—Alabama opened its Southeastern Conference baseball season Friday with an 8-0 victory over Tulane behind the slugging of Ken Chapman and Tony Proctor.

Chapman led the nine-hit Alabama attack with two singles, a home run and drove in four runs. Proctor drove home two with a single and a triple in four times at bat.

Milwaukee Puts Six Youngsters On Farm Rolls

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The Milwaukee Braves Friday sent six young players to their minor league clubs, cutting the roster of the parent club to 34.

Outfielder Lee Maye and pitchers Don Nottebart and Dale Hendrickson were sent to Louisville of the American Assn. and pitcher Winston Brown to Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League. Catcher Merritt Ranew and shortstop Mickey Sinnerud were ordered to report to the Braves' minor league camp at Waycross, Ga., for assignment.

Stan Drobac, Michigan State's tennis coach, was the Big Ten's singles champion as an undergraduate in 1953.

Notre Dame will begin preparations for its 71st football season on April 11. Joe Kuharich, recenty-appointed head coach, has set that date for the beginning of spring practice.

LSU's Essig Tops Cupit In Sudden Death

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Don Essig of LSU took a sudden death playoff with Jacky Cupit of Houston Friday to win the individual medal title, and defending champion Houston refrained the team championship of the Southwestern Intercollegiate Golf Tournament.

A 10-foot birdie putt on the first extra hole enabled Essig to turn back Cupit, the 1958 winner. They had finished the regulation 72 holes in a deadlock at 294, 6-over-par for the 6,801-yard Pine Forest Country Club course.

Essig and teammate Sam Carmichale also won the low two-ball title with a 275.

Houston also defeated Oklahoma State, 5½ to ½ for the team match championship and retained the low four-ball trophy with a 261.

Houston, NCAA champions the past three years, trailed Oklahoma State by seven strokes in the team medal after the morning third round. With Cupit and Bob Pratt leading the way, the afternoon Cougar comeback produced a 290 and 72-hole 1,215 while Oklahoma State was settling for a 307 and a final 1,225.

LSU was third, followed by Texas Christian, Arizona State, North Texas State, New Mexico, Texas A&M, Texas Tech, Texas, Baylor, Southern Methodist, Memphis State, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Rice.

Houston also claimed the overall team championship with 71 points, followed by LSU, Oklahoma State, TCU, Arizona State, North Texas and New Mexico.

Davis Ends College Track Career Today

BIG SPRING, Tex. (AP)—Ohio State has the great Glenn Davis for the last time Saturday as it goes after its second track victory in a week of Texas campaigning.

The Buckeyes, winners of the West Texas Relays at Odessa, will be after the title in the American Business Club Relays. And Davis, world's record-holder in the 440-yard dash and 400-meter champion of the Olympic Games, will be winding up his college athletic eligibility.

Opposing Ohio State will be Abilene Christian, East Texas State, Texas Tech, Houston, Baylor, Southern Methodist, Texas A&M and North Texas State.

Leading an expected record barrage are sprinters Sidney Garton of East Texas State and Bill Woodhouse of Abilene Christian, broad jumpers Lee Williams of Ohio State and James Baird of East Texas State, two-miler Jan Ahlberg of Southern Methodist, high jumper Don Stewart of Southern Methodist and Abilene Christian and Ohio State relay teams.

The Davis-sparked Ohio State sprint medley and 880-yard relay teams are expected to hang up new marks and Abilene Christian is looked upon as the potential 440-yard relay record setter.

The individual feature race is the 100-yard dash matching Woodhouse, who has run it 9.3 and 9.4 this season, and Garton, the East Texas State freshman, who has a 9.4 to his credit.

Laurel Race Course's new spring stake, the $25,000 Wilwyn Handicap, is named for the English winner of the first Laurel International in 1952.

BIGGEST FIELD

Arkansas Derby Gets 16 Horses

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The largest field in the 23 year history of the Arkansas Derby seemed assured Friday when 16 three-year-olds were entered for the $20,000 added event which will close Oaklawn Park's meeting Saturday.

Heading the field and in the number one post position is Greentree Stable's favored Sputnik, beaten only a nose by Master Palynch in the $40,000 added Louisiana Derby March 7. He will share equal top weight of 116 pounds in the mile and a furlong Derby with Dhaulagiri, Mail Order, Soda Card, Friendly Jester and Am Away. Carrying 113 pounds under allowance conditions of the race will be Another Sin, Bernmattar and Know It.

Assigned 110 pounds are Kintaro, Lucky Page, Sir Tom, Al Davelle, That Black One and Steno Bill. Dahela, only filly entered, is the lightweight of the field with 105 pounds.

Although finishing fifth behind Dhaulagiri, That Black One, Sir Tom and Am Away in his only previous effort at Oaklawn, Sputnik is expected to rule a 5-2 favorite if the track is fast. Dhaulagiri beat him two lengths in the mud over a mile and 70-yard distance but finished fifth when Sputnik was runner-up in the Louisiana Derby which was run over a fast track at a mile and a furlong, the longer distance.

Sputnik will be ridden by Johnny Ruane.

Detroit To Try Doby In Lineup For Game Today

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Larry Doby is scheduled to make his first appearance in the Detroit line-up when the Tigers meet the St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg Saturday.

"And I'll be ready for it," said the former Cleveland outfielder who came to the Tigers Saturday in a trade for Tito Francona. "I didn't come here to sit on the bench."

Bill Norman, Tiger manager, said Doby would start in left field against the Cardinals and probably bat sixth.

The Tigers had an open date in the exhibition schedule Friday.

Bully Celtics With Threats Of $500 Fine

BOSTON (AP) — Fiery Coach Red Auerbach threatened a $500 fine to any member of the Boston Celtics squad who didn't get into the spirit of a gruelling workout Friday on the eve of their televised National Basketball Assn. playoff game with Syracuse.

Auerbach has been doing a slow burn over his club's 119-107 loss at Syracuse Wednesday night which tied the best-of-7 Eastern Division final series 2-2.

As one observer put it, the Celts simply played "lousy basketball."

"I'm not fooling," Auerbach barked as the workout began, "and it will cost any of you $500 to find out if you don't believe me."

There has been much talk locally about the mental block the Boston team has about playing in Syracuse with its wild-eyed fans. But the only blocks Auerbach is interested in are those that will keep Syracuse top scorers Dolph Schayes and George Yardley away from the basket and away from the rebounds.

Syracuse also arrived Friday and went through a drill.

What first looked like a Boston breeze has become a "homer" series.

The Celtics who set an NBA record for most victories in a season, and described by Auerbach as the greatest club he's ever known have won twice at Boston Garden by 22 points. At Syracuse, however, they've been stricely sub-par.

If the Nats can edge Boston Saturday the Celts will be in serious trouble. The TV contest starts at 3 p.m., EST, NBC.

20 Yards More For Golf Balls

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Three manufacturers say they're ready to market golf balls which will add up to 20 yards on a drive. That's great, but don't go getting excited, duffers.

They may be against the law—golf law, that is.

The U. S. Golf Assn., which keeps an eagle eye on such things is not ready to yield to jet propulsion tendencies in this missile age—even relating to golf shots.

"We can't permit the game to get distorted," said Joe Dey Jr., executive director of the USGA, Friday. "Naturally, we are concerned about these reports of super-lively golf balls. We have rules to keep these things in proper balance."

Dey pointed out that if people started hitting golf balls farther, courses would have to be bigger. This calls for more real estate. More real estate calls for more taxes and more expense. Ad infinitum.

"Our rules cover the weight, diameter and velocity of the golf ball," Dey added. "We carry on rigid tests constantly. We permit no violations."

One company is prepared to sell a new liquid center ball which it claims will travel up to 20 yards farther. Another has a plastic center pellet which is supposed to add 15 yards to a drive. A third company has a ball which is supposed to outfly any of them.

Golf rules state that the American ball must be not less than 1.680 inches in diameter. Not more than 1.620 ounces in weight and must meet certain velocity tests.

The velocity tests are carried out by a big contraption which occupies half the basement of the Golf House Museum in midtown New York.

The machine has a wheel which gives the ball a Snead-like wallop, drives it through a 20-foot tube, past electronic devices into a giant screen. The electric eyes record the velocity of the ball.

The rules state that a ball, so hit, should not travel more than 250 feet per second—or the equivalent of about a 240-yard drive, the distance most pros hit the ball. If the ball goes faster than that, then it's banned.

Gomes Beats Jorgensen In Feather Scrap

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Harold Gomes tagged Paul (Sonny) Jorgenson with an amazing succession of right-hand "sucker" leads Friday night to score a unanimous decision over the world's second-ranked featherweight contender in their nationally-televised 10-round bout.

Gomes, weighing 130 pounds to his opponent's 132½, carried the fight in almost every round and forced the taller, fancier-boxing Jorgensen to switch his strategy in the middle rounds. By that time Gomes had piled up an early lead and they battled at least on even terms in the close in-fighting of the late rounds.

Referee Billy Regan gave Gomes the fight, 96-95, Judge Carl Gardner scored it 98-95 for the Providence, R.I., boy and Judge Fred Aaronson had it 97-95. The United Press International favored Gomes, 97-95.

The victory, Gomes' 17th in his last 18 bouts, undoubtedly put him in a position to challenge for the world featherweight title. For Jorgensen, a slick boxer from Port Arthur, Tex., it was a sixth defeat in 85 professional fights.

The loss also snapped Jorgenson's string of 31 consecutive bouts without a defeat.

There were no knockdowns and the only blood which showed poured from Jorgenson's nose in the ninth round after they came out of a right-left-right flurry on the ropes.

Gomes, the aggressor from the start, won the early rounds with a two-handed attack that piled up points against an opponent who was content to backtrack and spear away with his long left.

Gomes attacked from a low crouch from the start, firing lefts and rights from off his hips and forcing Jorgenson to give ground. As Jorgenson stepped forward, Gomes would straighten up and fire away with a right hand lead.

Jorgenson switched his fancy-dan tactics in the fifth round and scored some points in the middle rounds but Gomes, fighting hardest after he was hit the hardest, fought inside and pounded away at his taller opponent on those occasions.

A sharp right bloodied Jorgenson's nose slightly in the eighth round and Gomes had it bleeding freely in the ninth when the two battled away toe-to-toe for perhaps the best exchange of the bout.

Nats Dispose Of Talent Up From Lookouts

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—The Washington Senators Friday sold outfielder Len Tucker and optioned pitcher Ted Abernathy to Miami of the International League.

Tucker was the property of Chattanooga of the Southern Assn. Chattanooga is owned by the Senators. Last season with Poza Rica of the Mexican League, the 29-year-old Tucker batted .328 with 21 homers and 29 stolen bases.

Abernathy, a right-hander submariner won nine and lost nine with Chattanooga last year.

The Senators held a light workout Friday. Manager Cookie Lavagetto nominated Hal Griggs and John Romonosky to pitch against the Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday afternoon.

Vertex Tops Field In Rich Campbell Chase At Bowie

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The older horses will do battle at Bowie in the $100,000-added John B. Campbell Handicap Saturday, with Vertex the favorite to grab his second $100,000 race in eight days.

Three other thoroughbred features on the day's program will be for 3-year-olds, many of them nominated for the May 2 Kentucky Derby.

The Brookfield Farm's Intentionally, only colt to beat First Landing as a 2-year-old in 1958, makes his seasonal bow in the $25,000-added Swift Stakes at Jamaica. Nine were entered for this 6-furlong dash.

Eleven sophomores were entered for the $15,000 Yerba Buena Handicap at Tanforan, including five Derby eligibles. Royal Orbit, the probable favorite, finished second to Silver Spoon in the Santa Anita Derby. This is a mile and one sixteenth race.

At Oaklawn Park 16 were named for the $20,000 Arkansas Derby, with the Greentree Stable's Sputnik the probable choice. This is the largest field in the 23-year history of the mile and one eighth race. Sputnik is one of nine Kentucky Derby nominees in the Hot Springs classic.

Elsewhere, nine grass specialists were entered for the $25,000-added Donn Handicap at Gulfstream Park, while 11 were entered for the $10,000 Newport Handicap at Lincoln Downs.

Vertex, owned by J. J. Brunetti and F. A. Piarulli, won the $121,800 Gulfstream Park Handicap last Saturday, then was flown to Bowie for Maryland's richest handicap. Vertex, the 8-5 favorite, will be ridden by Sammy Boulmetis and carries top weight of 124 pounds.

The Brookmeade Stable's Oligarchy is the 4-1 second choice and carries 117 pounds. Also well liked is the W. Hal Bishop entry of Hare Raising, 116, and Pete's Folly, 113. Hare Raising won the Bowie Handicap.

If all start in the Campbell, to be broadcast by NBC at about 4;40 p.m., EST, the purse will gross $117,150, the winner netting $73,147.50.

Intentionally upset First Alanding in the Belmont Futurity last fall, but hasn't raced this season. Willie Shoemaker rides the colt, a top Derby prospect. His main rival appeared to be the Elkcam Stable's Atoll, who cost the Florida outfit $100,000 in mid-January. Eddie Arcaro will be aboard Atoll.

A third stakes winner of 1958 is Reginald N. Webster's Royal Anthem, the New Jersey juvenile champion. Atoll and Royal Anthem also will be making their 1959 debut.

The Swift will be televised by CBS from 4-4:30 p.m., Est, and radio broadcast by NBC. Post time is 4:20 p.m.

Royal Orbit and the powerful Neil S. McCarthy entry of Ole Fols and Finnegan pack top weight of 124 pounds in the Yerba Buena. This is their final race before the $35,000 California Derby April 18 — a race which may determine if a trip to Kentucky in May is necessary.

Other Derby colts nominated were Monk's Hood and Navy King. Ralph Neves rides Royal Orbit, with Johnny Longden on Finnegan and Donald Pierce aboard Ole Fols.

The Brae Burn Farm's General Arthur has top weight of 126 pounds for the Donn Handicap, a mile and one half affair. The Cain Hoy Stable's One-Eyed King has 116, while the Hasty House Farm made the triple entry of Mahan, 115, Ekaba, 117, and Aysha, 110.

Pete Fuller's Prophetic tops the mile and one sixteenth Newport with 119 pounds, and runs with a stablemate, Goulash, 116. Gerald Colella's Admirals Joy drew 115.

PHILS—REDS

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds overpowered the Philadelphia Phillies 12-1 Friday for their third straight exhibition baseball victory.

The Reds solved Ruben Gomez and Ray Semproch for 15 hits, including four homers—two by veteran Del Ennis. Bob Purkey scattered five hits in becoming the third straight Cincinnati pitcher to go the distance.

Roy McMillan knocked in three runs with a homer and a pair of singles. Johnny Powers also chipped in with a two-run homer and a double to drive in three runs.

Cincinnati, in winning, boosted its Grapefruit League record to 8-10.

The Phillies picked up their run in the opening inning on a pair of passes, an infield out and Harry Anderson's sacrifice fly.

Big innings featured the Reds' attack. They waded into Gomez for four runs in the second and clubbed Semproch for four more in the eighth.

A's—YANKS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Whitey Herzog drilled four hits Friday to lead the Kansas City Athletics to a 5-2 victory over the New York Yankees.

Left-hander Bud Daley puzzled the Yanks with his slow stuff for seven innings, limiting them to seven hits. Ken Hunt, rookie outfielder, homered in the first inning and the other New York run came on singles by Bobby Richardson, Bill Skowron and Gordon Windhorn in the seventh.

Johnny Kucks pitched seven innings for the Yankees and was touched for 10 hits and all the Kansas City runs. Rookie Jim Bronstad finished up.

The A's clubbed Kucks for three runs in the third on Herzog's double and singles by Wayne Terwilliger, Roger Maris and Dick Williams.

PIRATES—CARDINALS

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates capitalized on a couple of slips by St. Louis Cardinal rookies Friday and scored a tie-breaking run for a 4-3 victory in an exhibition game.

The game was tied 3-3 with two outs in the eighth inning when Roman Mejias doubled for the Pirates. Card pitcher Howard Nunn uncorked a wild pitch and Mejias moved to third. Bill Mazeroski grounded to shortstop Julio Gotay, but Gotay threw low to first baseman George Crowe and Mejias scored with the winning run.

The Pirates combed Card starter Lindy McDaniel for three runs in the first three innings. Bob Skinner doubled home one run in the first, and the Pirates got two more in the third when Dick Schofield doubled, Roberto Clemente walked and Ted Kluzewski singled. The Cardinals second baseman, Lee Tate, helped by failing to touch the bag on a force play.

The Cards got all their runs off Ben Daniels in the sixth. Crowe doubled and Bobby Gene Smith and Solly Hemus singled for St. Louis in that frame.

Coffin Beats Diddel; Sikes Defeats Ross

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—Bruce Coffin of Marblehead, Mass., 56-year-old "rookie" of the American Seniors Golf Assn. tournament for amateurs age 55 and over, defeated William Diddel 1 up on the 21st hole of their semifinal match scheduled for 18.

Diddel, 75-year-old from Indianapolis, had whipped three opponents, using his accuracy around the greens to cut down to size his much bigger and younger foes.

But Coffin won when Diddel's tee shots strayed. He had a bad drive on No. 18 and enabled Coffin to square the match. On the third extra hole, Diddel hooked his drive, hit an approach shot 12 feet past the cup and missed the putt. Coffin won the hole with a par.

Leon Sikes of West Palm Beach, winner of the tourney two years ago, swept into the final with Coffin. Sikes beat Frank Ross of Hartford. Conn., 2 and 1.

Sikes stuck close to par. He was 2 up after nine holes, won the 15th with a birdie to increase his edge and although he lost the 16th, he closed it out when they halved the 17th.

Coffin and Sikes will play 18 holes Saturday for the championship.

Redskin Stars Are Free With Backslapping

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians' two brightest stars and, incidentally, roommates, are predicting banner seasons for each other.

Says pitcher Herb Score of slugger Rocky Colavito:

"Rocky will be better than he was last year in every way. I think he will hit more than 40 homers, bat between .300 and .310 and drive in over 115 runs."

Says outfielder Colavito of southpaw Score:

"Herb will win between 20 and 25 games. I have the feeling he's going to have an injury - free season. He's due. He's had his share of bad luck."

Starts TV Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Ted Atkinson, who retired as a jockey Jan. 16 because of a back ailment, will begin a TV career Saturday.

He will give a pre-race analysis of the Swift Stakes (CBS, 4-4:30 p.m.) and then after the running a tape recording is to be repeated with Atkinson offering a post-race commentary.

Meyer Given Fresh 3-Year DePaul Pact

CHICAGO (AP)—Ray Meyer, DePaul University's head basketball coach for 17 years, Friday signed a new 3-year contract at the school and thus bowed out as a ranking prospect for the same job at the University of Wisconsin.

Meyer recently was interviewed for the Badger post, vacated by the resignation of Bud Foster.

Father Gerald Mullen, chairman of DePaul's Athletic Board, announced the signing of Meyer, who has compiled a record of 270 victories and 146 defeats.

This year, DePaul had a 13-11 record, but played in the NCAA basketball tournament. The Demons defeated Portland, but lost to Kansas State.

On March 18, Meyer disclosed he had conferred with Wisconsin Athletic Director Ivy Williamson concerning the Badger job. Meyer said at that time he would not make a decision until he had talked with officials at both Wisconsin and DePaul.

ALL-AMERICA TALENT

East Favored In Shrine Cage Tilt

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The All-America loaded East team reigns as favorite to outshoot the West in the Ararat Shrine Temple's eighth annual all-star basketball game here Saturday night.

Even Adolph Rupp of Kentucky, who coached the losing East team in 1954, admits this time his club should do pretty well.

"But don't get too excited about our chances just because we have wonderful personnel," Rupp confided. "That West team has great ability and a height advantage. I don't see how we can get too many of the rebounds."

By "wonderful personnel" Rupp referred to All-Americas Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, Johnny Cox of Kentucky and Jerry West of West Virginia, plus seven others who received nothing less than all-star honors in their own major conference.

The West, which has won five of the seven previous games played for aid of the Shriners' Hospitals for Crippled Children, is coached by Dick Harp of Kansas.

"I'm really going to enjoy watching that East team play," Harp said. "Sure we have an All-America in Bob Boozer (Kansas State) and we have plenty of height, but who ever heard of a team that included fellows like Robertson, West and Cox. They shouldn't need any rebounds."

Both coaches say they intend to use two units playing equal time—at least until the closing minutes.

Rupp said his starters will include Robertson, who led the nation in scoring with a 33.2 average; Cox and John Green, Michigan State; Bob Smith, West Virginia, and Lou Pucillo, North Carolina State.

Harp said Boozer, who packed a 25.7 season scoring average, would work with Ronnie Loneski, Kansas; Bob Ferry, St. Louis; Don Matuszak, Kansas State, and Roger Wendel, Tulsa.

West will play with the East's alternate unit. His teammates will be Mike Mendenhall, Cincinnati; Don Hennon, Pittsburgh; Joe Billy McDade, Bradley, and Dave Gunther, Iowa.

The East will have six players available for its second unit. They are Arlen Clark, Oklahoma State; Doug Smart, Washington; Lee Harman, Oregon State, and Bob Tealer, Drake.

Ewing, Myers Win Municipal Pro-Am Meet

Robert Ewing III shared in first and second place honors and Johnny Myers won the pro sweepstakes yesterday afternoon in the biggest Canadian Handicap Pro-Am tourney ever held at the Municipal Course.

Ewing teamed with professional Bobby Ledbetter to take first place with a low of 61 and combined with Leonard Warren of Bastrop for second place with a 62.

Jackie Doss, Monroe pro, and Roy Nash tied with Ledbetter and Joe Thomas of Monroe for third spot with 63s.

Myers, a Bastrop pro, fired a par 72 to win the sweepstakes over six over professionals.

Approximately 90 amateurs competed in the pro-am meet.

Red Hose Have Little Hope Of Swinging Deal

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Manager Al Lopez, desperately searching for more power, capitalized on an open date to send his White Sox through a batting session Friday.

"It doesn't look like we'll be able to get any help in the way of a deal so we'll just have to try to improve what we have," said Lopez.

The White Sox, who resume their exhibition wars against the Milwaukee Braves at Bradenton Saturday, have hit only three homers this spring.

Turk Lown, Don Rudolph and Bob Shaw will divide the pitching against the Braves.

NATS HAVE PROBLEMS

Senators Will Be Happy With A 70-Game Winner

By JACK HAND

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—A goal of 70 victories seems modest enough for a big league manager in the springtime. But this is Washington, a club that hasn't won 70 since 1953.

Cookie Lavagetto, a man not given to undue optimism, reasons like this:

"We beat the Yankees 10 times last year. If we can do that, we ought to be able to beat the others 10 times. That adds up to 70."

Lavagetto is a man beset with problems. To name a few, he needs a shortstop, center fielder and more pitching. And, of course, more hitting. Unfortunately the only things he has that anybody wants are three pitchers and Roy Sievers, his home run hitting outfielder.

Calvin Griffith, the club president, has been talking trade with New York. Something may come of that with young talent heading to the Senators for one of their established pitchers—Camilo Pascual, Pedro Ramos or Dick Hyde.

An off-season trade that sent shortstop Rocky Bridges and third baseman Eddie Yost to Detroit brought infielders Reno Bertoia and Ron Samford and outfielder Jim Delsing to the club. Bertoia probably will wind up at third but Delsing doesn't figure. Samford was to have been the shortstop but he has a sore shoulder and can't throw. He was sent back to Washington for a medical exam.

Trying to set a line-up is ridiculous at this stage. The best would be a guess because Cookie will shuffle his roster depending upon developments and possible trades.

Norm Zauchin (.228) can be the first baseman with Herbie Plews (.258) at second, Jose Valdivielso (.308 at Phoenix, .222 at Minneapolis) at short and Bertoia (.233 at Detroit) or Harmon Killebrew (.308) at Chattanooga) at third. However, Sievers (.295 with 39 homers and 108 RBI) could come in from the outfield to play first and Ken Aspromonte (.219) might fit in at second or third.

Because Albie Pearson (.275), the 1958 rookie of the year, has been out of action with a pulled groin muscle, the outfield is unsettled. Cookie would like to move Pearson from center to right if Bob Allison (.307 at Chattanooga) or Dan Dobbek (just out of the Army) can make it in center. Jim Lemon (.246) recovering from a knee operation, could go to left if Sievers is moved. Allison has impressed Lavagetto. Dobbek, a .340 hitter is Class B in 1956, isn't even on the roster.

The catching is the strongest part of the club. Clint Courtney (.251) the No. 1 man is out with a broken leg so Ed Fitzgerald (.263) and J. W. Porter (.200 at Cleveland) probably will share the work for a time.

For pitching the Senators lean heavily on "the two Cubans."—That means Ramos (14-18), a rubber-armed 23-year-old right-hander and Pascual (8-12), of whom Lavagetto expects a great season. These two and relief ace Hyde (10-3) are the backbone of the staff.

Vito Valentinetti (5-6), bothered by tendon trouble, Russ Kemmerer (6-15), Bill Fischer (4-10 with Chicago, Detroit and Washington) and Chuck Stobbs (3-9 with St. Louis and Washington) are the other starting possibilities. If Jack Kralick (1-1 with Davenport in Class B) can help Hyde in the bullpen, Ted Clevenger (9-9) has a chance for an occasional start.

In the spring, Washington usually appears to have good pitching because Lavagetto gets plenty of mileage out of Ramos and Pascual with rainouts and no double-headers. When the games start piling up in August, he is scraping the bottom of the barrel. That is one reason the Senators lost 13 straight at the end of last season, finishing last, 31 lengths back.

SWIM QUALIFYING

Records Given Sound Beating

By MURRAY ROSE

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — One American, two college and three meet records were smashed Friday in qualifying races of the NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships.

Mighty Michigan didn't have much to do with the record busting but like a huge wave poured 17 men into Friday night's eight finals. The three-day meet winds up Saturday with qualifying and finals in seven more events.

Michigan is going for its third straight team title. There's no question the Wolverines will make it. The only thing in doubt is by how much. Ohio State was second in qualifying but the Buckeyes only sent six men into the finals.

American, NCAA and meet records in the 100-yard breaststroke were bettered by defending champion Frank Modine of Michigan State and Gordon Collet of Oklahoma with identical times of 1 minute, 4 seconds.

Fred Westphal of Wisconsin cracked the collegiate and meet marks with a 21.9 clocking in the 50-yard freestyle sprint. Olympian George Harrison of Stanford was one of three to beat the meet standard in the 200-yard individual medley. Harrison's time was 2:08.2.

Modine and Collet shattered the American mark of 1:04.2 set by Cuban Manuel Sanguily in the AAU Championships at New Haven last April and the NCAA and meet standards of 1:05 established by Modine last year.

The latter marks also were beaten by Ron Clark, Michigan's 18-year-old sophomore who was clocked in 1:04.8. Cy Hopkins, Michigan captain, was caught in 2:05.

Hopkins also was one of the three to crack the meet mark of 2:09.6, set by defending champion Joe Hunsaker of Illinois last year. Michigan's Tony Tashnick, defending champion in the 100 and 200 butterfly events, was the other. Tony's time was 2:08.9.

Tashnick, bidding for a triple, led the 200-yard butterfly qualifiers with 2:04.3, one-tenth off his own NCAA record.

Westphal, a 21-year-old senior and father, clipped a tenth of a second off the collegiate mark of 22 seconds racked up by Stanford's Robin Moore in 1956 and two-tenths off the meet record held by Moore and two others.

Patty Advances To Semi-Finals At Monte Carlo

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Budge Patty of Los Angeles advanced to the semifinals of the Monte Carlo International Tennis Tournament. He defeated Istvan Gulyas of Hungary 5-7, 6-2, 6-4.

Yola Ramirez of Mexico defeated Karol Fageros of Miami, Fla., 6-0, 7-5 in a women's singles quarter-finals match.

Vertex Tops Field In Rich Campbell Chase At Bowie

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The older horses will do battle at Bowie in the $100,000-added John B. Campbell Handicap Saturday, with Vertex the favorite to grab his second $100,000 race in eight days.

Three other thoroughbred features on the day's program will be for 3-year-olds, many of them nominated for the May 2 Kentucky Derby.

The Brookfield Farm's Intentionally, only colt to beat First Landing as a 2-year-old in 1958, makes his seasonal bow in the $25,000-added Swift Stakes at Jamaica. Nine were entered for this 6-furlong dash.

Eleven sophomores were entered for the $15,000 Yerba Buena Handicap at Tanforan, including five Derby eligibles. Royal Orbit, the probable favorite, finished second to Silver Spoon in the Santa Anita Derby. This is a mile and one sixteenth race.

At Oaklawn Park 16 were named for the $20,000 Arkansas Derby, with the Greentree Stable's Sputnik the probable choice. This is the largest field in the 23-year history of the mile and one eighth race. Sputnik is one of nine Kentucky Derby nominees in the Hot Springs classic.

Elsewhere, nine grass specialists were entered for the $25,000-added Donn Handicap at Gulfstream Park, while 11 were entered for the $10,000 Newport Handicap at Lincoln Downs.

Vertex, owned by J. J. Brunetti and F. A. Piarulli, won the $121,800 Gulfstream Park Handicap last Saturday, then was flown to Bowie for Maryland's richest handicap. Vertex, the 8-5 favorite, will be ridden by Sammy Boulmetis and carries top weight of 124 pounds.

The Brookmeade Stable's Oligarchy is the 4-1 second choice and carries 117 pounds. Also well liked is the W. Hal Bishop entry of Hare Raising, 116, and Pete's Folly, 113. Hare Raising won the Bowie Handicap.

If all start in the Campbell, to be broadcast by NBC at about 4;40 p.m., EST, the purse will gross $117,150, the winner netting $73,147.50.

Intentionally upset First Alanding in the Belmont Futurity last fall, but hasn't raced this season. Willie Shoemaker rides the colt, a top Derby prospect. His main rival appeared to be the Elkcam Stable's Atoll, who cost the Florida outfit $100,000 in mid-January. Eddie Arcaro will be aboard Atoll.

A third stakes winner of 1958 is Reginald N. Webster's Royal Anthem, the New Jersey juvenile champion. Atoll and Royal Anthem also will be making their 1959 debut.

The Swift will be televised by CBS from 4-4:30 p.m., Est, and radio broadcast by NBC. Post time is 4:20 p.m.

Royal Orbit and the powerful Neil S. McCarthy entry of Ole Fols and Finnegan pack top weight of 124 pounds in the Yerba Buena. This is their final race before the $35,000 California Derby April 18 — a race which may determine if a trip to Kentucky in May is necessary.

Other Derby colts nominated were Monk's Hood and Navy King. Ralph Neves rides Royal Orbit, with Johnny Longden on Finnegan and Donald Pierce aboard Ole Fois.

The Brae Burn Farm's General Arthur has top weight of 126 pounds for the Donn Handicap, a mile and one half affair. The Cain Hoy Stable's One-Eyed King has 116, while the Hasty House Farm made the triple entry of Mahan, 115, Ekaba, 117, and Aysha, 110.

Pete Fuller's Prophetic tops the mile and one sixteenth Newport with 119 pounds, and runs with a stablemate, Goulash, 116. Gerald Colella's Admirals Joy drew 115.

PHILS—REDS

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds overpowered the Philadelphia Phillies 12-1 Friday for their third straight exhibition baseball victory.

The Reds solved Ruben Gomez and Ray Semproch for 15 hits, including four homers—two by veteran Del Ennis. Bob Purkey scattered five hits in becoming the third straight Cincinnati pitcher to go the distance.

Roy McMillan knocked in three runs with a homer and a pair of singles. Johnny Powers also chipped in with a two-run homer and a double to drive in three runs.

Cincinnati, in winning, boosted its Grapefruit League record to 8-10.

The Phillies picked up their run in the opening inning on a pair of passes, an infield out and Harry Anderson's sacrifice fly.

Big innings featured the Reds' attack. They waded into Gomez for four runs in the second and clubbed Semproch for four more in the eighth.

A's—YANKS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Whitey Herzog drilled four hits Friday to lead the Kansas City Athletics to a 5-2 victory over the New York Yankees.

Left-hander Bud Daley puzzled the Yanks with his slow stuff for seven innings, limiting them to seven hits. Ken Hunt, rookie outfielder, homered in the first inning and the other New York run came on singles by Bobby Richardson, Bill Skowron and Gordon Windhorn in the seventh.

Johnny Kucks pitched seven innings for the Yankees and was touched for 10 hits and all the Kansas City runs. Rookie Jim Bronstad finished up.

The A's clubbed Kucks for three runs in the third on Herzog's double and singles by Wayne Terwilliger, Roger Maris and Dick Williams.

PIRATES—CARDINALS

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates capitalized on a couple of slips by St. Louis Cardinal rookies Friday and scored a tie-breaking run for a 4-3 victory in an exhibition game.

The game was tied 3-3 with two outs in the eighth inning when Roman Mejias doubled for the Pirates. Card pitcher Howard Nunn uncorked a wild pitch and Mejias moved to third. Bill Mazeroski grounded to shortstop Julio Gotay, but Gotay threw low to first baseman George Crowe and Mejias scored with the winning run.

The Pirates combed Card starter Lindy McDaniel for three runs in the first three innings. Bob Skinner doubled home one run in the first, and the Pirates got two more in the third when Dick Schofield doubled, Roberto Clemente walked and Ted Kluzewski singled. The Cardinals second baseman, Lee Tate, helped by failing to touch the bag on a force play.

The Cards got all their runs off Ben Daniels in the sixth. Crowe doubled and Bobby Gene Smith and Solly Hemus singled for St. Louis in that frame.

Redskin Stars Are Free With Backslapping

Says pitcher Herb Score of slugger Rocky Colavito:

"Rocky will be better than he was last year in every way. I think he will hit more than 40 homers, bat between .300 and .310 and drive in over 115 runs."

Says outfielder Colavito of southpaw Score:

"Herb will win between 20 and 25 games. I have the feeling he's going to have an injury - free season. He's due. He's had his share of bad luck."

Starts TV Show

NEW YORK (AP)—Ted Atkinson, who retired as a jockey Jan. 16 because of a back ailment, will begin a TV career Saturday.

He will give a pre-race analysis of the Swift Stakes (CBS, 4-4:30 p.m.) and then after the running a tape recording is to be repeated with Atkinson offering a post-race commentary.

Crossett Wins Invitational Track Meet

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special) — McGehee's Billy Cobb ran the mile in 4:34.8, only one second off the state high school record, to highlight an invitational track meet here Friday.

Host Crossett, the defending state class AA champion, won the meet with 69 and 7-10 points. Fordyce was second with 60 7-10, McGehee had 23½, Eudora 21 7-10, Star City 15½ and Monticello 13 7-10.

All the teams except Crossett were class A.

Fordyce beat Crossett in two of the relay events, the first times Crossett's relay teams have been defeated at home.

The summary:

Coffin Beats Diddel; Sikes Defeats Ross

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—Bruce Coffin of Marblehead, Mass., 56-year-old "rookie" of the American Seniors Golf Assn. tournament for amateurs age 55 and over, defeated William Diddel 1 up on the 21st hole of their semifinal match scheduled for 18.

Diddel, 75-year-old from Indianapolis, had whipped three opponents, using his accuracy around the greens to cut down to size his much bigger and younger foes.

But Coffin won when Diddel's tee shots strayed. He had a bad drive on No. 18 and enabled Coffin to square the match. On the third extra hole, Diddel hooked his drive, hit an approach shot 12 feet past the cup and missed the putt. Coffin won the hole with a par.

Leon Sikes of West Palm Beach, winner of the tourney two years ago, swept into the final with Coffin. Sikes beat Frank Ross of Hartford, Conn., 2 and 1.

Sikes stuck close to par. He was 2 up after nine holes, won the 15th with a birdie to increase his edge and although he lost the 16th, he closed it out when they halved the 17th.

Coffin and Sikes will play 18 holes Saturday for the championship.

Meyer Given Fresh 3-Year DePaul Pact

CHICAGO (AP)—Ray Meyer, DePaul University's head basketball coach for 17 years, Friday signed a new 3-year contract at the school and thus bowed out as a ranking prospect for the same job at the University of Wisconsin.

Meyer recently was interviewed for the Badger post, vacated by the resignation of Bud Foster.

Father Gerald Mullen, chairman of DePaul's Athletic Board, announced the signing of Meyer, who has compiled a record of 270 victories and 146 defeats.

This year, DePaul had a 13-11 record, but played in the NCAA basketball tournament. The Demons defeated Portland, but lost to Kansas State.

On March 18, Meyer disclosed he had conferred with Wisconsin Athletic Director Ivy Williamson concerning the Badger job. Meyer said at that time he would not make a decision until he had talked with officials at both Wisconsin and DePaul.

ALL-AMERICA TALENT

East Favored In Shrine Cage Tilt

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The All-America loaded East team reigns as favorite to outshoot the West in the Ararat Shrine Temple's eighth annual all-star basketball game here Saturday night.

Even Adolph Rupp of Kentucky, who coached the losing East team in 1954, admits this time his club should do pretty well.

"But don't get too excited about our chances just because we have wonderful personnel," Rupp confided. "That West team has great ability and a height advantage. I don't see how we can get too many of the rebounds."

By "wonderful personnel" Rupp referred to All-Americas Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, Johnny Cox of Kentucky and Jerry West of West Virginia, plus seven others who received nothing less than all-star honors in their own major conference.

The West, which has won five of the seven previous games played for aid of the Shriners' Hospitals for Crippled Children, is coached by Dick Harp of Kansas.

"I'm really going to enjoy watching that East team play," Harp said. "Sure we have an All-America in Bob Boozer (Kansas State) and we have plenty of height, but who ever heard of a team that included fellows like Robertson, West and Cox. They shouldn't need any rebounds."

Both coaches say they intend to use two units playing equal time—at least until the closing minutes.

Rupp said his starters will include Robertson, who led the nation in scoring with a 33.2 average; Cox and John Green, Michigan State; Bob Smith, West Virginia, and Lou Pucillo, North Carolina State.

Harp said Boozer, who packed a 25.7 season scoring average, would work with Ronnie Loneski, Kansas; Bob Ferry, St. Louis; Don Matuszak, Kansas State, and Roger Wendel, Tulsa.

West will play with the East's alternate unit. His teammates will be Mike Mendenhall, Cincinnati; Don Hennon, Pittsburgh; Joe Billy McDade, Bradley, and Dave Gunther, Iowa.

The East will have six players available for its second unit. They are Arlen Clark, Oklahoma State; Doug Smart, Washington; Lee Harman, Oregon State, and Bob Tealer, Drake.

Ewing, Myers Win Municipal Pro-Am Meet

Robert Ewing III shared in first and second place honors and Johnny Myers won the pro sweepstakes yesterday afternoon in the biggest Canadian Handicap Pro-Am tourney ever held at the Municipal Course.

Ewing teamed with professional Bobby Ledbetter to take first place with a low of 61 and combined with Leonard Warren of Bastrop for second place with a 62.

Jackie Doss, Monroe pro, and Roy Nash tied with Ledbetter and Joe Thomas of Monroe for third spot with 63s.

Myers, a Bastrop pro, fired a par 72 to win the sweepstakes over six over professionals.

Approximately 90 amateurs competed in the pro-am meet.

Red Hose Have Little Hope Of Swinging Deal

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Manager Al Lopez, desperately searching for more power, capitalized on an open date to send his White Sox through a batting session Friday.

"It doesn't look like we'll be able to get any help in the way of a deal so we'll just have to try to improve what we have," said Lopez.

The White Sox, who resume their exhibition wars against the Milwaukee Braves at Bradenton Saturday, have hit only three homers this spring.

Turk Lown, Don Rudolph and Bob Shaw will divide the pitching against the Braves.

NATS HAVE PROBLEMS

Senators Will Be Happy With A 70-Game Winner

By JACK HAND

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—A goal of 70 victories seems modest enough for a big league manager in the springtime. But this is Washington, a club that hasn't won 70 since 1953.

Cookie Lavagetto, a man not given to undue optimism, reasons like this:

"We beat the Yankees 10 times last year. If we can do that, we ought to be able to beat the others 10 times. That adds up to 70."

Lavagetto is a man beset with problems. To name a few, he needs a shortstop, center fielder and more pitching. And, of course, more hitting. Unfortunately the only things he has that anybody wants are three pitchers and Roy Sievers, his home run hitting outfielder.

Calvin Griffith, the club president, has been talking trade with New York. Something may come of that with young talent heading to the Senators for one of their established pitchers—Camilo Pascual, Pedro Ramos or Dick Hyde.

An off-season trade that sent shortstop Rocky Bridges and third baseman Eddie Yost to Detroit brought infielders Reno Bertoia and Ron Samford and outfielder Jim Delsing to the club. Bertoia probably will wind up at third but Delsing doesn't figure. Samford was to have been the shortstop but he has a sore shoulder and can't throw. He was sent back to Washington for a medical exam.

Trying to set a line-up is ridiculous at this stage. The best would be a guess because Cookie will shuffle his roster depending upon developments and possible trades.

Norm Zauchin (.228) can be the first baseman with Herbie Plews (.258) at second, Jose Valdivielso (.308 at Phoenix, .222 at Minneapolis) at short and Bertoia (.233 at Detroit) or Harmon Killebrew (.308) at Chattanooga) at third. However, Sievers (.295 with 39 homers and 108 RBI) could come in from the outfield to play first and Ken Aspromonte (.219) might fit in at second or third.

Because Albie Pearson (.275), the 1958 rookie of the year, has been out of action with a pulled groin muscle, the outfield is unsettled. Cookie would like to move Pearson from center to right if Bob Allison (.307 at Chattanooga) or Dan Dobbek (just out of the Army) can make it in center. Jim Lemon (.246) recovering from a knee operation, could go to left if Sievers is moved. Allison has impressed Lavagetto. Dobbek, a .340 hitter is Class B in 1956, isn't even on the roster.

The catching is the strongest part of the club. Clint Courtney (.251) the No. 1 man is out with a broken leg so Ed Fitzgerald (.263) and J. W. Porter (.200 at Cleveland) probably will share the work for a time.

For pitching the Senators lean heavily on "the two Cubans."—That means Ramos (14-18), a rubber-armed 23-year-old right-hander and Pascual (8-12), of whom Lavagetto expects a great season. These two and relief ace Hyde (10-3) are the backbone of the staff.

Vito Valentinetti (5-6), bothered by tendon trouble, Russ Kemmerer (6-15), Bill Fischer (4-10 with Chicago, Detroit and Washington) and Chuck Stobbs (3-9 with St. Louis and Washington) are the other starting possibilities. If Jack Kralick (1-1 with Davenport in Class B) can help Hyde in the bullpen, Ted Clevenger (9-9) has a chance for an occasional start.

In the spring, Washington usually appears to have good pitching because Lavagetto gets plenty of mileage out of Ramos and Pascual with rainouts and no doubleheaders. When the games start piling up in August, he is scraping the bottom of the barrel. That is one reason the Senators lost 13 straight at the end of last season, finishing last, 31 lengths back.

SWIM QUALIFYING

Records Given Sound Beating

By MURRAY ROSE

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — One American, two college and three meet records were smashed Friday in qualifying races of the NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships.

Mighty Michigan didn't have much to do with the record busting but like a huge wave poured 17 men into Friday night's eight finals. The three-day meet winds up Saturday with qualifying and finals in seven more events.

Michigan is going for its third straight team title. There's no question the Wolverines will make it. The only thing in doubt is by how much. Ohio State was second in qualifying but the Buckeyes only sent six men into the finals.

American, NCAA and meet records in the 100-yard breaststroke were bettered by defending champion Frank Modine of Michigan State and Gordon Collet of Oklahoma with identical times of 1 minute, 4 seconds.

Fred Westphal of Wisconsin cracked the collegiate and meet marks with a 21.9 clocking in the 50-yard freestyle sprint. Olympian George Harrison of Stanford was one of three to beat the meet standard in the 200-yard individual medley. Harrison's time was 2:08.2.

Modine and Collet shattered the American mark of 1:04.2 set by Cuban Manuel Sanguily in the AAU Championships at New Haven last April and the NCAA and meet standards of 1:05 established by Modine last year.

The latter marks also were beaten by Ron Clark, Michigan's 18-year-old sophomore who was clocked in 1:04.8. Cy Hopkins, Michigan captain, was caught in 2:05.

Hopkins also was one of the three to crack the meet mark of 2:09.6, set by defending champion Joe Hunsaker of Illinois last year. Michigan's Tony Tashnick, defending champion in the 100 and 200 butterfly events, was the other. Tony's time was 2:08.9.

Tashnick, bidding for a triple, led the 200-yard butterfly qualifiers with 2:04.3, one-tenth off his own NCAA record.

Westphal, a 21-year-old senior and father, clipped a tenth of a second off the collegiate mark of 22 seconds racked up by Stanford's Robin Moore in 1956 and two-tenths off the meet record held by Moore and two others.

Patty Advances To Semi-Finals At Monte Carlo

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Budge Patty of Los Angeles advanced to the semifinals of the Monte Carlo International Tennis Tournament. He defeated Istvan Gulyas of Hungary 5-7, 6-2, 6-4.

Yola Ramirez of Mexico defeated Karol Fageros of Miami, Fla., 6-0, 7-5 in a women's singles quarter-finals match.

Goalby Uses Five Birdies For Slim Lead In Azalea

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP) — Bob Goalby birdied five of the last 11 holes Friday to take a one-stroke lead in the first round of the $15,000 Azalea Open Golf Tournament with a 2-under-par 70, on a wet, windy day.

The 28-year-old Belleville, Ill., pro, whose only major victory came last April at Greensboro, N. C., was one shot ahead of his five nearest rivals, two of them amateurs.

Included in the 71 group were Buddy Baker of Florence, S. C., the U. S. Golf Assn. junior champion, and Claude King, husky Virginia Beach, Va., amateur.

Tied with them were two young members of the touring troupe, Don Whitt of Borrego Springs, Calif., and Bert Weaver of Beaumont, Tex. Joe Worrell, golf equipment salesman from Charlotte, N. C., joined the group with four finishing birdies.

Art Wall, the year's top money winner from Pocono Manor, Pa., was one of four 72 shooters. Joining him were Mike Souchak and Al Besseling, both playing out of Grossingers, N. Y., and Eddie Draper of Seattle, Wash.

Although he shot a 76 and was six shots out of the lead, Bud Sullivan, Yuba City, Calif., professional, got a special lift from his round—a hole in one of the 133-yard 10th. It came after an outgoing 42 and started him on an incoming 34.

Goalby, who led at St. Petersburg, Fla., going into the last round earlier this week only to finish with a 75 and drop to third place, was 2 over par after three putting the fifth hole. He also three-putted the sixth to lose a birdie chance. He finally squared accounts with par with birds on Nos. 8 and 9.

On the easier back nine of the 6,800-yard Cape Fear Country Club course he had three more birdies.

'FREE AND EASY'

Roberts Dodges 20-Game Talks

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — The only member of the Philadelphia Phillies who won't talk about a seventh 20-game winning season for Robin Roberts is Robin Roberts.

The talk started at the end of the 1958 season when the big righthander was named National League comeback player of the year for his 17 wins with the last place Phillies. It was revived when spring training opened, and reached a climax when he breezed through a nine-inning 5-3 win over the Washington Senators Thursday.

"Let's forget that forecasting business," Roberts asserted as his teammates commented on his fine showing.

"Just because I get a couple of guys out is no reason to start popping off," he said.

He conceded he felt good, and added, "My arm is free and easy. I don't think I ever pitched nine innings this early."

The 32-year-old mainstay of the Phillies pitching corps was bothered by arm trouble for two years after his six consecutive seasons in the charmed circle of 20-game winners.

Manager Eddie Sawyer believes conditioning is the key to his star's fine spring showing. "Robbie came down here a couple of weeks ahead of the other pitchers and he works harder than most. . . . He pushes himself," said Sawyer.

Roberts, who keeps in good condition all year round, feels that legs are almost as important to a pitcher as his throwing arm.

"I know one thing. Pitchers have to get their legs in shape. It's a must. The legs I have make it a tough proposition. But it has to be done and I do it—reluctantly."

LSU's Tennis Crew Topples Vols, 6 To 3

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Louisiana State's tennis crew won all but two singles and one doubles matches to defeat Tennessee, 6-3, in a Southeastern Conference meet Friday.

The defeat evened the Vols' SEC record at 1-1.

Tom Robinson (LSU) beat Louis Royal 6-1, 6-2.

Buddy Gomez (LSU) beat Jody Dunlap 6-2, 6-3.

Larry Hammett (LSU) beat Edgar Arnold 7-5, 8-6.

Johnny Robinson (LSU) beat Jerry Choate 7-9, 6-9, 6-3.

Hugh Dupree (T) beat Dick Crowell 6-2, 6-3.

David Oakley (T) beat Tommy Neck 6-4, 6-3.

Hammett-Gomez (LSU) beat Royal-Dupree 7-5, 5-7, 6-3.

Robinson-Robinson (LSU) beat Arnold-Dunlap 7-5, 6-1.

Allen Carter-Bob Rule (T) beat Neck-Crowell 6-4, 6-0.

Plan LaSalle Parish Game Management

JENA, La., (Special) — Prospects for instituting a game management area in a large section of Ward 5 of LaSalle parish reportedly were bright, following a recent survey of the area by two representatives of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries commission.

C. T. Williams, biologist, and D. W. Willis, district supervisor from the Ferriday office, recently toured the proposed area and conferred with property owners where they reportedly "met with a friendly reception and much enthusiasm for the proposed project."

Generally speaking, the area being considered is between White Sulphur Spring, Rogers and Walker's Ferry road and Little River.

Plans call for stocking the area with deer and instituting good game management practices, it was reported.

The investigation came as a result of requests from property owners in or near the proposed area.

Salerno Sees Adams Horse Near Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mrs. John Payson Adams' Mark Antony came within four-fifths of a second of the world record for 6½ furlongs in winning the Salerno Purse at Gulfstream Park Friday.

The $6.70 favorite outran Jopa Stable's Another Art in 1:15 4-5 to threaten Federal Hill's world standard.

Another Art was a length behind Mark Antony and 3½ lengths ahead of Michael G. Phipps' Start Counting.

Ethel D. Jacobs' Hope is Eternal finished fast to win the Greenvale Purse at Jamaica.

The 3-year-old daughter of Turn-To-Mahmoudess, ridden by Willie Boland, stepped the 6 furlongs in 1:13 on a rain-soaked track.

Charfran Stable's our Margobee, finished second, two lengths behind the winner and a half-length in front of Carolsteve Stables' Scarlet Slipper.

Hope Is Eternal, the favorite, returned $5.20.

Luciete withstood a late drive by Sharp Mark to win the Northland Purse at Sunshine Park by a nose. It was the third victory of the meeting for Luciete, who paid $7.10. Nordal ran third.

The Sunshine meeting ends Saturday.

Rebels Sweep Doubleheader From Bolton

ALEXANDRIA, La. (Special) — West Monroe used a 10-hit attack in the first game and Aubrey Patton's three-hit pitching in the second to sweep a doubleheader from Bolton here Friday, 8-5 and 6-0.

Buck Fox and Tommy Lolley each went 2-3 in the first game to spark the West Monroe win. The visiting Rebels won the game with three-run uprisings in the fourth and sixth.

Jerry Stovall, the last of three West Monroe pitchers gained credit for the victory.

Patton, who was knocked out in the third inning of the first game, came back with sparkling three-hit shutout in the second. The righthander struck out two.

Lolley again gathered two hits for Coach Dan McClure's Rebels in the second game as did Harold Weir.

Hunter was Bolton's top hitter in the first game with 2-2.

The wins pushed West Monroe's season record to 3-2. The Rebels are at Bastrop Tuesday and host Ouachita Friday in district 1-AAA contests.

LSU, Rice 1st For Grid TV In September

NEW YORK UPI — Louisiana State University, the 1958 champion, and Rice kick off the 1959 schedule of collegiate football games to be televised nationally by NBC, it was announced jointly Friday by the network and the NCAA Television Committee.

The 1959 NCAA program provides for nationwide telecasts on 10 dates-nine Saturdays, Sept. 19, Sept. 26, Oct. 3, Oct. 17, Oct. 24, Nov. 7, Nov. 21, Nov. 28 and Dec. 5, and Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, Nov. 26.

Regional telecasts will prevail on three other Saturdays, Oct. 10, Oct. 31 and Nov. 14. Rights for these games will be awarded by the individual colleges and conferences in the various NCAA districts, subject to limitations of the NCAA football plan.

The pairings for the entire schedule will be announced at a later date. NBC, awarded the national television rights by the NCAA TV Committee earlier this month, will be carrying the weekly programs for the fifth consecutive season and the eighth in nine years.

CRUCIAL SERIES

Hawks Possess Court Advantage

ST LOUIS (AP)—Once confident of winning in five games, the defending champion St. Louis Hawks now are banking on the home court advantage for a victory over Minneapolis in their Western Division playoff series.

It has been strictly a homer series, with each club winning twice at home. But the Hawks will play the odd seventh game, if needed, on their home boards at Kiel Auditorium.

The Lakers tied the series Thursday night with a 108-98 victory and Coach Johnny Kundla said "our victory puts pressure on the Hawks from here out. They thought they'd win in five games."

St. Louis Coach Easy Ed Macauley calmly told newsmen:

It bails down to a three-game series, and I can't figure how the pressure is on us when we have two of the three contests—if that many are necessary—to play on our own court."

St. Louis clipped the Lakers by 34 and 30-point margins in the two games here. The Lakers won at home by eight and 10-point margins.

If the Lakers are to win here Saturday night, they must get top production from Elgin Baylor and Dick Garmaker, two players who have been hot at home but cold in the games in St. Louis.

Baylor had 33 and 32-point games at home, but was held to 15 in his latest game here. The big rookie is unstoppable when he is on target.

St. Louis' Cliff Hagan, with a 33.5 average, has been the scoring star of the series. He had a 40-point game opening night and hit 38 Thursday.

Bob Pettit, the National Basketball Assn. scoring champ who set records of 2,105 points and a 29.2 average, has been somewhat of a disappointment except for his 38-point effort here Tuesday. He is averaging 26.8 in the series.

The sixth game will be in the Minneapolis Armory Sunday afternoon.

Simmons Has Chipped Bone In His Elbow

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Curt Simmons, the Philadelphia Phillies hard luck southpaw, reluctantly admits he'll be sidelined for "awhile" with a sore elbow.

"The doctor says it's a bone chip that's been there for years," Simmons explained Friday. "It moves around and hurts when it gets in one spot.

"I think we'll try heat and massage for a while, maybe 10 days. Maybe these treatments will carry me through the season. If that doesn't work, I'll have an operation.

"If the treatments don't do it and we do have to go through with the operation, I still think I'd be able to pitch within six weeks after the surgery. At least, that's what the doctors say," Simmons related today.

The 10-day treatment, prescribed by Dr. Michael DiCosola, a Sarasota, Fla., orthopedic specialist, would carry to the first week of the season which opens April 10. If the treatment fails and an operation is performed, Simmons feels he should be back throwing about the middle of May.

"I wanted to pitch this year," Simmons said, "because I felt so loose and because I think this team can win. But I've had bad breaks before. There was the toe I caught in the lawn mower, the bad shoulder. They said I was through in 1955. In 1956, they wouldn't give me a contract until I proved I could throw the ball. I won 15 games."

Simmons was sidelined by a sore elbow the last three weeks of last season. Five days ago the soreness hit him again. He had to be lifted from an exhibition game Sunday after pitching only two innings.

Cincinnati Puts Flyers On Grid Slate For 1961

CINCINNATI (AP) — Athletic Director Chick Mileham announced Friday that the University of Cincinnati will meet the Air Force Academy football team here Oct. 14, 1961.

He also said negotiations have been completed for a football game with Army at West Point on Sept. 28, 1963.

70 GOOD ENOUGH

Goalby Uses Five Birdies For Slim Lead In Azalea

WILMINGTON, N. C. (AP) — Bob Goalby birdied five of the last 11 holes Friday to take a one-stroke lead in the first round of the $15,000 Azalea Open Golf Tournament with a 2-under-par 70, on a wet, windy day.

The 28-year-old Belleville, Ill., pro, whose only major victory came last April at Greensboro, N. C. was one shot ahead of his five nearest rivals, two of them amateurs.

Included in the 71 group were Buddy Baker of Florence, S. C., the U. S. Golf Assn. junior champion, and Claude King, husky Virginia Beach, Va., amateur.

Tied with them were two young members of the touring troupe, Don Whitt of Borrego Springs, Calif., and Bert Weaver of Beaumont, Tex. Joe Worrell, golf equipment salesman from Charlotte, N. C., joined the group with four finishing birdies.

Art Wall the year's top money winner from Pocono Manor, Pa., was one of four 72 shooters. Joining him were Mike Souchak and Al Besseling, both playing out of Grossingers, N. Y., and Eddie Draper of Seattle, Wash.

Although he shot a 76 and was six shots out of the lead, Bud Sullivan, Yuba City, Calif., professional, got a special lift from his round—a hole in one of the 133-yard 10th. It came after an outgoing 42 and started him on an incoming 34.

Goalby, who led at St. Petersburg, Fla., going into the last round earlier this week only to finish with a 75 and drop to third place was 2 over par after three putting the fifth hole. He also three-putted the sixth to lose a birdie chance. He finally squared accounts with par with birds on Nos. 8 and 9.

On the easier back nine of the 6,800-yard Cape Fear Country Club course he had three more birdies.

'FREE AND EASY'

Roberts Dodges 20-Game Talks

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — The only member of the Philadelphia Phillies who won't talk about a seventh 20-game winning season for Robin Roberts is Robin Roberts.

The talk started at the end of the 1958 season when the big righthander was named National League comeback player of the year for his 17 wins with the last place Phillies. It was revived when spring training opened, and reached a climax when he breezed through a nine-inning 5-3 win over the Washington Senators Thursday.

"Let's forget that forecasting business," Roberts asserted as his teammates commented on his fine showing.

"Just because I get a couple of guys out is no reason to start popping off," he said.

He conceded he felt good, and added, "My arm is free and easy. I don't think I ever pitched nine innings this early."

The 32-year-old mainstay of the Phillies pitching corps was bothered by arm trouble for two years after his six consecutive seasons in the charmed circle of 20-game winners.

Manager Eddie Sawyer believes conditioning is the key to his star's fine spring showing. "Robbie came down here a couple of weeks ahead of the other pitchers and he works harder than most. . . . He pushes himself," said Sawyer.

Roberts, who keeps in good condition all year round, feels that legs are almost as important to a pitcher as his throwing arm.

"I know one thing. Pitchers have to get their legs in shape. It's a must. The legs I have make it a tough proposition. But it has to be done and I do it—reluctantly."

Rebels Sweep Doubleheader From Bolton

ALEXANDRIA, La. (Special) — West Monroe used a 10-hit attack in the first game and Aubrey Patton's three-hit pitching in the second to sweep a doubleheader from Bolton here Friday, 8-5 and 6-0.

Buck Fox and Tommy Lolley each went 2-3 in the first game to spark the West Monroe win. The visiting Rebels won the game with three-run uprisings in the fourth and sixth.

Jerry Stovall, the last of three West Monroe pitchers gained credit for the victory.

Patton, who was knocked out in the third inning of the first game, came back with sparkling three-hit shutout in the second. The righthander struck out two.

Lolley again gathered two hits for Coach Dan McClure's Rebels in the second game as did Harold Weir.

Hunter was Bolton's top hitter in the first game with 2-2.

The wins pushed West Monroe's season record to 3-2. The Rebels are at Bastrop Tuesday and host Ouachita Friday in district 1-AAA contests.

Plan LaSalle Parish Game Management

JENA, La., (Special) — Prospects for instituting a game management area in a large section of Ward 5 of LaSalle parish reportedly were bright, following a recent survey of the area by two representatives of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries commission.

C. T. Williams, biologist, and D. W. Willis, district supervisor from the Ferriday office, recently toured the proposed area and conferred with property owners where they reportedly "met with a friendly reception and much enthusiasm for the proposed project."

Generally speaking, the area being considered is between White Sulphur Spring, Rogers and Walker's Ferry road and Little River.

Plans call for stocking the area with deer and instituting good game management practices, it was reported.

The investigation came as a result of requests from property owners in or near the proposed area.

Salerno Sees Adams Horse Near Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mrs. John Payson Adams' Mark Antony came within four-fifths of a second of the world record for 6½ furlongs in winning the Salerno Purse at Gulfstream Park Friday.

The $6.70 favorite outran Jopa Stable's Another Art in 1:15 4-5 to threaten Federal Hill's world standard.

Another Art was a length behind Mark Antony and 3½ lengths ahead of Michael G. Phipps' Start Counting.

Ethel D. Jacobs' Hope is Eternal finished fast to win the Greenvale Purse at Jamaica.

The 3-year-old daughter of Turn-To-Mahmoudess, ridden by Willie Boland, stepped the 6 furlongs in 1:13 on a rain-soaked track.

Charfran Stable's our Margobee, finished second, two lengths behind the winner and a half-length in front of Carolsteve Stables' Scarlet Slipper.

Hope Is Eternal, the favorite, returned $5.20.

Luciete withstood a late drive by Sharp Mark to win the Northland Purse at Sunshine Park by a nose. It was the third victory of the meeting for Luciete, who paid $7.10. Nordal ran third.

The Sunshine meeting ends Saturday.

Hawks Possess Court Advantage

ST LOUIS (AP)—Once confident of winning in five games, the defending champion St. Louis Hawks now are banking on the home court advantage for a victory over Minneapolis in their Western Division playoff series.

It has been strictly a homer series, with each club winning twice at home. But the Hawks will play the odd seventh game, if needed, on their home boards at Kiel Auditorium.

The Lakers tied the series Thursday night with a 108-98 victory and Coach Johnny Kundla said "our victory puts pressure on the Hawks from here out. They thought they'd win in five games."

St. Louis Coach Easy Ed Macauley calmly told newsmen:

It bails down to a three-game series, and I can't figure how the pressure is on us when we have two of the three contests—if that many are necessary—to play on our own court."

St. Louis clipped the Lakers by 34 and 30-point margins in the two games here. The Lakers won at home by eight and 10-point margins.

If the Lakers are to win here Saturday night, they must get top production from Elgin Baylor and Dick Garmaker, two players who have been hot at home but cold in the games in St. Louis.

Baylor had 33 and 32-point games at home, but was held to 15 in his latest game here. The big rookie is unstoppable when he is on target.

St. Louis' Cliff Hagan, with a 33.5 average, has been the scoring star of the series. He had a 40-point game opening night and hit 38 Thursday.

Bob Pettit, the National Basketball Assn. scoring champ who set records of 2,105 points and a 29.2 average, has been somewhat of a disappointment except for his 38-point effort here Tuesday. He is averaging 26.8 in the series.

The sixth game will be in the Minneapolis Armory Sunday afternoon.

Simmons Has Chipped Bone In His Elbow

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Curt Simmons, the Philadelphia Phillies hard luck southpaw, reluctantly admits he'll be sidelined for "awhile" with a sore elbow.

"The doctor says it's a bone chip that's been there for years," Simmons explained Friday. "It moves around and hurts when it gets in one spot.

"I think we'll try heat and massage for a while, maybe 10 days. Maybe these treatments will carry me through the season. If that doesn't work, I'll have an operation.

"If the treatments don't do it and we do have to go through with the operation, I still think I'd be able to pitch within six weeks after the surgery. At least, that's what the doctors say," Simmons related today.

The 10-day treatment, prescribed by Dr. Michael DiCosola, a Sarasota, Fla., orthopedic specialist, would carry to the first week of the season which opens April 10. If the treatment fails and an operation is performed, Simmons feels he should be back throwing about the middle of May.

"I wanted to pitch this year" Simmons said, "because I felt so loose and because I think this team can win. But I've had bad breaks before. There was the toe I caught in the lawn mower, the bad shoulder. They said I was through in 1955. In 1956, they wouldn't give me a contract until I proved I could throw the ball. I won 15 games."

Simmons was sidelined by a sore elbow the last three weeks of last season. Five days ago the soreness hit him again. He had to be lifted from an exhibition game Sunday after pitching only two innings.

Cincinnati Puts Flyers On Grid Slate For 1961

CINCINNATI (AP) — Athletic Director Chick Mileham announced Friday that the University of Cincinnati will meet the Air Force Academy football team here Oct. 14, 1961.

He also said negotiations have been completed for a football game with Army at West Point on Sept. 28, 1963.

LUNCHEON GUESTS—Mrs. Malcolm S. Biedenharn (left) was hostess on Wednesday in her home on Point Drive honoring Miss Mary Stokes (center) of Spartanburg, South Carolina, a guest of Mrs. Carl H. McHenry (right).

Monroe Beta Sigma Phi's Have Cultural Programs

Louisiana Beta Pi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi continued their cultural program for the year on the subject of "Beauty," by hearing various guest speakers.

The art of dress was discussed by Mrs. Dixie Ware, sorority sponsor. She stressed the importance of a radiant personality as an asset to beauty.

Continuing the year's program Howard Lance, spoke on the subject of beauty in the home.

The use of warm and cool colors to dominate the mood or to express the personality was one point that was stressed. Samples of period and modern decors were shown, and Mr. Lance pointed out that it is essential to express the individual taste of you and your family in your own home decoration.

J. V. Spatafora, spoke on "The Artist's Landscape," Representations, interpretations and impressions of nature in landscape painting was discussed. Mr. Spatafora brought along paintings of landscapes from the Art Shop by artists such as Van Gogh, Gaugin and others.

At the last meeting in March the group heard Mrs. Annabelle Fennedy who discussed "Action and Exercise, "Tools for the Art of Life." She mentioned exercise as necessary for health's sake, as well as a means of play and pleasure. Mrs. Feeney discussed grace of movement in walking, dancing and swimming. She then demonstrated several exercises beneficial for reducing and posture improvement.

Other programs that were given on the subject of beauty this year were by members of Beta Sigma Phi. Some of the topics were "The Body Beautiful," "Her Crowning Glory," "Jewelry," and others.

Green Thumb Junior Garden Club Meets

LAKE PROVIDENCE — The Green Thumb Junior Garden Club had its regular monthly meeting in the auditorium of the St. Patrick's school with their president, Eileen Marron presiding and conducting the regular order of business. Members in attendance were Sally Brock, Louise Hughes, Mina Coleman, Mary Farlow, Christe Nelson, Sandy Tomlinson, Judy Patrick, Mary Lensing, Virginia Butler, Eileen Marron, Sally Patrick, Veda Wright and Mullady Voelker.

Plans were made for entering arrangements and corsages at the spring flower show to be held at the American Legion home on April 23rd. It was announced by Mrs. O. S. Brown, their senior sponsoring chairman, that the East Carroll Garden Club was issuing an invitation to two members of the group to attend the flower workshop and lecture held at the Town Hall on April 9th under the direction of Mrs. M. B. Latham of Raymond, Mississippi.

The program was given by the East Carroll Garden Club president, Mrs. J. Carmen Purdy, Jr. who informed on Louisiana Birds and pointed out the many attractions that the state had to offer for birds which included its geographical location as well as its marshes, grasses, trees and 6,952 miles of shore line. Also mentioned, was the fact that Louisiana had 377 species of birds, and the study of birds was becoming an increasing hobby.

EASTER PRAYER
O Master, walk the roads again
Wherever lost or blinded men
Grope through oppression, doubt, or gloom
For light beyond the darkened room.

Show us Thy foot prints in the dust,
Banishing fear and wanderlust,
Guiding the way-ward feet that roam
Back to the Fatherland, peace and home.

Abide with us until we hear
Thy spirit-voice: "Lo I am near."
Life overlaps the broken breath;
Love carols on — there is no death!

Y.W.C.A. Group Enjoys Supper And Meeting

The YRG's met last Monday evening with JoAnne Odom, president, presiding at the meeting. Peggy Barton and Fay Taylor assisted Mrs. Ruth Hundley in serving an excellent supper. The Easter motif was most colorful in the dining area. Norma Jean Holcomb read the Legend of the Dogwood. Miss Bess Sharp read the scripture John 14 and gave an Easter meditation.

The following members were present: Misses Odom, Taylor, and Barton; Maryline Ferguson, Frances Walters, Norma Jean Holcomb, Anne Smith, Twyla Nutt, Mary Joyce Walters, Mrs. Hundley and Miss Bess Sharp.

When you're cooking shrimp, add sliced carrot, parsley, a bay leaf, a few peppercorns, a little salt and a slice of onion to the water. After the shrimp are cooked, save this "court bouillon" and use it as the base for a good fish soup.

Add vinegar to hot bacon fat (in the skillet in which bacon has just been cooked) and pour over fresh raw spinach for a salad; add crisply cooked crumbled bacon as a topping.

Indiana Guest Honored With Many Parties

Mrs. W. E. Gregory of Culver, Indiana, guest of Mrs. Edward J. Seymour, is being extensively entertained during her visit.

Mrs. Haydn Cutler honored Mrs. Gregory with a luncheon in her home on Point Drive Thursday.

Enjoying this delightful affair with the honoree and Mrs. Seymour were Mrs. Richard D. Kellogg, Mrs. V. H. Rivers, Mrs. George G. Weaks, Mrs. Bernard W. Biedenharn, Mrs. Harold L. Woods, Mrs. John C. Theus, Mrs. DeWitt T. Milam and the hostess.

Y-Teens Study 'Milestones To Marriage'

The Junior Group of T-Teens at Ouachita are continuing their discusions on the series "Milestones to Marriage" under the direction of Dr. Perry Howard. The sophomore group had as a guest speaker Mrs. Jolisant from the modeling school, who gave many suggestions and tips for more attractive and charming personalities.

The Lenwil Y-Teens met at Lenwil School with Elaine Mann, president, presiding. Dorothy Clark was in charge of the devotional. Patricia Terrell, vice-president, was in charge of the program on "Good Grooming." Miss Sharp announced the Y-Teen trip to Shreveport on April 18th. The meeting was closed with the Y-Teen motto.

The Y-Teens of the Lee Junior High with Mrs. W. A. Robinson as advisor, enjoyed a delightful demonstration on party foods at the United Gas under the direction of Miss Dorothy Jenkins.

The Woodlawn Y-Teens and the Ouachita Y-Teens had a skating party.

The West Monroe High School T-Teens are planning a tea for the faculty on March 31st.

All Y-Teen groups held their annual Easter service at the Y. W. C. A. on Wednesday afternoon. Sandra Boyd read the scripture, John 14. Ann Hobgood led the group in prayer. "Rudi" Jones, gave an Easter meditation. Rev. Carnie Burcham, pastor of the St. John Christian Church gave a most inspiring Easter message, emphasizing the importance of the Easter message and a deeper Christian faith. The worship service was closed by the group singing: "He Lives" and the mizpah.

Grope through oppression, doubt, or gloom
For light beyond the darkened room.

Show us Thy foot prints in the dust,
Banishing fear and wanderlust,
Guiding the way-ward feet that roam
Back to the Fatherland, peace and home.

Abide with us until we hear
Thy spirit-voice: "Lo I am near."
Life overlaps the broken breath;
Love carols on — there is no death!

Y.W.C.A. Group Enjoys Supper And Meeting

The YRG's met last Monday evening with JoAnne Odom, president, presiding at the meeting. Peggy Barton and Fay Taylor assisted Mrs. Ruth Hundley in serving an excellent supper. The Easter motif was most colorful in the dining area. Norma Jean Holcomb read the Legend of the Dogwood. Miss Bess Sharp read the scripture John 14 and gave an Easter meditation.

The following members were present: Misses Odom, Taylor, and Barton; Maryline Ferguson, Frances Walters, Norma Jean Holcomb, Anne Smith, Twyla Nutt, Mary Joyce Walters, Mrs. Hundley and Miss Bess Sharp.

When you're cooking shrimp, add sliced carrot, parsley, a bay leaf, a few peppercorns, a little salt and a slice of onion to the water. After the shrimp are cooked, save this "court bouillon" and use it as the base for a good fish soup.

Add vinegar to hot bacon fat (in the skillet in which bacon has just been cooked) and pour over fresh raw spinach for a salad; add crisply cooked crumbled bacon as a topping.

Indiana Guest Honored With Many Parties

Mrs. W. E. Gregory of Culver, Indiana, guest of Mrs. Edward J. Seymour, is being extensively entertained during her visit.

Mrs. Haydn Cutler honored Mrs. Gregory with a luncheon in her home on Point Drive Thursday.

Enjoying this delightful affair with the honoree and Mrs. Seymour were Mrs. Richard D. Kellogg, Mrs. V. H. Rivers, Mrs. George G. Weaks, Mrs. Bernard W. Biedenharn, Mrs. Harold L. Woods, Mrs. John C. Theus, Mrs. DeWitt T. Milam and the hostess.

Y-Teens Study 'Milestones To Marriage'

The Junior Group of T-Teens at Ouachita are continuing their discusions on the series "Milestones to Marriage" under the direction of Dr. Perry Howard. The sophomore group had as a guest speaker Mrs. Jolisant from the modeling school, who gave many suggestions and tips for more attractive and charming personalities.

The Lenwil Y-Teens met at Lenwil School with Elaine Mann, president, presiding. Dorothy Clark was in charge of the devotional. Patricia Terrell, vice-president, was in charge of the program on "Good Grooming." Miss Sharp announced the Y-Teen trip to Shreveport on April 18th. The meeting was closed with the Y-Teen motto.

The Y-Teens of the Lee Junior High with Mrs. W. A. Robinson as advisor, enjoyed a delightful demonstration on party foods at the United Gas under the direction of Miss Dorothy Jenkins.

The Woodlawn Y-Teens and the Ouachita Y-Teens had a skating party.

The West Monroe High School T-Teens are planning a tea for the faculty on March 31st.

All Y-Teen groups held their annual Easter service at the Y. W. C. A. on Wednesday afternoon. Sandra Boyd read the scripture, John 14. Ann Hobgood led the group in prayer. "Rudi" Jones, gave an Easter meditation. Rev. Carnie Burcham, pastor of the St. John Christian Church gave a most inspiring Easter message, emphasizing the importance of the Easter message and a deeper Christian faith. The worship service was closed by the group singing: "He Lives" and the mizpah.

La Vingt Club Meets In The Scott Home

The regular monthly meeting, last Wednesday, of the La Vingt Club was held in the home of Mrs. T. H. Scott on Point Drive with seventeen members and seven guests present.

The meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. George Phebus and the club collect read in unison. After the report of the Secretary and Treasury was given, a short business session was held after which the meeting was turned over to the Program Chairman, Mrs. Walter Knapp, who introduced Mr. Carl Tidwell, an Interior Decorator.

A delicious dessert course was served to the following members: Mrs. A. D. Bernhardt, Mrs. Bruce Brooks, Mrs. Ralph Caldwell, Mrs. E. W. Cruze, Mrs. William Crow, Mrs. Ceceil Hill, Mrs. Walter Knapp, Mrs. Ralph Norman, Mrs. Paul Ozment, Mrs. A. Petrus, Mrs. George Phebus, Mrs L. D. Ritter, Mrs. Leon Sutton, Mrs. Wayne Warren, Mrs. W. O. Webb, Mrs. Hilton Wilkerson and Mrs. T. H. Scott.

The guests present were: Mrs. E. A. Kiper, Mrs. Hugh Mendel, Mrs. Rupert Scott, Mrs. Earl Brimberry, Mrs. A. D. Bernhardt, Jr. Mrs. Weldon Bates, and Mrs. Hilary Sanders.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Parents Too Tough In One Respect

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann: I'll bet you won't print this but I have to write it anyway. That letter from Carl who said he wanted a "working partner — someone willing to go 50-50 in the harness" was really a corker. And your answer was right up there, too, Ann. You asked him if he was looking for a wife or a horse.

I was one of those "double-harness" gals for more years than I care to remember. What happened? He dumped me for a woman 10 years younger. Why? She was more of a companion to him than I was.

I'm not making excuses. Facts are facts. When a woman is in the harness 12 hours a day, taking care of a big house, little kids, laundry, cooking, canning, and then he expects her to help in his business there's not much pep left to be a playmate.

Tell Carl to marry a woman he can enjoy as a wife, and if he needs help with HIS work, to hire somebody. A man who wants to put his wife in the harness finds that after a while she looks more like a dray horse than a woman —then he goes out chasing fillies. —THE OLD GRAY MARE

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 16 and going steady with a nice fellow. My folks like him a lot but they have put some strict rules on our dating and I need someone to convince them they are wrong.

I must be at home no later than 11:30 regardless of what's going on. It doesn't matter if we have to leave a dance, a basketball game, a movie, or a party at school. It's hard to make them realize this spoils an evening. They say "Either stick to the rules or no dates."

Once I'm in the house, there's no limit to how long my boy friend can stay. If we want to visit until 5:00 A.M. it's all right with them.

Does this make sense to you? We'd much rather be able to stay out until 12:30 then say good-night at the door. Can you help us? — BERNADETTE

Dear B: Your parents are a bit too tough in one respect and too lenient in another. It's unreasonable to expect teenagers to leave a ball game or movie in order to make a 11:30 deadline. However if you're unable to get an additional 30 minutes grace, abide by the rules and aim for an extension on your next birthday.

Your fellow should not be permitted to stay as long as he likes after a date. This is far more conducive to trouble than a midnight curfew. Since they apparently fail to see it, surprise the folks with your maturity, point this out to them and suggest a trade.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: Six years ago I had to marry a girl. Everyone was shocked and there was plenty of talk. Today we have a wonderful marriage. My wife is a perfect wife and mother. I love her deeply in spite of our bad beginning.

My Dad hasn't spoken to me since. He has never seen our two adorable daughters. It makes me sick to think that the years are passing and he refuses to accept us as part of the family.

My wife's father is prominent in political circles in the state and he undoubtedly suffered some shame, too. But he never made the fuss my father did. He comes to our home often, plays with his grandchildren and has a fine time. I long to have my father do this, but he is cold as ice. What can I do? — SOS — 209

Dear SOS: Nothing — so get off your knees and quit begging. Send him a card every Father's Day (enclose the children's picture) and tell him your door is open. Then all you can do is wait.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Natural Childbirth Spreading Rapidly

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

It is my privilege, at the moment, to be able to sit in and observe a class of 20 young mothers, everyone of whom is expecting her first or second baby between July and August. They are all contemplating "natural" childbirth, which means they intend to face this great experience of their lives with a minimum of sedation or none at all.

They come one day a week to be instructed in how the baby is growing and developing month by month and to learn about labor and delivery of the baby, how to bathe it, feed it, clothe it and what to do when they take the baby home.

In addition they come another day each week for an hour's exercise, being shown how to relax, how to breathe, and how to pant. They're being prepared for the time when their doctors will direct them in how to put these exercises into practice as the baby is being born.

FILM

I have been shown privately, because I cannot stay with the class until it is shown to them, the film on natural childbirth which shows three women (one after the other) giving birth to their babies under the personal direction of Dr. Grantly Dick Read, the English obstetrician who has made natural childbirth known to so many through his book, "Childbirth Without Fear."

This was a thrilling experience to watch. These mothers had, of course, gone through the months of preparation for this event and not one of them showed an iota of strain or pain all during the delivery.

When the baby came into the world, the doctor wrapped the baby quickly in a blanket and handed it to the mother who cuddled it and studied this new, little human being who had been so much a part of her for nine long months.

SPREADING

Natural childbirth is spreading across the nations. It demands a mother who wants to experience it. It demands doctors and nurses who will give the extra time necessary. It takes time for preparation and instructions which are not possible to get everywhere today, only in the larger cities and to women with a forward viewpoint who have been educated to ask for them.

All of these mothers know that if complications arise and they need sedation they will get it and will not be made to feel that they have been false to their ideals. But to see natural childbirth is to realize that babies can be born without the agony which mothers always have felt was their lot in life. It makes me feel very good to know that this has happened in my own lifetime.

Draperies Of Split Bamboo Interesting

Q. — I am planning to paint the walls of my L-shaped living and dining rooms, to add new draperies, carpeting and sectional sofas. My dining set, end tables and cocktail tables are in blond woods. I also have two light green end tables and a gold occasional chair.

A. — Buy a rust color carpeting. Have your sofa in a paler rust with a lot of orange in it and paint the walls an apricot shade which is really a kind of watered down orange. With this scheme try draperies of split bamboo in the natural wood tone of your blond furniture. This might be more interesting than conventional fabric draperies.

Q. — I have a large kitchen with newly built cupboards in a natural finish wood. There is coral tile around the sink and stove. The floor is in beige and brown vinyl tile. Walls and kitchen chairs are yellow. I have been told yellow does not bring out the beauty of the wood cupboards. Do you agree? Incidentally I have eight doors leading off the kitchen and they are in a dark wood finish. The room needs livening up.

A. — Yellow usually blends beautifully with natural woods. It is possible you have used too pale a tone. Try a really bright yellow — the color of lemon peel. And please paint those eight doors. The dark wood finish on them is probably what's wrong with the room. Make them an even brighter yellow than the walls and paint the ceiling in this darker tone.

Easter Bonnet Sets Party Table Theme

By DOROTHY ROE

An unusual, dramatic table centerpiece gets the party off to a gala start. If you are serving an after - church brunch on Easter Sunday, let the Easter bonnet set the theme for your table.

Local sewing center experts suggest you make a centerpiece hat of felt in springtime violet. Set the crown over a low bowl and cut tiny holes in it to hold fresh flowers, so their stems are in water. Scalloping shears used around the edge of the hat and on its ribbon give a decorative scalloped edge.

To make the hat, cut a circle of felt about 18 inches in diameter. Cut a four - inch circle out of the center. Cut a strip three inches wide and as long as necessary to form the crown of the hat. Stitch to the four-inch circle of felt and to the brim. Add a slender roll of tissue paper to under - section of crown, to keep it in shape. Use scalloping shears along sides of a piece of ribbon and tie around crown of hat.

Now set the hat over a low bowl, With sharp, pointed scissors, make holes in the crown and stick fresh flowers in the hat, with stems reaching the water. Scatter a few flowers along the brim. (To keep these flowers fresh, wrap stems in wet tissue paper and cover in foil.)

After Easter is over, store the bonnet for use next year.

CUSTARD

Never let the water in the bottom of a double boiler boil while you are cooking a custard on the top of the stove. If it does boil it may cause your custard to curdle.

Pleasant accompaniment to meat or poultry: Put a dollop of butter or margarine in each drained canned peach cavity and sprinkle with curry powder. Heat under the broiler or in the oven.

WEATHER FORECAST — Snow flurries are forecast Saturday for central and northern Apalachians. Rain showers mixed with snow flurries are slated for Rockies and eastern portion of great basin. Warmer weather is expected through upper and middle Mississippi Valley and great plains. Cooler temperatures are due in Great Lakes region and north and middle Atlantic coast except Maine. Little change is anticipated elsewhere in the nation. (AP Wirephoto)

New Tanker, Tug Collide; No One Hurt

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (AP) — A 117-foot tug and the new tanker Eagle Traveler collided near here Friday. The tug Colonel was extensively damaged and the tanker received slight damage. No one was hurt.

The Colonel was first beached near Horn Island light in Mississippi Sound and extra pumps were put on. Then the tug, with seven men aboard, proceeded under its own power into Pascagoula for repairs.

The Eagle Traveler's propellor received several nicks when it cut the hull of the tug.

The Eagle Traveler, a 634-foot, 19,291 gross ton vessel, is owned by the Sea Transport Corp., New York, and is leased to the Military Sea Transport Service. The Mobile (Ala.) Towing and Wrecking Co. owns the tug.

Capt. W. D. Dubuisson said he was pilot aboard the tanker at the time of the accident. He said the tug had assisted in moving the tanker, recently launched at Ingalls Shipbuilding Co. yards here, from the pier into the Pascagoula River.

Dubuisson said the tug was following the tanker out when they reached a bad turn at Horn Island Pass. The tug started to pass the bigger ship and collided with the tanker's port side. The tug swung under the tanker's stern, where it was hit by the propellor.

Capt. George Dunn of Mobile is master of the Colonel.

Large Steamship Is Being Towed Up Mississippi

GREENVILLE, Miss. (UPI)—The "Big Mama of the Mississippi" apparently has grown too broad abeam by a life of laziness.

The sternwheeler "Sprague," once known as the mightiest steamship on the Mississippi, is being pushed upriver to Pittsburgh after being tied up 10 years at the dock here as a floating museum.

Tug Cap. C. W. Biederman said the "Sprague," despite a sprightly new coat of paint, is wallowing in the water, and her top speed so far is five miles per hour.

WEATHER FORECAST — Snow flurries are forecast Saturday for central and northern Apalachians. Rain showers mixed with snow flurries are slated for Rockies and eastern portion of great basin. Warmer weather is expected through upper and middle Mississippi Valley and great plains. Cooler temperatures are due in Great Lakes region and north and middle Atlantic coast except Maine. Little change is anticipated elsewhere in the nation. (AP Wirephoto)

New Tanker, Tug Collide; No One Hurt

PASCAGOULA, Miss. (AP) — A 117-foot tug and the new tanker Eagle Traveler collided near here Friday. The tug Colonel was extensively damaged and the tanker received slight damage. No one was hurt.

The Colonel was first beached near Horn Island light in Mississippi Sound and extra pumps were put on. Then the tug, with seven men aboard, proceeded under its own power into Pascagoula for repairs.

The Eagle Traveler's propellor received several nicks when it cut the hull of the tug.

The Eagle Traveler, a 634-foot, 19,291 gross ton vessel, is owned by the Sea Transport Corp., New York, and is leased to the Military Sea Transport Service. The Mobile (Ala.) Towing and Wrecking Co. owns the tug.

Capt. W. D. Dubuisson said he was pilot aboard the tanker at the time of the accident. He said the tug had assisted in moving the tanker, recently launched at Ingalls Shipbuilding Co. yards here, from the pier into the Pascagoula River.

Dubuisson said the tug was following the tanker out when they reached a bad turn at Horn Island Pass. The tug started to pass the bigger ship and collided with the tanker's port side. The tug swung under the tanker's stern, where it was hit by the propellor.

Capt. George Dunn of Mobile is master of the Colonel.

Large Steamship Is Being Towed Up Mississippi

GREENVILLE, Miss. (UPI)—The "Big Mama of the Mississippi" apparently has grown too broad abeam by a life of laziness.

The sternwheeler "Sprague," once known as the mightiest steamship on the Mississippi, is being pushed upriver to Pittsburgh after being tied up 10 years at the dock here as a floating museum.

Tug Cap. C. W. Biederman said the "Sprague," despite a sprightly new coat of paint, is wallowing in the water, and her top speed so far is five miles per hour.

AFTER EASTER RECESS

House To Study Nepotism Hirings

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A proposal to focus publicity on the hiring of relatives by congressmen will get serious consideration by the House Administration Committee, its chairman said Friday.

Chairman Omar Burleson (D-Tex.) said the resolution would be studied along with any other proposals in the same vein after Congress returns from its Easter recess.

The plan was advanced Thursday by Rep. John E. Henderson (R-Ohio) who said it would "lift the finger of suspicion" from congressional hiring practices.

The legislation would force House members to file a public statement listing the place and hours of work of all their employes.

Henderson advanced his proposal following disclosures that some House members had put relatives on the government payroll at five-figure salaries.

House Democratic leaders have kept out of the nepotism dispute on the theory that the lawmakers are responsible to the voters—not to the leadership—for the manner in which they operate their offices.

However, some House Democrats privately are beginning to voice fears that the public may blame the Democratic Party for what angry letter-writing voters have described as "abuses" and worse.

Burleston said Henderson's resolution "might have a salutary effect," but he said he wanted to study it before committing himself. He said his committee would weigh the proposal along with any others that come in.

Burleston said several House members had talked to him about a possible flat ban against members hiring relatives but none seemed willing to sponsor such a move.

"I would vote for it," he said. He added, however, that he had no plans to introduce such a bill.

Soviets May Quickly Give Meeting Nod

MOSCOW (UPI) — Western sources said Friday they expect Russia to forego the old principle of mathematical equality at the conference table and agree quickly to the West's proposal to open a pre-summit meeting of foreign ministers in Geneva May 11.

It was believed in diplomatic circles the Soviet government would not quibble over either the agenda or the Western formula for inviting Polish and Czechoslovakian representatives only at "certain stages." Thus for most of the conference it would be Russia alone against the United States, Britain and France.

The Russians, apparently more eager than any one else to get an East-West summit conference arranged, formerly insisted on equal numerical representation for both sides at the ministers parley. But it was believed they would abandon that idea—at least for the present—in view of the virtual certainty of holding a top - level conference this summer.

The proposed ministers' meeting was regarded here as practically a rubber-stamp conference. The Russians want to proceed with a discussion of global problems at the summit.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, for all practical purposes, already agreed to the time and the place for a foreign ministers' meeting at his March 19 news conference.

The Soviet leader at the same time made it clear that he was not interested in an agenda covering more than the German problem. A Soviet note March 2 proposed that the East-West leaders take up at a summit meeting the general problem of European security, disarmament and denuclearization of Central Europe, in addition to the German problem.

On basic issues of substance East and West remain poles apart, although the Soviet press during the past few days has been reporting "a more realistic approach" by the Western powers, including the United States.

As Western observers here see it, the foreign ministers have been down-graded to what one neutral diplomat called "a procedural subcommittee for the summit meeting.

U. S. Promoting Easter Eggnog To Cut Surplus

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department is pushing a campaign to convince people they should drink some of their Eastereggs.

The department's home economists are promoting eggnog for Easter, which they note with satisfaction would reduce both the egg and milk surpluses.

The department provided this basic eggnog recipe:

One egg, one cup milk, about one tablespoon of sugar, a pinch of salt and one-fourth teaspoon of vanilla. Beat these ingredients together, pour into cups or glasses, sprinkle nutmeg on top, and serve cold.

To make the eggnog fluffier, the department suggests beat whites and yolks separately, then mix yolks, milk, sugar, salt and flavoring before mixing into the beaten whites.

There is one big difference between the department's basic recipe and the customary eggnog served during the Christmas and New Year holiday season. The department's recipe is unstimulated by alcohol.

Railway Merger Approval Likely By Stockholders

ROANOKE, Va. (UPI)—Stockholders of the Norfolk & Western Railway were expected to give formal approval here May 14 to a merger with the Virginian Railways.

Stuart T. Saunders, N&W president, is expected to head the merged lines. Virginian stockholders will decided on the merger April 30 at Norfolk.

Officials of both railroads said three directors of the Virginian would join the N&W board when stockholders approve the merger. The directors are Virginian President F. D. Beale, E. H. Bird and R. P. Tibolt. Their presence would increase the N&W board to 14 members.

Saunders denied Friday that 700 Norfolk area employes of the two railroads would lose their jobs because of the merger.

Drilling Plans Are Ouflined For Madison

SHREVEPORT (Special) — Plans to drill a 12,000 foot Rodessa test this spring on the Boggy Slough Prospect near the Mississippi River in Madison Parish have been announced by Barnswell Drilling Company of Shreveport and John J. Cerniglia of Delhi.

The project will be on a 9,000-acre block assembled by Cerniglia.

Influenced geologically by the prolific Monroe Uplift, the area includes some of the most valuable oil and gas production in Northeast Louisiana. It has long been considered a good prospect for deep production possibilities.

However, very little deep drilling has been done in the general area, possibly because of the greater depth of zones which are production at lesser depths farther west on the Monroe Uplift.

Also the depth of the possible productive zones in the general area were out of reach of feasible drilling up until just a few years ago when equipment and Technique advancements made possible deeper drilling.

OWN ACREAGE

Magnolia Petroleum Company, United Gas, Middle States Oil Company of Houston, American Petrofina of Texas along with Barnswell and Cerniglia own acreage in the area.

Cerniglia and Petersen Drilling Company of Shreveport have drilled five 4,500 - foot Tuscaloosa pinch-out wells in the general area, all being dry.

Geologically, the site for the new deep test is on structure, while previous test in the area have been down dip.

Former Federal Agent Gets New Post In Nevada

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—Retired FBI man Ray J. Abbaticchio Jr. was appointed to Nevada's three - man Gaming Control Board by Democratic Gov. Grant Sawyer Friday.

Abbaticchio, 52, left the FBI last fall after 25 years of service. His last assignment was as special agent in charge of the New Orleans area. He had held similar responsibility in San Francisco, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Houston, Phoenix, Birmingham, Knoxville and Charlotte.

Sawyer's appointment of Abbaticchio to the $15,000-a-year post is his first since the Legislature revamped Nevada's gambling control law during the session ending Thursday.

The Gaming Control Board has been the key agency during the last four years in attempting to keep the state's legal gambling industry free of hoodlum influences.

Goldwater Opposes Nominee For Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, ranking Republican member of the Senate Labor Committee said Friday he will oppose confirmation of the man President Eisenhower selected to enforce the Taft - Hartley Law.

The Arizona senator said the President's nominee, Stuart Rothman, now solicitor for the Labor Department, is not qualified for the $20,000-a-year post as general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB).

The 15-member labor committee must hold hearings on the nomination and then decide whether to recommend Senate confirmation. Barring the unexpected, Rothman was expected to be approved despite Goldwater's objections. The nominee is a Republican from St. Paul, Minn.

Rothman's nomination has been construed by aides of Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell as a victory for Mitchell over more conservative members of the President's cabinet and some Republican senators.

There has been some ill feeling between Goldwater and the labor secretary. Although the senator introduced the administration's labor reform bill, he favored tougher curbs on unions than those sought by Mitchell.

The two men held meetings on the issue before the administration measure was introduced and Goldwater said afterward that he had obtained certain "concessions." This was denied by Mitchell.

In addition, Goldwater had his own candidate for the NLRB post —Michael J. Bernstein, a conservative Republican attorney attached to the staff of the Senate Labor Committee.

The general counsel of the NLRB acts as a chief prosecutor and has the final word on whether unfair labor practices will be placed before the five-member board.

Past President Of Mississippi Bank Group Dies

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — F. W. Foote, past president of the Mississippi Bankers Assn., and chairman of the board of the First National Bank here, died Friday following a long illness. He was 83.

Foote, who helped organize the Hattiesburg Bank of Commerce in 1897, was a member of the executive council of the American Bankers Assn., the first board of directors of the Sixth Federal Reserve District and the board of governors of the New Orleans branch of the Atlanta Federal Reserve Bank.

Foote served as cashier of the Bank of Commerce at its formation and became vice president of a new corporation when the bank merged with the First National in 1918.

He became president of the First National in 1924 and held the post until 1947 when he retired to become chairman of the board.

Funeral services will be held Saturday.

Survivors include two sons, Lawrence Y. Foote, now president of the Hattiesburg First National Bank, and Dr. Frank W. Foote, New York city pathologist and one brother, Anderson Foote of Jacksonville, Fla.

Workers Resort To Court Action In Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Rebellious metal workers, who formed a human wall of 3,000 men to block government attempts to occupy their union headquarters, resorted to the courts Friday.

The Peronist - dominated union filed suit asking for a repeal of a decree of Labor Minister David Blejer placing their union under government control.

A number of other key unions are under official control to neutralize their strike power.

Attempts by government commissioners, escorted by large police forces, to occupy the Metal Workers Union headquarters last Wednesday erupted into a full-scale clash between some 3,000 union members and police.

One-hundred-twenty - five persons were arrested, but some 200 union members continued to occupy the building after repelling police attempts to oust them.

GAS STORAGE

Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. announced it has started construction near Houston on what is expected to become the largest single underground storage reservoir for liquefied petroleum gases.

Oil Refinery Union Faces Four Choices

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The 4,000 independent union workers on the job without a contract at Esso Standard Oil Friday faced four choices after two weeks of community uproar:

They could continue their present Independent Industrial Workers Assn., ironing out final contract differences.

Or the IIWA members could vote affiliation with the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers national union, after OCWA president Jack Night Thursday offered them bargaining table muscle plus "clean, decent organization."

As IIWA leaders have recommended, they might vote a tieup with teamster boss James Hoffa, despite the loudly voiced opposition of all AFL-CIO leaders in Louisiana.

Or they could work without any union connections.

Esso management has offered to restore crafts, with a flexible work assignment pattern, backing away from original demands to wrap all work under a general refinery mechanic classification.

Louisiana Trade Up Five Per Cent For Past Month

BATON ROUGE (AP)— Louisiana business climbed a brisk five per cent in February compared with a year ago, aided by a 12.2 per cent gain in petroleum manufacturing sales.

Researchers at Louisiana State University said Friday February business was off slightly, however, from January.

The February general business index slipped 1.6 per cent compared with January this year.

Crude petroleum production, up 11 per cent, and industrial electric power consumption, up 10.5 per cent, combined with petroleum manufacturing sales to help make up the February increase over the corresponding month a year earlier.

Down from last year were department store sales, for a 5.8 per cent loss, freight carloadings, 4.5 per cent, and employment, 1.5 per cent.

DIVORCE FOR $2

BONDOWOSO, Java (UPI) — The women of this East Java village were losers Friday in an effort to triple the cost of divorces to reduce the number of broken marriages.

They asked an increase from $1.66 to $5 for divorces. The men objected. A compromise was reached by officials of the regional administration — all men. The new price is $2.

East Carroll FB Elects Directors

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — The board of directors for the East Carroll Parish Farm Bureau was selected at the annual meeting held this week at the American Legion Home. Dr. C. R. Sayre, president and general manager of the Staple Cotton Coop at Greenwood, Miss., was principal speaker. About 200 were present.

Dr. Sayre, in his discussion on cotton and markets, listed the possible reasons for the current pickup in the textile business, some of which were: World War II babies now teenagers, home building, and advance in industrial production. He said that the predictions for 1959 are favorable prospects, in that there will be an estimated 9 to 9.5 million bales for domestic consumption and 6 million bales for export. He listed the factors which have presented an unsettled picture for growers.

He discussed the change in the parity formula, stating that the old formula would have been 39.34 and the new formula 38.00 for M - ⅞; and that reduction is costing farmers in the United States more than 60 million in loan value, and that parity formula change meant a reduction - 1.07 cents per pound, option A and .87 cents per pound, option B.

PRESIDED

Jack Hamilton, vice president of the local Bureau, presided throughout the meeting.

Harvey Grant, secretary - manager of Louisiana Delta Council, presented the following facts concerning the choice of Plan A and Plan B in East Carroll Parish: "East Carroll led the list in this part of the state on Plan B, as there were 96 farmers and 8,350 Acres which is 25 per cent of original allotment, percentage wise. In the area on Plan B we picked up 10,665 additional acres; and 2386 acres came to East Carroll. Also, East Carroll led the area in participation in Choice B and contributed the least acreage of cotton going out of production through the long range Conservation Reserve Program."

Paul Ransom, vice president of State Farm Bureau, spoke on the Farm Bureau's part in Farm Legislation.

R. N. Amacker presented nominees for Board of Directors for the next term, who were unanimously elected at the meeting, which included from Ward 1, E. V. Parker, H. R. Sullivan; Ward 2, Herman Johnson, B. H. Rosenzweig, O. G. Walters; Ward 3, Joe Elliott, Jamie Howington, Albert Surles, J. C. Butler; Ward 4, Marvin Ragland, W. P. Tomlinson; Ward 5, James Shepherd, John Howard; Ward 6, Raymond Bell, Delmar Pippin; Ward 7, Reese Coleman and G. A. Arledge.

Railway Merger Approval Likely By Stockholders

ROANOKE, Va. (UPI)—Stockholders of the Norfolk & Western Railway were expected to give formal approval here May 14 to a merger with the Virginian Railways.

Drilling Plans Are Ouflined For Madison

SHREVEPORT (Special) — Plans to drill a 12,000 foot Rodessa test this spring on the Boggy Slough Prospect near the Mississippi River in Madison Parish have been announced by Barnswell Drilling Company of Shreveport and John J. Cerniglia of Delhi.

The project will be on a 9,000-acre block assembled by Cerniglia.

Influenced geologically by the prolific Monroe Uplift, the area includes some of the most valuable oil and gas production in Northeast Louisiana. It has long been considered a good prospect for deep production possibilities.

However, very little deep drilling has been done in the general area, possibly because of the greater depth of zones which are production at lesser depths farther west on the Monroe Uplift.

Also the depth of the possible productive zones in the general area were out of reach of feasible drilling up until just a few years ago when equipment and Technique advancements made possible deeper drilling.

OWN ACREAGE

Magnolia Petroleum Company, United Gas, Middle States Oil Company of Houston, American Petrofina of Texas along with Barnswell and Cerniglia own acreage in the area.

Cerniglia and Petersen Drilling Company of Shreveport have drilled five 4,500 - foot Tuscaloosa pinch-out wells in the general area, all being dry.

Geologically, the site for the new deep test is on structure, while previous test in the area have been down dip.

Former Federal Agent Gets New Post In Nevada

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP)—Retired FBI man Ray J. Abbaticchio Jr. was appointed to Nevada's three - man Gaming Control Board by Democratic Gov. Grant Sawyer Friday.

Abbaticchio, 52, left the FBI last fall after 25 years of service. His last assignment was as special agent in charge of the New Orleans area. He had held similar responsibility in San Francisco, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Houston, Phoenix, Birmingham, Knoxville and Charlotte.

Sawyer's appointment of Abbaticchio to the $15,000-a-year post is his first since the Legislature revamped Nevada's gambling control law during the session ending Thursday.

The Gaming Control Board has been the key agency during the last four years in attempting to keep the state's legal gambling industry free of hoodlum influences.

Dogs To Begin Guard Duties At Air Force Base

COLUMBUS, Miss. (AP) — Eighteen sentry dogs and their handlers, all trained especially for their exacting work, will take over part of the chores of guarding Columbus Air Force Base next week.

The dogs and their handlers have been training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

They will be used to protect the flight line and munitions storage at the Strategic Air Command Base.

APPROVAL LIKELY ANYWAY

Goldwater Opposes Nominee For Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, ranking Republican member of the Senate Labor Committee said Friday he will oppose confirmation of the man President Eisenhower selected to enforce the Taft - Hartley Law.

The Arizona senator said the President's nominee, Stuart Rothman, now solicitor for the Labor Department, is not qualified for the $20,000-a-year post as general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB).

The 15-member labor committee must hold hearings on the nomination and then decide whether to recommend Senate confirmation. Barring the unexpected, Rothman was expected to be approved despite Goldwater's objections. The nominee is a Republican from St. Paul, Minn.

Rothman's nomination has been construed by aides of Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell as a victory for Mitchell over more conservative members of the President's cabinet and some Republican senators.

There has been some ill feeling between Goldwater and the labor secretary. Although the senator introduced the administration's labor reform bill, he favored tougher curbs on unions than those sought by Mitchell.

The two men held meetings on the issue before the administration measure was introduced and Goldwater said afterward that he had obtained certain "concessions." This was denied by Mitchell.

In addition, Goldwater had his own candidate for the NLRB post —Michael J. Bernstein, a conservative Republican attorney attached to the staff of the Senate Labor Committee.

The general counsel of the NLRB acts as a chief prosecutor and has the final word on whether unfair labor practices will be placed before the five-member board.

Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. announced it has started construction near Houston on what is expected to become the largest single underground storage reservoir for liquefied petroleum gases.

Past President Of Mississippi Bank Group Dies

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — F. W. Foote, past president of the Mississippi Bankers Assn., and chairman of the board of the First National Bank here, died Friday following a long illness. He was 83.

Foote, who helped organize the Hattiesburg Bank of Commerce in 1897, was a member of the executive council of the American Bankers Assn., the first board of directors of the Sixth Federal Reserve District and the board of governors of the New Orleans branch of the Atlanta Federal Reserve Bank.

Foote served as cashier of the Bank of Commerce at its formation and became vice president of a new corporation when the bank merged with the First National in 1918.

He became president of the First National in 1924 and held the post until 1947 when he retired to become chairman of the board.

Funeral services will be held Saturday.

Survivors include two sons, Lawrence Y. Foote, now president of the Hattiesburg First National Bank, and Dr. Frank W. Foote, New York city pathologist and one brother, Anderson Foote of Jacksonville, Fla.

Workers Resort To Court Action In Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Rebellious metal workers, who formed a human wall of 3,000 men to block government attempts to occupy their union headquarters, resorted to the courts Friday.

The Peronist - dominated union filed suit asking for a repeal of a decree of Labor Minister David Blejer placing their union under government control.

A number of other key unions are under official control to neutralize their strike power.

Attempts by government commissioners, escorted by large police forces, to occupy the Metal Workers Union headquarters last Wednesday erupted into a full-scale clash between some 3,000 union members and police.

One-hundred-twenty - five persons were arrested, but some 200 union members continued to occupy the building after repelling police attempts to oust them.

Oil Refinery Union Faces Four Choices

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The 4,000 independent union workers on the job without a contract at Esso Standard Oil Friday faced four choices after two weeks of community uproar:

They could continue their present Independent Industrial Workers Assn., ironing out final contract differences.

Or the IIWA members could vote affiliation with the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers national union, after OCWA president Jack Night Thursday offered them bargaining table muscle plus "clean, decent organization."

As IIWA leaders have recommended, they might vote a tieup with teamster boss James Hoffa, despite the loudly voiced opposition of all AFL-CIO leaders in Louisiana.

Or they could work without any union connections.

Esso management has offered to restore crafts, with a flexible work assignment pattern, backing away from original demands to wrap all work under a general refinery mechanic classification.

Louisiana Trade Up Five Per Cent For Past Month

BATON ROUGE (AP)— Louisiana business climbed a brisk five per cent in February compared with a year ago, aided by a 12.2 per cent gain in petroleum manufacturing sales.

Researchers at Louisiana State University said Friday February business was off slightly, however, from January.

The February general business index slipped 1.6 per cent compared with January this year.

Crude petroleum production, up 11 per cent, and industrial electric power consumption, up 10.5 per cent, combined with petroleum manufacturing sales to help make up the February increase over the corresponding month a year earlier.

Down from last year were department store sales, for a 5.8 per cent loss, freight carloadings, 4.5 per cent, and employment, 1.5 per cent.

DIVORCE FOR $2

BONDOWOSO, Java (UPI) — The women of this East Java village were losers Friday in an effort to triple the cost of divorces to reduce the number of broken marriages.

They asked an increase from $1.66 to $5 for divorces. The men objected. A compromise was reached by officials of the regional administration — all men. The new price is $2.

East Carroll FB Elects Directors

LAKE PROVIDENCE (Special) — The board of directors for the East Carroll Parish Farm Bureau was selected at the annual meeting held this week at the American Legion Home. Dr. C. R. Sayre, president and general manager of the Staple Cotton Coop at Greenwood, Miss., was principal speaker. About 200 were present.

Dr. Sayre, in his discussion on cotton and markets, listed the possible reasons for the current pickup in the textile business, some of which were: World War II babies now teenagers, home building, and advance in industrial production. He said that the predictions for 1959 are favorable prospects, in that there will be an estimated 9 to 9.5 million bales for domestic consumption and 6 million bales for export. He listed the factors which have presented an unsettled picture for growers.

He discussed the change in the parity formula, stating that the old formula would have been 39.34 and the new formula 38.00 for M - ⅞; and that reduction is costing farmers in the United States more than 60 million in loan value, and that parity formula change meant a reduction - 1.07 cents per pound, option A and .87 cents per pound, option B.

PRESIDED

Jack Hamilton, vice president of the local Bureau, presided throughout the meeting.

Harvey Grant, secretary - manager of Louisiana Delta Council, presented the following facts concerning the choice of Plan A and Plan B in East Carroll Parish: "East Carroll led the list in this part of the state on Plan B, as there were 96 farmers and 8,350 Acres which is 25 per cent of original allotment, percentage wise. In the area on Plan B we picked up 10,665 additional acres; and 2386 acres came to East Carroll. Also, East Carroll led the area in participation in Choice B and contributed the least acreage of cotton going out of production through the long range Conservation Reserve Program."

Paul Ransom, vice president of State Farm Bureau, spoke on the Farm Bureau's part in Farm Legislation.

R. N. Amacker presented nominees for Board of Directors for the next term, who were unanimously elected at the meeting, which included from Ward 1, E. V. Parker, H. R. Sullivan; Ward 2, Herman Johnson, B. H. Rosenzweig, O. G. Walters; Ward 3, Joe Elliott, Jamie Howington, Albert Surles, J. C. Butler; Ward 4, Marvin Ragland, W. P. Tomlinson; Ward 5, James Shepherd, John Howard; Ward 6, Raymond Bell, Delmar Pippin; Ward 7, Reese Coleman and G. A. Arledge.
